From Ralph Adams Cram to W. Mackenzie, 16th April 1938

As an Eagle Soars

Charlottesville, Virginia

14th April (1938)

My Dear Mr. Winkler,

But Hurting Saint-Philip's waters rose and fell several times. They were never flooded. The trees on the up were never removed. I'd like to know about this as soon as possible. I am sure of the date for the office and wish there were some way to keep you informed as to the latest.

We are here now for two months, in the hope that this lazy and long-slow climate may encourage the work. In addition to a dependable Office, and we even more dependable workers.

From Ralph Adams Cram to W. Mackenzie, 16th April 1938

Original letter in possession of Mr. Winkler's daughter, Mrs. Ruth Winkler, Wayland.
I find myself affected with headache, nictitating, bone-neering and insomnia, so I don't feel so good. I hope your affairs are as happy as ours.

Yours truly,
