Dear Gaimor,

Today we are having the first holiday of the year and that just because the Democrats won. I am glad though for the holiday. The mayor of this town declared a holiday and so we proceeded to prevail upon Prexy to give us one. Half the profs here are from Princeton and Wilson was former president of that place and Dr. Aufon one of our English profs is his brother in law. So this place is rather closely associated with the chief executive. I thought a Dallas News last Monday.
because I wanted to see what kind of a write up they had about the H&M game. It was pretty good but of course nothing like the one that was in the Houston papers. It was the first time that at least one of these papers here has given us a square deal, but they sure had a good write up. My but we had a time that night. It was the first Mighty Woma's Fair and we took in the whole thing, free, of course. We sure had a big crowd in the parade that night.

Today we play Tulane from New Orleans here. I think we will beat them alright, although they have an awful
We all pray that A&M will defeat Baylor and then on Thanksgiving Texas (? or!! &? I sure wish it was Texas instead of A&M we had beaten. We all hate Texas. A&M is our best friend. If A&M does win both of those games Rice will have first claim on the Championship because we have only been beaten once, and tied once by T.C.U. But good gracious, yesterday Southwestern beat them 44-13 and we have already beaten Southwestern 54-0. So what is T.C.U. Next Friday we play S.M.U. I don't know whether the first team will play them or not, because coach doesn't believe in running up a large score on teams that he knows he can beat. All of the other schools seem to have tried to see how much they could make, but coach is a funny man in that respect.

I sure am going to "rub it in" on Ben and the rest of that bunch when I see them because they all thought that it was just an accident that Rice beat 9-0 the year before they can call 50-0 accident if they want to but I sure know what we call it. I am afraid that you are not going to hear from Ben in quite a while.
The freshmen are going to have a dance on the 17th. Don't you want to go?

Last night we had a little fun with the fish again only it was a serious nature.

We announced about a week ago that no excuses would be accepted for a freshman leaving without his cap etc. So we made a list as the day went by and last night was rickinius night. We strapped harder and were more serious about it than any other night except one (long was it). Whenever they start crying it's inductively hunting.

We waited for every car after two o'clock. Out in front of the gates. Of course the boulevard is awful popular and last night we were awful pretty. Fellows would come by in cars and we would hop a ride or he would ask us to go riding and of course when a car is full of girls and there is a bunch of "dukes" lets us just wait for a chance. You can imagine the result. We sure saw some sights. There were lots of them that had the same idea about things as Cary has. Don't misunderstand me.

You have about the same idea about Martha as I have. I know Ethel and Martha haven't been very good friends and I also know just exactly what Ethel thinks of Martha, and Ethel knows what I think of her (Martha). It strikes me though Martha wants everybody to "play up to her". She wants to be "it" in everything and if anyone slight her she doesn't want to have anything to do with there. I don't think, in fact I know, that Martha doesn't think very much of me, but I can't help it, I try to treat her as nice as I possibly can, but I don't seem to be able to get anywhere. But that is neither here nor there and hasn't got a thing to do with who is going to beat this afternoon or rather how much we are going to beat. It is just 30 minutes before the game begins so I guess that I must learn to finish this letter later. I wanted to get it in for this evening's mail, but I'll have to take it to town and send it because I'm not going myself.

All of the mid-term are over and I sure am glad. I passed in all, made my best grades in Math, and incidentally the best grade in the class, now you can imagine what that did for loneliness, the rest of this must be because my knowledge of mathematics is very limited. Well until later.

We beat Tulsa alright 23-13. It was a pretty good game but not near as good as some we seen. Baylor got beat 3-0 thank goodness, now lets pray that they beat St. A.

We have another parade tonight, this time we are going to lead a parade which is being held in honor of the Fair. Jane enclosed a good note up, if it isn't too much trouble please save it for me.
