Sweetheart, I know something is going to happen because we got thru the day without it raining. I suppose though that it is only saving up to rain all the harder Saturday. If it rains anymore we are really going to have to get a cause to get around, the ground is so wet now, you just soak every time you get off the walk.

Well the lab this afternoon was pretty good, not near as hard as it generally is and so they got along a whole lot better than usual, with the exception...
I one part of the exercise and that was the tones of the skull. I certainly was glad to because I didn't have much pep and didn't feel like showing them much. I'm still got the blues honey and I can't get over them. Carr wanted me to go out and see a girl with him tonight, and you know what I told you about such as that anyway. I sure would be miserable company tonight. I am going out to see Ethel tomorrow night, and I guess she will want to pull all my hair out because I haven't phoned her no been out but once.

Well now it is still another day closer to Thanksgiving—honey have you asked him whether you could come down or not? Oh I can't wait that long to see you, I've figured it out and decided that if I go to Austin and brother doesn't especially want me to stay I will leave there Sat. night and come on to Dallas, see that will be just the same and I will get in there pretty early to. The only trouble is that Train leaves Dallas again at about 8 o'clock, but that will be better than nothing. I am afraid our mid-summers will begin about the last week of this month or maybe a week sooner and I want to do pretty good in those so if I don't come up a week from Sunday you will know why.

Well I thought my pay days were over, but I hadn't done to day, also, so I suppose we both feel rich tonight. I felt that way whenever I have 50 cents in my pocket, however if I had a dollar with you tonight honey mine we wouldn't have to count our change before we went to the picture show.

Have you heard anywhere about the F. O. football game. Who are you going to root for? Please root for Texas will you? If I was there I bet you would or I'd pull all your hair out. I always want to see Texas get beat except you out of state team and then I'm for my home state.

We had a long talk with the Freshman last night, and he certainly did surprise me as a fine fellow. The only trouble with him is, that the army taught him to give orders and not take them, and his bull-headed and naturally more mature than the sophomores. He told us that anything we wanted to do to him, he wouldn't object in the least, because he considered us as men (ahem) but as far as taking things from a bunch of Needs, he simply couldn't stand it. Well, you can't blame the fellow, of course, but where he made his mistake was in the gun play, and he admitted that and also apologized for doing it, but that was of very little value, because the lunch was rather sore. He finally decided though to give it a try and I hope that he stays and doesn’t leave school.

This morning I looked out of the window at about 8:30 or 9:00 and saw coming a whole string of freshmen and carrying suit cases, the sophs were marshalling them and carry their books to class in them. It certainly was a funny sight.

Did you ever just feel like you were alone in the world and that way

thing you were doing

was for nothing? someway

or another I am feeling that way tonight and I know

I haven't a right to.

A boy just came in and told me to thank you for that candy, I left it on my desk yesterday and when

I came back I had two pieces left.

Well honey enjoy the game

Saturday, I will be having fits down here I guess, tell

Madeline hello for me.

With all my love to you darling

Otto.
Miss Gainer Roberts
40 Texas Power & Light Co.
Interurban Bldg.
Dallas, Texas