Tuesday

Sweetheart I have run out of paper other than this but I know that you won't object to me writing you on this paper. Honey mine I am awfully glad you got my letter Sunday because I have been worried about not sending you a special Sunday. I just came back from fat (5.45) and certainly was glad to see your letter waiting for me, and such a nice long one. Why honey I should say that I did not get tired of reading that letter.

We had Biology Seminar again this afternoon and then before that I had some stencils to make and these down papers to grade. I have never finished them yet but probably within the morning I had better anyway because the freshmen are going to have an exam again Thursday.
as it is my time to grade your papers I guess that I will be the unlucky one, however I should worry.

It certainly does seem funny for it to be so dark before supper because usually we always took a good walk after supper but now it seems so late. I always wake up at 6 in the morning though, see, that used to be seven, the sun is always up and it seems so late, I've been getting up here lately because I can't sleep anymore.

To honey what you said in your letter didn't sound one bit foolish to me. You don't know how glad I am that you feel towards me as you do, you know how I have told you that I compare other girls with you, not you with other girls. Why darling you are so different, have so many things "see" the majority of girls, and have the sweetest disposition going. I know if I didn't have you I wouldnt be worth a cent, I am afraid that I would go just as so many others are now and did in the army. To listen to some of these boys talk would make you feel like I was a fool for not going around to places as they do, but I simply can't do it, I love you to much sweetheart.

Well it's only three more days until the big game comes off and I'm getting a little more scared every day. Oh honey if we can only win, but something seems to tell me we are going to have an awful fight to do it. The bunch is simply wild and could we get rats I know everyone would go up, as it is I think we will have enough for a special train. We've got a pep meeting for every day, and you can't ever hear your self think in the Huge hall.
because there is so much noise going on. I am sending you a little clipping from the Houston Post, I only hope the whole Dyas team really feels like the clipping reads. I'd like to have it changed though about Saturday night.

I am going up on the Katy Friday night, and like I said before unless I have an essay Monday I'll try to see you Sunday. Darling, I sure am anxious to see you too.

To-morrow night at the Majestic is going to be 'Rice Night'. One of the boys out here knows one of the men on the circuit, you know the one that generally comes out and talks, tells jokes etc. Well he came out and ate supper with us and told us if we came down to-morrow night he would tell the crowd how we were going to beat Texas the next Saturday.
Of course that will advertise the game and maybe help us out.

No, it doesn't make any difference if you tell 'em about what we are doing. We don't care down there, after they once find it out, but we had rather that the suspicion was on some one else.

Well honey if I get mixed up in my talk don't be surprised because there are some awful tales going on in here, and they are about the Southland Hotel too, it sure has an awful name. I had heard a little about it, but I didn't put much faith into it, but I know it to be a fact now. Do you go in there anymore, honey?

Well darling I am going to try to study, but don't be here I can with all this crowd in my room.

I love you.

Texas U. Confident
Student Body Loyal

Houston Post Special.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 27.—It is an entirely different eleven which Rice is to face next Saturday. The personnel is the same, but there is an air of confidence which did not prevail just after Phillips and Oklahoma had administered their defeats.

Baylor was regarded with some misgivings in Austin. In fact, there was expectation that it would be a hard game to hold the Baptists, and when the varsity crew went through the Bears as they did it imparted a lot of vigorous vigor.

The student body had something to do with it and when the Rice crowd comes next Saturday they are going to see an exhibition of loyalty in grand stand and bleachers which is most enlightening as a source of inspiration.

As the game with Baylor progressed the coaches felt so confident that they sent in second string men for the second half, and it was not until then that Baylor made any sort of showing against Texas.

That is the point for the Rice boys to bear carefully in mind—that it was not so much the improvement in Baylor's game—though there was some—as it was letting down of Texas that enabled water carriers from the forks of the Brazos to get anything in the way of a score.

There is respect for Rice, so much, in fact, that great pleasure will be evinced in piling up a terrific score against the Arbuckle hopes if it be possible.
