Sunday

Sweetheart, dearest - I sure do owe you an apology for writing a letter like I did Friday night and then finished yesterday afternoon. I certainly am sorry that I did dear and will try never to do it again. But I was simply feeling bad and had so much work I didn't know where to begin, and so putting everything together something had to happen and like a big nut, I took it out on you, dear, in writing that way.

Honey mine I've told you just oodles of times but it's the truth so I'll tell you again. That I've never been so lonesome as I have been since I came back and these Sundays simply are the limit. I have already almost started a riot by continually saying I wish circuit as Dallas. Every time I say it Henry Nash wants to beat me up for making them think about it. If I had the money darling I would go put in a long-distance call right now. I sure do want to but I just can't afford it. I owe the Institute $60.00 but at the end of this week they sent over me something. Oh honey I guess it sounds foolish to you but I've just been wanting to kiss you all morning. I guess you can tell how I feel by the way I am raising. But honey I simply can't help it.

You know that war-
for demonstration was talking you about. Well they are supposed to have it out here this afternoon at 2-30 and as it is now 2:00 I guess I had better start putting on a few clothes so I can go out, I've got on the required amount but it's awful cold outside and I don't want to freeze. Honey if you were here I would make you put on some more clothes too, why you would freeze if you didn't. Sound?
late dear - I love you sweetheart.

Well honey mine I wish you could have been the exhibition it sure was good. They had every kind of noise making instrument conceivable and all sorts of smoke bombs. green, yellow, red, white, black, and orange. They were supposed to be used for different kinds of signals. Then they laid down a smoke screen that you sure could have cut with a knife. They had something to imitate actual warfare and those old shells would go way up in the air and easily two blocks forward and then burst making an awful noise.
Then they also had a demonstration of liquid fire and I'm powerful glad I never did have to face that stuff.

Pay light signal rockets were awful pretty, also you know all colors of smoke.

Then the last thing was an infantry attack by the Houston Cavalry. Believe me that was awful. Because it is simply awful wet out there water standing everywhere, and as those old boys went forward you could see water splashing in all directions. Then they would shoot rockets and bombs would burst, and hand grenades were popping, it was real good. I saw some women out there with low shoes on and wading in mud and water way over their shoe tops. The Bayeux is all out of its bounds, we can't even use our little bridge connecting us with the athletic field, but have to go out on the boulevard and use the main street bridge. If we had a cause we could do some fine carousing. I saw Boon and Ethel and Mabel and Ann and some one else, just as they were coming back they were just getting out. so I don't guess, in fact I know they didn't get to see any of the demonstration.

I had a real nice time out there to supper last night. I got there at about 6:10 and there wasn't any one home but Boo. He said he told them when they left that he didn't want them to stay so long, but it never did do any good. But pretty soon Ethel phoned and wanted Boo to meet her over at the pet store. It is the first time that I have ever eaten there that Molken was there too. But he was. We stayed home last night for once and at first played the piano, and sweetheart it reminded me so much of when you were here and we would sit together on that bench. Then we started playing 500 and Mallkin + Boo and I played Ann + Ethel. I guess you know why the extra person was there. Well we beat the first game but I got beat the next two. Then when I came out to school I found the sweetest letter from you, honey I just wanted to get on a train and go get you.
I also had a letter from home yesterday and they told me my dog was gone. He tried to follow them in the car with them going to the exercises the other night and they put him out, but put in the front yard, but I guess he must have followed them. Gee I sure hate that because I liked that little old dog and I think the rest of them did also. Maybe he will come back. Hope so anyway.
Will I had my pictures taken yesterday and wed.
be able to get my proofs by Tuesday provided I can find time to go get them.
Honey if you really want one of the enlarged still send you the proofs if I can so you can pick the one out you would like to have.
I am awfully sorry that you can't come to the prom honey but I know how it is and I would rather have you here in June than to the prom also. If I go, I certainly will miss you though darling. It all depends upon what Dad says and what your affairs are going to be as to whether I will go or not. We have Junior class that little dress affairs and if they try to make it that in certainly not going. If I go who must I take honey?
Blond or brunet? you know I'm just like you about being lonesome that way.
and when I see these boy with their girls why sweetheart it nearly drives me crazy, because you
not here.

Dearest I am going to try to take this letter to town to night, because I want you to got it tomorrow. I've got achenuity up tomorrow so simply must study. Honey please tear that letter up you got today, will you? I love you truly.

With all my love
Alto
