Wednesday.

My darling sweetheart - I surely hope that you have not been working so hard that you are all tired out again. Honey that is all that is wrong with you, you are simply working too hard and getting yourself all tired out. I sure wish you wouldn't do it, dear. I simply can't stand to think that you are up there working so hard and me way down here, just getting ready all the time.

Board has gone up again dear, so don't be surprised if you get a letter from me telling you that I have pitched a tent out in the park. and will hereforth live there. If they go up anywhere, I surely am going to move. I am beginning to think I am living in a first class hotel. I guess they watched me eat again and then went and made out the bills.

We are still having just a little cold weather, but not so you can't run around in your shirt sleeves. It looks tonight like it would like to rain, and get cold again, so there is no tellin' what kind of weather we may find in the morning. Just one more old until the exams begin and honey I can't learn a thing. I guess I'll just have to go into the exams with a smile and if I pass alright and if I don't all wrong some way or another I can't realize that they really ought to begin so soon. But I am really glad because then there will only be one more set that we will have to pass through before June and then sweetheart mine I will have you with me, I look forward to that a whole lot more than I do getting a degree. I can get along without that but I can’t without you dear.
This afternoon in lab I was working away dissecting out the semi-circular canals of the dog fish and honey I got some blooming formalin in my eye and I thought I was going blind. It sure did burn and my eye got sore and just watered all the time. But I washed it out good and it is alright again now. One day it is bromine and the next day it is formalin. This morning one of the Veterinarians here in town brought out a dog which was supposed to have robbies and so Mr. Daires and I started operating on him. I don't know how long the darn thing had been dead, but I do know that lots of things smell more pleasant. All we wanted was the cerebrum of his brain anyway and that is all the further that we went. It wasn't a very easy job getting into his skull without ruining his brain though. We will have to make slides out of that.
part now and then
speculate there and see what there is on it. I am trying to get Dr.
Attnebury to get some rabbits for the Freshman class to dissect and he is really in favor yet, if we can find some a round here that would be good for that kind of work.
I like work like that,
something you know where you have to really be keen in, in order to get a good dissection. Not that I am but I generally have pretty good luck.

you know honey I forget to fuss at you in my letter yesterday. The very idea of you saying that I wouldn't want the thing that you were going to send me, because I was getting so many. Sweetheart, you know that isn't so. I certainly would feel sorry for the person who would get them, because I certainly would give them to whoever'd enjoy them at all. Honey, I would love anything you made for me even grits and hominy, why I would fight lions and tigers and mosquitoes and flies and just lots of things for you. But I am afraid there is another kind of animal that is worse than any of those that I am going to have to get the best of. Now read between the lines.

And another thing. Who is the world is Christine Nuhausser? It seems like I have heard that name but what is it?

It wouldn't do me any good to go to bed at seven o'clock. I knew I couldn't sleep all night. When you are over may be I can talk.

I love you dear-
With all my love.
