STUDENT COUNCIL

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE ON WEEKDAY SOCIAL EVENTS

By LESLIE ARNOLD

With the new constitution already approved by the Student Council and by the College cabinets, and ready to be submitted to the student body this Saturday, the Council's biggest problem was out of the way. However, there were a few minor changes to be made in the wording of the constitution. No radical changes were introduced.

It was provided that the Councilman at Large (the one who is the SA officer, not the one from the colleges) be in charge of the Annual Homecoming celebration. It was provided that the President of the SA be chairman of the Executive Committee. These duties would have been filled by the same people anyway (but it was felt that the duties were important enough to be mentioned in the constitution.)

In the discussion of the new proposed Social Committee by-law for the new government, Huff revealed what the situation is on the so-called Social Ruling from the Administration. In a meeting with members of the Faculty Executive Committee it was decided that any organization which has some type of annual banquet will be allowed to hold it on a week night.

Furthermore, any night before a day on which a holiday is wide open. For instance, we get out of here on the Thursday before Easter. The Wednesday before would be an open (socially speaking) night. If the rule was in effect this semester, that is. College Nights are also exempt from the ruling. It was decided that the social committee will be sole judge of what constitutes a social event on a week-night.
