Baker approves new policy for revisions in open house

By CHARLES SZALKOWSKI

A change in the wording of the Baker College Open House Policy allowing the Cabinet or Executive Committee to schedule an unlimited number of open houses during the daytime was unanimously approved at the Baker Cabinet meeting Monday night.

The proposal must first be cleared by the Undergraduate Affairs Committee, however, as it is not in complete accord with current University policy.

The Cabinet offered as supporting reasons is the following:

1. There have been no major problems under the present system of open house regulations. There is little reason to expect problems under the proposed system.

2. Increased open house privileges should augment the limited social facilities on campus.

3. The increased presence of girls in the college should serve to improve not only the cleanliness and physical appearance of the rooms, but also the manners and social orientation of the college members.
