VWB champs chosen

By SPIKE SIDOVER
Thresher Volleywallball Expert
The Unlocked Yo-Yo successfully defended their intramural volleyball championship last Tuesday, defeating the Pseudo Jocks 7-15, 15-7, 15-9. This marks the fourth successive year the Unlocked Yo-Yo has won the championship, and the third straight time they have defeated the Pseudo Jocks for the title.

Serving again proved to be the name of the game, as in all three games, the team which was most successful at returning the opponents service emerged victorious. The Unlocked attack centered around the spiking of Lee Hall and Chuck Young. Young’s serves also proved very effective.

The Yo-Yo offensive barrage was completed by the fine setting up of Rich Behnke, Jack Smith, and Bob Easton, all like Hall, four-year Yo-Yo veterans. Young has only been on the team for two years.

The Rice intramural championship is, incidentally, the World Championship, because this is the only place the game is played. The game was invented here.