500 Parents Expected At Orientation Saturday

By LAWRENCE ELLZEY

Tomorrow is Parent Orientation Day at Rice University.

To initiate the day's activities, parents will gather in the Rice Memorial Center Grand Hall at 9:15. At that time, a series of speeches describing the purposes and functions of Rice University will begin.

DR. CAREY Croneis, Provost of the University, Dr. George Holmes Richter, Dean of the University, and Dr. LeVan Griffis, Dean of Engineering, will represent the administration.

Harry Lynch, president of the Student Senate, and Jim Rhodes, president of the Junior Class will speak from the students' viewpoint, and Roy 'Nolen, president of the Honor Council will give some particulars on the operation of the Honor System at Rice.

THE 500 EXPECTED parents are to attend lectures given by Dr. W. H. Masterson of the History Department and Dr. J. I. Davies of the Biology Department. These lectures should commence at 10:15 according to Larry Moore, chairman of the Orientation Day Committee, and, weather permitting, will be given in the Memorial Center and Hamman Auditorium.

At 11:00, tours of the dynamically changing University will be (Continued on Page 5)
PARENTS . . .

IF HOUSTON rain does not interfere, Carolyn Skebo, who has organized these tours, hopes to present an intimate view of the University Campus.

Dinner for the parents will be provided in the various colleges at noon.

After the Texas Tech football game, or around 5:00, the parents are invited to a reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Croneis in the Rice Memorial Center. Freshmen are also invited to shed their name tags, beanies, suspenders, et al., and attend the reception with their parents.

If the rains insist on coming, special parking for the parents is to be provided in Hamman Hall parking lot.
