

Players To Offer 'Tea, Sympathy'

"Tea and Sympathy" will be presented November 30 and December 1 in Hamman Hall by the Rice Players as their second production of the year.

The drama concerns itself with the problem of the "smear" which can occur when an individual's actions are misunderstood and misinterpreted by the members of his social group. Tom Lee, the innocent object of this social scandal, is portrayed by Syd Nathans.

Julie Johnstone plays Laura, the sympathetic wife of the school master who favors the boy with tender consideration and perhaps contributes to his appearance of "difference." Her attentions bring about a split in her marital relations and cause consternation on her part as to what her subsequent actions should be.