

Tch, Tch!

We are definitely behind the times. The University of Houston now has an official student vigilante committee to purge that campus of all subversive reading matter—in the form of textbooks. Are Rice students just going to sit back and be complacent and liberal?