

The presentation: well done

We have witnessed in the past few days a convincing demonstration by the students and especially the student leaders that students are indeed capable of carrying out well and thoroughly a project with which they are vitally concerned. The demonstration yesterday was orderly and controlled and responsibly organized. Those who did the organizational work on the presentation are to be congratulated on their foresight, concern, and thoroughness.

It is only regrettable that one of the local television stations, in its coverage of the event, in addition to reporting errors in fact, chose to emphasize the conduct of a small minority of frivolous students who heckled rather than marched.
