Mason Initiates Economics Series

The first of seven public lectures presented by the Department of Economics on the theme, "The Nation's Economic Objectives: Roots and Problems of Achievement," will be delivered Thursday, October 25th, at 8:00 pm in the Fondren Lecture Lounge.

DR. EDWARD S. Mason, Lamont University Professor at Harvard University and President of the American Economic Association, will speak on the subject, "The Objectives of a Mature Society."

A CONSULTANT to various federal agencies, Dr. Mason was Dean of the Graduate School of Public Administration at Harvard from 1947 to 1958. He was Chief Economist for the Office of Strategic Services during World War II, and has been a Director for the Graduate School of Public Administration of the Pakistan and Iran Advisory Groups since 1953 and of the Program of Public Service Fellowships in Economic Development since 1957.
