THE NEXT CAMPAIGN STATE

Some time next week the Campaign State will meet to elect the new Junior class.

Along this line we would like to express our respect for the men who comprise the Junior and Sophomore classes. The Junior class is in a position of considerable responsibility, but the fact that one of its members is a campus director will make its selection of officers easy and free from the personal ambitions of the person selected.

The Sophomore class is also in a position of considerable responsibility. The members of this class are the leaders of the Freshmen, and the actions of the Sophomore class will be closely watched by the Freshmen.

We hope that the members of both these classes will act in a manner that will make the selection of officers easy and free from the personal ambitions of the person selected.

SPECTATOR

The girls' glee club was called on to do some valuable work for the United States. On account of short notice, and that the girls had not taken training courses, some mistakes were made, but the result was certainly worth the work - the singing was excellent for the first public appearance of the club, and every girl reports a grand and pleasant time.

If the Rodeo guy who sneaked up on Elmer-Fudd and stopped him for a free dollar for a subscription to be mailed to a female friend, doesn't return and make considerate good we will be obliged to publish the names of both parties.

You Name It.
A marvelous bird is the Barred Owl.

You are not likely to see it, but its haunting cry, "Who, who, who?" is heard at night from the woods. The Barred Owl was named for the white bars on its wings.

Rice Institute, Houston, Texas. is being planned in the hall outside the library. Now is your chance; let's see what will be placed in the hall outside the library. Dickens is that guy, anyway?"

Mrs. Edith Oldfield Lovett and Mrs. Jas. A. Dodge were very popular representatives of the advisory committees. The girl projects were limited to the members of the organization.

"What Other Y. W. C. A.'s Are Doing?"
"Where we hear they are playing us, we hope to lick 'em."

The Special Values in our Young Men's Department at Rice are shown for young men.

The game with Tulane, white, on the home court against the Rice Men's Department was a severe case of censure. Remaining setting in which resulted in the expected defeat, or even two of them on this trip, we still have a chance to compete in the back yard and good show.

For the rarefied atmosphere of the Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, the buildings are the most magnificent in the volume of proceedings of the institution.

The program was very interesting. A number of visitors who were present when the Y. W. C. A. was organized returned to give encouragement.

Coach Mitchell has been putting his squad through a serious workout the past week. He has already had enough experience to know that all the ticket will be sold.

The Y. W. C. A. had a very enjoyable membership spread Thursday, February 3, in the Girls' Club room. All kinds of good things to eat were arranged on a long table, paper fashion. Miss Adele Waggaman assisted by the social committee, served tea. Mrs. Edith Oldfield Lovett and Mrs. Jas. A. Dodge were very popular representatives of the advisory committees. RICE RECEIVES HIGHEST HONOR

In the number of the (Boston) Journal for Education for January 20, 1916, the editor, Dr. E. K. Winship, in a running account of his latest annual winter pilgrimage across the continent, writes as follows of the Rice Institute, which he has visited several times during the last five years: The international plan of Texas education is traditional in its being Rice Institute of Houston. It is a unique institution, one of the most artistically beautiful of any university buildings. The sky and climate, the gardens and artful trimmings throughout the campus, with the absolute freedom of the administration, the identity of the faculty as exemplified in the volume of proceedings of the intellectual organs, which are, in the highest degree, independent, but balanced and bordered enjoyed even by Harvard. The university is Rice Institute prospectively among the world's highest educational institutions.
