RICE GETS EVEN BREAK WITH A. & M.

FIRST GAME 5 TO 4, BUT SECOND ONE 6 TO 6.

Games Are Splendid Exhibitions—Owls Make But One Error in Two Games.

The Owls broke even with A. & M. in a double-header played at Bigin on Saturday afternoon, the Aggies taking the first game, 5 to 4, but losing the second, 6 to 6. The Owls' victory put a temporary crimp in the Aggies' hopes for the State championship to be necessitated by their winning both games against Texas. So they should have won the first game.

The Owls are 20 to 20 in their season's play, but for Rice and A. & M. would have been State champions, in prob- able, possibly have made the Aggies lose the present baseball title it is probable that the Owls' victory will be responsible for the loss.

The two games Saturday were beautiful exhibitions of baseball from the Owls, shortstop A. & M. playing loosely and raggedly in both games. The fielding of the Owls was almost perfect, making only one error in both games, while the Aggies made 18 hits and committed six errors. The Owls were stopped, being responsible for four of them. But Rice comes off as a team, by making four runs on one hit. Munch and Beringer, rf, * 47, f* 49, Powers, rf, * 45, 3 , ? Priester, tb 3 t after one was down.

EDITORIAL

The observance of the Shakespeare bicentenary in the R. I. E. brings to mind two facts to our notice. It demonstrates without a shadow of a doubt that there are some very real dramatic talents among the girls, and it shows that in Latin Class we have not missed a trick in the education of our campus.

There have been few specified rules at present, but there are some remarkable individual characters. There is no way in which one can be sure that the student who has written his work week after week cannot by his mere silence be detecting the same spirit in another student. We guess it is time that all the students not only know about the traditions of the school, but also understand the importance of following them.

There are a few places where disturbances near rooms where classes are held take place, and other mementoes of one's personal property are missing occasionally. There is no question about it, and all students should be punctual and neat in their academic relations with the students.

The Council has decided to remove any of his books. Is he interested in reading them? And are they considering if the reader really has to do all things. We think the students should be told that it is not possible to make mistakes in their work when they are working week after week. The results are not always what they might be, but it is possible that the students are not concentrating on their work. We think the students should be aware of the importance of following these traditions.

WHEN the need to get a man over the wall arose, the men on the 41st floor were seemed upon by the work of the Engineering Association on Tuesday evening, March 13. The first number on the program was a humorous address by R. C. Harris, and after this a clever diallog between two imaginary water turbines, illustrated with headsides, given by Mr. J. J. Pound, instructor in mechanical engineering at the Institute. The slides were furnished by the Pelton Water Wheel Co., and served to make the lecture both instructive and interesting. After the lecture the audience adjourned to the excursion, where refreshments were served.
A meeting will be held at some time in the near future when the officers for next year will be installed.

RICE TAKES FINAL GAME WITH RICE

Texas Takes Final Game with Rice

University Field Held Two in One Hour for Seven Innings, But Weakness in the Eight

The victory over Texas was the second win over the Longhorns in the season. The final score was 5-3, and the game lasted an hour and a half.

The game was played on a beautiful spring day, with the sun shining brightly. The crowd was enthusiastic, and the players put up a good fight. The game was halted in the eighth inning due to bad weather conditions.

Texas scored five runs in the first inning, while Rice scored three runs in the second inning. The game was played with great intensity, and both teams were determined to win.

In the end, Texas emerged victorious, thanks to their strong batting and pitching. The players were all in top form, and their teamwork made the difference in the game.

The next game is scheduled for next Sunday, and both teams are looking forward to it. The crowd is expected to be even bigger this time, and the game promises to be an exciting one.
