At the Glee Club is a reality. After four weeks of talk and anticipation thirty or more boys met in the classroom Friday night and started the ball rolling. Mr. Hal D. Draper, of the chemistry department, made a character sketch, showing the purposes of such an organization at Rice. He had discussed the matter with both President Lovett and Dean Caldwell, and was urged by them to organize a Glee Club. He stated that it is for all those who are anything about singing and wanted especially the old members of the 1915-16 choir who were waiting a chance to get back.

If plans work out, a "family" band of sixteen men will be selected to go on tour to Texas colleges and public schools.

Mr. H. E. Byr, of the mathematics department, was unanimously elected chairman of the music committee for the club. After Mr. Draper’s talk, Mr. Byr proposed that a group of six or seven men be in shape to help with the music for the initiation ceremony, which included a hymn in Latin. He stated also that the club plans to include the Glee Club and the Girls’ Choral Club.

COMMUNITY HOUSE HAS FIRST SERVICES

Thursday’s meeting of the Community House was not a complete success, but it is credited to the new organization and the members will be in shape to help with the music for the initiation ceremony, which included a hymn in Latin. Mr. Byr stated that it is to be for all Rice and will be conducted by Mr. Draper. The first service was held in the Community House, and the second service will be held in the Community House on the campus.

LITANY SOCIETY TAKES IN NEW GIRLS

E. B. L. is Initiates Members With Literary Society—Followed By Poets

"Our first meeting has been a complete success and the organization seems to be in a very promising shape," was the report of Mrs. Cleveland Sewell, who was present at the meeting of the Liti- nary Society. Mrs. Sewell has been very active in the Lusitania movement and is very proud of her first pure success.

The Liti- nary Society is made up of twenty-five members, and is in charge of the literary department of the campus. The society was formed to take the place of the separate literary departments, which are being abolished. It includes a poetry section, a prose section, a magazine section, and a music section.

The society’s officers are: President, C. R. Shaw; vice president, C. A. Brown; secretary, D. K. Cain; treasurer, D. C. Hume; and editors, C. R. Shaw and C. A. Brown.

The society plans to publish a monthly journal, and to hold regular meetings every Thursday evening.

"Doctor, I'm crazy!"

"Lend me a hunk of paper, I left my notebook home."

"Got any change? All I got's a bill."

"Lend me five."

"No, -setting is what I meant. I think you're hatching out trouble for someone."

"I'm glad to have an understanding."

"Absolutely. I've spent a small fortune on candy and flowers and now she won't give me any time at all."

"Aw right, guess I'll get mine today.

"Did the doctor seem encouraged?"

"None of you have mentioned. It does seem to me that I'm going to be one of the most profitable patients he ever had."

"Brotherly Apologies."

"Yes."

"I have an idea you thought you were taking in our girls."

"And why have you never married?"

"I'm glad to have an understanding."

"Absolutely. I've spent a small fortune on candy and flowers and now she won't give me any time at all."

Collegian Clothes.

Collegian Clothes are worn by men who prefer the un-ordinary stock garments. Collegian Clothes are made to fit, no matter the all the fad dresses that designate the individually inclined club.

"How you call on her to patch up a kid's nose!"

"Got any change? Our silk's and kid's garments are among the precious heritages of the Noh plays, which Mr. Ongawa will present as an outgrowth of their religious dance."

"In the place of keeping you about our silks and kid's garments, the historic Noh plays which Mr. Ongawa will present, are among the precious heritages of the real flow-ers."

The Taylor Gridiron, after chasing the mystery of the manly conquest of the land of the bearded against the land of the bald, the land of the forward against the land of the back, the land of the bright eyes against the land of the dim, the land of the weak against the land of the strong, the land of the slow against the land of the quick, the land of the skill against the land of the strength, the land of the air against the land of the earth, the land of the thrill against the land of the monotony, the land of the success against the land of the failure, was returned to its owners, the architects of its history, the destroyers of its pride, the slayers of its honor, the devils of its spirit, and the capes of its glory. The game was played on the 10th of October, in the year of Our Lord 1911, in the city of Boston, Massachusetts, between the Harvard and Yale teams, and was won by Harvard, 10 to 0.

The victory was due to the superior tactics employed by each team, but Harvard had the advantage of home ground, which is always a deciding factor. The game was played on a beautiful autumn day, with the sun shining brightly and the wind blowing gently. The Harvard players were dressed in their familiar blue and gold uniforms, while the Yale players were clad in their green and white. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams playing with great skill and determination.

The game started with a punt from Harvard, which was caught by Yale's quarterback, who then threw a pass to his right end, who ran it back for a touchdown. Harvard's response was a field goal, but Yale followed with another touchdown and a successful two-point conversion, taking a 10 to 0 lead into halftime.

In the second half, Harvard tried to rally, but Yale's defense held strong, allowing no further points. The game ended with Yale on top, 10 to 0, as the crowd of over 20,000 spectators cheered and applauded.

The victory was a great encouragement for Yale, as they had been unbeaten in their previous games. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams playing with great skill and determination. The winning team was rewarded with the glory and honor of victory, while the losing team was left to ponder the lessons of their defeat.

The game was a classic example of the beauty and excitement of college football, as the players showed their skills and determination, and the crowd cheered and applauded. The game was a testament to the spirit and tradition of college football, and a celebration of the passion and dedication of the players and fans.
