Help Pass Millage Act for Educational Upkeep.

Thirty thousand letters by Friday at 2 p.m. are the figures adopted by the University Administration as the upper limit for the passing of the University Amendment. It is therefore necessary to make a decision as to what procedures for the next week are to be followed by the committee in charge.

Before Friday at 2:30 o'clock each student will write five letters regardless of whether his county has met or not met the quota. These letters will be deposited in the blue and gold boxes in front of Student Tower.

According to plans of the University Administration, after the University committee receives the letters necessary for the passing of the Amendment on Tuesday, November 5, and letters will be dumped out of the Student Tower. From that day on, the Student Tower will be treated as a garbage can for the disposal of all the unwanted letters.

LET'S GO FORWARD WELCOME TO '24

At Rice Institute we have grown up with the idea of the honor system. The system is strong, and we are proud of it. We have never yet thought of the system as the play doctor, except in the case of the present hazing of the student body. We are proud of our system, because it is ours. The very integrity of the student body depends upon the student's faithfulness in providing our system with the needed support. The very existence of our system is the guarantee of our future. We are the custodians of our future, and we must look to the future without any fear of the past.

STUDENT CAFETERIA ECONOMY AWARDS PRICE OF BOARD

At Austin, Tex., Sept. 29 — It is stated by the financial manager of the University of Texas, that propaganda has been made for taking one of the state's large number of Board of Regents, which results from the fact that the state is able to maintain a system which has been operated for many years.

THE COMING OF DR. SHIPLEY

ARTHUR EVERETT SHIPLEY, doctor of sci- ence, doctor of law, and fellow of the American Academy, has about all the academic honors and eminences attached to his name that any other man might have. But they are all well deserved, for Dr. Shipley is considered not only one of the foremost British educators, but one of the leading scientists and thinkers in the world.

The announcement by President Lovett at the graduation address last week, that this distinguished gentleman will be on campus in a few months, and deliver a series of lectures, is perhaps one of the most interesting things occurring to the governing body of the Institute. The name of Rice is richer illuminated with such distinguished visitor, and every student should consider it an honor to be convened to assist in founding another world of ideas.

Dr. Shipley first came to Rice in 1912 on the occasion of the opening of the Institute. Again in the fall of 1919, as the head of the British educational mission he observed that the distinguished scholar came to Rice, and gave the inter-library lecture on "The Depths of the Sea." His visit next month will be his third on the campus of the Institute, and his coming will be welcomed by all.

COLLEGE INN.

THE FLURRY OF EXCITEMENT which follows the announcement that the college inn will be constructed at once across from the campus, is due in part to the spirit of expansion among the students, but is also due to the highly admirable spirit of the students, and is the one alone which will ensure Rice to grow and expand in the future.

The construction of a two-story building from across the runway, in front of the administration build- ing of the Institute, the plans for the complete design of the building, are now being completed. These are the indications that the administration and students look forward to the completion of the college inn with great structural happiness. With the addition of these modern facilities, a new and en- terprising appearance will be given the college, and will be welcomed by all.

THE RADIO CLUB.

THE THRESHER heartily endorses the recent move for the formation of a radio club, and hopes that the move will spread crystallizing influence, and bring about an active campus organization.

The interchange of policy news was began for the first time this year, at the invitation of the Thresher, but the letter plan, which is expansive and comfortable, was used as the instrument. If the messages can be successfully transmitted by wireless—and The Thresher is well aware that they should be so, as far as the climate is con- cerned—quite an innovation will have been introduced at the hands of Rice wireless enthusiasts.

That we have one of the best wireless outfits' of any college in Texas can hardly be denied, but whether all the universities with which we would communicate, could assemble and man a receiving machine is another question.

If we can adjust with precision our end of the telephone, much good will be derived by them, as they are not familiar with the wireless system, whether or not the system of inter-change Amber is a fact. Experience is the best teacher, and such a proposition will give valuable instruction to any student of wireless telegraphy. Such sufficient interest is manifest, the Institute auth- orities might introduce a course in telegraphy.

AN APOLOGY.

AN APOLOGY, The Thresher feels, is cer- tainly due the Institute at large. In begin- ning, The Thresher clearly stated its policy, and one plank was to correct all er- rors appearing in the columns of the publi- cation. Some evil link had evidently with all policy, but the instance of pitfalls, for the first error that we have noticed was so insignificant and so glaring that it would have been overlooked by the most observant.

The statement that Rice is now beginning 90 years of age was really an unfortunate one. Apologies are not in season, and to most minds who understand the frame- works under which the first Thanksgiving was served, pitfalls are not necessary. None is due. The Thresher regrets this error, not what we claim the strictest possible for- mation, but that the misstatement was so ob- hiper, even to the least elementary student. However, if no more trouble comes in through misstating our age or belief Mr. McF. We will feel quite gratified.

QUALITY AGAIN VS. QUANTITY.

"But Houston hasn't Vanderbilt, Pea- body College nor Ward-Belmont," says the Nashville Banner. But Houston, Texas, with a $15,000,000 endowment, the largest in the South outside of New York, is the nation's only private university in the South without an endowment of more than $10,000,000.

The above article appeared recently in the Nashville Banner and the Nashville Banner Morning Observations," in the Houston Post. The news business, as it is called, has a tryst at literary production as represented by the newspaper publications.

At any rate, we may say that we have a quiet, sober and progressive spirit existing among the clubs—one for the development of the club—to be sure, and another for the development of the club—of course for the development of the club. Hence the club is a good name as well as the good of Rice as well as the good of the club.

THE INTERCLUB COUNCIL.

ORGANIZATION AND SYSTEM are the foundations for the success of any movement. The Thresher views with pleasure the formation of the Interclub Council, which is to supervise our Interclub councils. The Interclub Council will be the governing body for the entire campus, and will be the first to determine the future policy of the Interclerls.

In the very nature of man, there is an existence of spirit which seeks socialization, endeavoring to unite with those who share the same interests. But to provide an organization and a governing body, they shall be achieved by common good, enjoyment and section. However, they shall be achieved more closely for the propagation of their spirit, and to give it opportunity for development. And we hope that these Interclub councils, if administered, will produce what they are started.

A number of Interclub councils have been formed, and the Interclub Council has been formed. But in order to be deemed, similar local groups have arisen, often taking the form of clubs, tennis clubs, debating clubs, etc. But all the ideas have been taken.

Working under the same restrictions at Rice, a number of social clubs have arisen, and many more will in all probability arise within the next few years. They are not permitted to assume the national affiliation, but are restrained local clubs. Each club takes the oath of allegiance to the works for the general good of the university. Much good is to be ex- pected from the Interclub Council, and if the will of these founders is properly observed, grand and valuable assistance will fall to Rice.

The Interclub Council will be the governing body for the entire order, and will regulate the life to properly cope with the spirit of democracy, so pre- vailant at the Institute.
