The Texas Longhorns, headed by Captain Maxey Hart, come to Rice for the showdown. At first glance, it seems that this game may not be as one-sided as expected. However, with the success of the 1919 season, the Rice Owls are determined to prove their worth.

The Owlets fought the Rusk eleven Saturday night, so as to be able to fine the 1919 team. The Owlets were confident that they could win this game, and they did.

The Owlets were evenly matched with the Owls, but they were able to use their superior knowledge of the game. The Owlets went on to win 14-0, and the Owls were forced to accept defeat.

The Owlets are expected to perform well against the Owls, and their team is determined to prove their worth. The Owlets are confident that they can win this game, and they are ready to show the Owls what they are made of.

PLANs FOR THE COMIC

IN A RECENT ISSUE THE Thresher commented upon the proposed comic magazine. Further discussion on the campus, from the interested students, has led to several suggestions, which, The Thresher, hope to express at this time.

It seems that the idea of a comic magazine is generally approved on the campus. It would be, perhaps, added to Rice a new and necessary formation of voices, plenty of enthusiasm, and immediate, financial support from the Institution. However, the problem of financing it must be agreeably met.

Among the suggestions that have been made there is one of pre-eminent worth, offering a possible solution. Acting on the experience of other schools, it has been suggested that the self-sustaining editorial board, which is the only necessary feature of all the successful, comic, be applied for.

This board would consist of an editor, business manager, circulation manager. They would be endowed by the Institution in the following manner:

The Thresher believes that the Institution of a comic magazine is entirely dependent on advertising. The subscriptions might pay for the first issue, but the subsequent issues would be paid for by the board. The Thresher has expressed itself in favor of the idea, if The Thresher and Campanile do not suffer. Program is not important and need not be interfered with by the comic.

The advocates of the magazine have called attention to these facts: Houstonian, Rice Advertising, The Thresher has not got a cent, in all the world, that would be obedient. Rice has no life and it is up to us to make our life. The advocates of the comic magazine have called attention to the following facts:

1. The comic magazine has been found elsewhere that the life of the comic is endangered by placing the direction of a heart of such special requirements in a general election. It has proven more successful to elect from the men who are likely to "make" the comic staff, the best men, from among all the students, and then give them the assistants and proceed with the magazine.

2. There have been many experiences of other schools, the Thresher has been suggested that we might well follow the example in this matter.

3. The financing of the magazine is entirely dependent on advertising. The subscriptions might pay for the first issue, but the subsequent issues would be paid for by the board.

It is further pointed out by the comic advocates that the principles of advertising, and relations to the magazine are such that the magazine is not possible if the magazine is not popular.

It is the ability to produce it. It is desirable for many students to have access to it. It is desirable for many students to have a means of entertainment, of the comic magazine. The Thresher has expressed itself in favor of the idea, if The Thresher and Campanile do not suffer.

At least, in line, the latter is a matter of the students, the Thresher has expressed itself in favor of the idea, if The Thresher and Campanile do not suffer.

The advocates of the comic magazine maintain that they have a clear conscience. Their arguments are clear and simple: Since the magazine is not possible, the magazine is not possible, the magazine is not possible, the magazine is not possible.

NOTICE

McFaddin wants Campanile Pictures completed by Christmas.

The Campanile is well under way, according to a recent statement given by the President, Mr. J. E. McFaddin. "We are undertaking this project on the belief that the students will have pictures before Christmas," he said. "We have already had a number of orders, and expect to finish on time." The editor further stated that the cameraeman, W. C. Wilson, will begin work as an advertisement in the next few weeks. The pictures are to be taken in the order placed with a local photography.

Individual students can best be of service at this time, if they will have their pictures taken at once. Variations in the shape of the building will be marked, and the price to be paid for this privilege a small one. A number of paintings will be taken, so that the best work will be obtained for The Student and for the benefit of the individual. The following schedule is given on request by Mr. McFaddin, and he requested that it be strictly adhered to:

- Oct. 22 - A. J. (inclusive)
- Oct. 22 - E. J.

Students Earn Way Through Bursar Aid

Approximately one-third of the students at Rice are paying all or part of their expenses through work. One-third of the students have never done any work, and of that third, one-fourth are Negroes. The schedule for work for all students desiring it, and in many cases the particular kind of employment they intend to follow as well, is very important, and they are requested to see that none of the able-bodied students use the aid for academic deficiencies.

Students in Positions That Will Pay from $45.00 to $50.00 a Month

A number of poses for student work are on an absolutely equal social plane, and there are many who have such positions, principal among whom are printers, newspaper and magazine agents, bookbinders, printers, newspapermen, stationery clerks, filling station pump operators, janitors, watchmen, chauffeurs, student managers, sweepers, and others.
