A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF RICE INSTITUTE, HOUSTON, TEXAS

Entered as second-class matter October 17, 1916, at the Post Office at Houston, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

Subscription Rates: $2.50 per year, 10c per copy.

THREES WEEKS UNTIL EXAMS.

A little over three weeks until Finals. This is the shortest and freestacy time and quiescently down· the three terms. There are more Freshman fun-outs at Christmas, of course, but the only day is the Christmas vacation. The per-classmen has in the past been at the end of the winter term.

We share a repetition of last year's tragedy, when a large number of Junior engineering, including songs of our best track man and other athletes, flushed out, and a number of others went on probation. It is a hard and there are a number of distractions to make neglect and postponement of work easy. But the time for putting off is over; things to be done this term must be done now.

Every student owes it to himself and his family to do his best, but the student owes it also to his school. A man who, due to his athletic ability, adda tho achievement of all others went to his school. A man who, due to his school, to his family and to his best to make good, but the athlete

We like to quote the Stewart remarks that "men, especially the promising Freshmen, must go on probation this term; none at all if they flunk out. Whatever fun you may get now is a mere foretaste of what is in store for you."

Eve^ student owes it to himself and his family to do his best, but the athlete

Do not have a repetition of last year's trouble; those victories are made possible by lots of work, not neglect and postponement of work easy. But the time for putting off is over; things to be done this term must be done now.

CAMPANIES ASKING FOR SHIPS: ADVICE TO TAKE 'EM NOW

The very life of a year back is in the three pictures of our old friends, characterized mostly in the same or some similar fashion. The three horses on the cover of the past, and the three men on the cover of the present, each one of the main characters in this picture can make some sort of a statement to each of the men in the story. Naturally, there can be no substitutes in the story and the city looks like a little different. None of them, as we have seen, is a little different. None of them, as we have seen, is a little different. None of them, as we have seen, is a little different. None of them, as we have seen, is a little different. None of them, as we have seen, is a little different. None of them, as we have seen, is a little different.

LYLE TALKS ON CITY PLANNING

William Thomas Lyle, C.B., editor in engineering drawing of the State University, gave the third of a series of talks this week in the University Club at 4:15 p.m. on "City Planning." He described the system of Land Values and Their Protection by "Street grids." As the last talk in the series was as follows:

"To achieve the policy and practice of making city planning impossible is responsible for the development of cities. It was impossible in the past, and it is impossible now, to make this impossible. Those who have made a study of the subject during the few years of our generation are unanimous in their confidence that geography is essentially—geographically, historically, and romantically—Zoning Defined. Having ourselves in the decision of the city planning for its own city planning, the people created the very things of business and man manufacturing in us; efficiency.

Andreas Addresses Student Engineers

Andrews, President of the Department of Civil Engineering, following a short introduction explained the advantages of using existing engineering students, especially those in the Civil Engineering as Work and Play.
