ILLUSTRATES TALK WITH LANTERN SLIDES AT UNIVERSITY CLUB

"Exhibitions in Philadelphia" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the University Club, by John Clark Tilden, in connection with the book of his painting at the Philadelphia Museum. Three exhibits from the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts for the 11th annual exhibition of the museum were shown, in the 116th annual exhibition at Rice as being well above the standard. Mr. Tilden, a trustee of Cincinnati University, was given the floor here Monday evening, by John C. Tilden, in introduction of the Institute Monday afternoon, to speak on "Exhibitions in Philadelphia," on Monday.

The speaker then closed the lines of his talk when he turned the floor over to Dr. B. A. Foss, who is coming here next Thursday, and Dr. L. W. Smith, who will speak on "Exhibitions in New York," on Monday.

Mr. Tilden stressed the importance of the arts to all nations, and in Mississippi, the state of his birth, the arts have been neglected. He showed pictures illustrating his point, and in conclusion, he asked the assembled to vote on the question of whether or not the arts should be introduced into the high school system of Mississippi, and then the vote was taken and the motion carried by a large majority.

THE UNIVERSITY DANCES.

COLLEGE newspapers over the United States are giving editorial expression to the haly conduction of the majority of the colleges, the situation is described as most "immoral." One edition of a college publication has in these columns that these dances and costumes are "popularizing indolence" and show "a shamlessness of spirit." So widespread has this feeling been that the Literary Digest is preparing a special article on the subject and is asking for the opinions of collegiate editors.

The Thresher laments the fact that social ac democrats in other colleges are in a measure poisoned by the latest dances, but rejoices that these practices as described would not have fastened themselves upon Rice. The costumes worn at these affairs are no more extravagant than those worn several years ago, and usually changes. Like fads in clothes, there are fads in dancing. Last season the fad was "boat dancing," this year it has gone to the other extreme. One fact which alone points out that dancing is even better in one respect, as it has been several years, is that "ching dancing" as prevalent as it was disgusting, has given way to more refined moves.

Laxity and extreme boldness in dancing is attributed usually to that "rath-flight" for the Al ter! How, however, the cause must be deeper. We are content to ignore our social morals as it was disgusting, has given way to more refined moves.

PAYING THE THRESHER AND CAMPAIGN HEADS.

The student council has taken a very progressive step toward the conclusion that the student publications of the future shall be of the highest quality, in providing that the editor-in-chief, the art editors, and The Thresher shall be paid out of the profits derived from these publications. Henceforth the staff of The Thresher, who have no award other than their love for Rice and for the work, do not think that it is an evidence of lack of patriotism or of a mercenary spirit that many times in the past the men best fitted for these positions could not be persuaded to accept them on these terms.

The position of editor-in-chief or of business manager on other publication is a real job. It requires considerable amount of experience which have their market value, and it necessitates the expenditure of a great deal of time and hard work the year round. Under the old system any student who had to earn a part of his own expenses was a virtual sacrifice to fill any of these positions, as it should be filled.

Given the right, a condition of affairs would be one of the keenest competition for these offices among all the best men of the school, the recent ruling of the Student Council, a step in this direction, but only a step. It provides that the staff shall be paid.

The Thresher up to one thousand dollars, be divided among its staffs, in the proportion of 50 per cent to the editor and business manager and 50 per cent to the rest of the staff. This allows a maximum of $300 to each editor and business manager. This is that he gets $40 a month. The time and the energy required for the job is worth more than that; in other

The Alpha Rho team is making a sensation in the college basketball ranks. The team is composed of students from the University of Texas, and it has been quite successful in recent games.

The team's latest victory was a 20-point win over the University of Texas A&M. The game was held on the campus of the University of Texas, and the crowd was excited to see the Alpha Rho team take on the formidable Aggies.

The Alpha Rho team is known for its fast-paced, high-scoring style of play, and it has been a favorite of fans all season. The team has a strong scoring attack, with several players able to put up points quickly.

The Alpha Rho team is led by senior guard Timmy Thomas, who has been a key player for the team all season. Thomas is a steady shooter, and he has been able to knock down shots from all over the court.

The team's other key players include junior forward Mike Wilson, who has been a strong rebounder, and sophomore center Mark Smith, who has been able to score inside.

The Alpha Rho team's next game is scheduled for tomorrow night, and it will face off against the University of Texas Longhorns. The game is sure to be a high-scoring affair, and fans are excited to see what the Alpha Rho team will do next.
