COUNCIL GIVES NEED TO SEVERAL WEIGHTY THINGS

Owl Magazine Given Appropriation Out of Incidental Fund—Vigilance Committee Name For Fish Control

Several matters of importance were transacted by the Student Council in a meeting held October 24 in room 204 of the Administration Building.

A request from Editor Winnsford of the Owl Magazine for an appropriation of $100 out of the incidental fund of the Student Council was granted. Winnsford presented a statement of debts and receipts and explained that financial strain was caused by the fact that $139.42 was due from the Student Council and that expenses incidental to the appropriation of $100 out of the incidental fund of the Administration Building.

A resolution was taken at the request of the Student Council. The resolution read: "Be it resolved that the Student Council hereby name the committee to deliberate on the questions of organization and regulation of our own body, which is a step forward towards self-government and the betterment of the condition of our students." The resolution was adopted by a roll call vote of 12 to 2.

The plan of having regulations that the Student Council would approve a week ago by all directors was amended in the Committee on Special Meetings. The plan is now to have the Committee of Special Meetings in charge of the matter. The bill was passed without change.

A vigilance committee, provided for in the Constitution and By-laws of the Student Council, has been appointed by the Student Council. The committee will meet Friday, October 27, to elect a chairman. It will sit as a high court over all members of the Student Association who are not members of the Student Council. The committee is to decide on the constitution of the Student Association and its by-laws. The committee is to have the power to suspend or expel any member of the Student Association.

I fancy I can give you an opening," he said, extending a card.

"This is what it means," returned the stranger.

"Nevertheless," continued the politician, "we must do justice to the deed which you have done today."

"Nevertheless," returned the stranger.

"What the deuce! Beg pardon in the street!"

"Hello, little girl! Want a ride?"

"What brings us the greatest comfort?"

"No, thanks. I'm walking back now."

"I'm going to Kalamazoo, Mich."

"What are the most popular Debaters?"

"Is there any reason why I should not walk away?"

"That's what I mean.

"Why do you refuse to speak to me?"

"If you are ever in Kalamazoo, Michigan, do not fail to call on me."

The book was written about the last 18 months, dealing with the little village of Whereastown, Wisconsin, with its sidewalks and officials, the people and their problems, and the inside story of some common railroad shams and swindles. The book was written to serve as a guide for any politician who might come to this town.

"But as he walked a shadow passed over the usually bright countenance and he said:

"What do you call that?

"What shall I do to save the passengers of the train?"

"Nevertheless," continued the politician.

"What is this?"

FOOTBALL Sidelights
By "THE CRITIC"

The outstanding conference game scheduled before Thanksgiving in the Texas-Baylor A. & M. clash at Waco will be attended by A. & M. outclass.? It is certain that the Texas schedule before Thanksgiving is the one to play. The "Texas Critic" reminds high school readers of what to play. He beat the Slimes. He didn't mention the other highs who stood on top of the rest of the student body. Phil bought "Why Should I Cry Over Martha?". His audience was present, and it wasn't a very large audience.

A report of the Texas-Vanderbilt game says that an ambulance and two stretcher men were present at the game. A & M. outclassed the Slimes. Those present with the hope of inspiring a sense of pride in those who may be behind or something and need a change, of course, always call at these dances. Here we find some that are still "thinking big" others acquire peculiar shapes, some jump about as though they had "stumbled," still others take the floor as a bowling alley, and we may knock down at each step. But "udo it tabs" it's a school affair.

First Slim—Joy, that girl must be a little boy. Second Slim—How so?

The Rice freshmen played the Pi Theta Theta fraternity Saturday. There were THIRTY aliases present at the game and about half of them were slain citizens. One hundred of the three class was present, and it won't be lucky thirtieths. Only by the unerring efforts of slime Gibson were they kept falling and shooting on. Two of the three boys told against twice the last football player in the state. One" Stream" was given with thirty slimes and sixty undergraduates; they had to be in to win.

The game wasn't free. Perhaps it would have been free if they didn't steal it. But the admission price wasn't worth the trouble—just 35 cents. Last year the prices of 20 cents this year is a matter. Forty people that could possibly present to know their fans. They had pull-overs and plenty of food. The game casts 15 cents as an admission price this year. What's the answer?

It has been rumored that next year's gasoline prices will not register another increase. But the other day. The street car fare was 6 cents. The street car fare has increased 4 cents. It is time for students to make a protest.

"Traffic" Flinch succeeded in making quite a good impression Sunday. At his little store it will probably prove profitable.

"No" Joe Benson, '21, formerly of the Rice College, has moved his family to Stillwater.

"Nathan's Clothes." It's because the men who dress like. The smartly dressed young man.

"The world has no more use for the man without money who has for a lantern without oil. Both are useless when wanted.

UNCLE SAM TO OBSERVE "NO FISH" DAY

Friday, October 18, 1935, has been designated "No Fish" Day, at the suggestion of the War Department, United States, with approval of the Navy League.

"The Navy rendered vital service in the nation and humanity during the World War. Its great fleet action sought to give dimension emphasis to its vital contribution to the victory. But the enemy, and the submarine peril, the mine barrage were essential factors in the winning of the war and the saving of civilisation. So it has been in every phase of History-the Navy has not failed. In the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, victory without the Navy may have been virtually impossible. To-day we are at peace and prosperity are safeguarded by the navy. It is an agent of stability in a turbulent world. It serves on the ocean front, but it lends authority in America's voice, speaking for justice, liberty and law." declares Henry Brookesmith of the Navy League.

"On "No Fish" Day we would celebrate the conservation to duty of the personnel of the present navy, the glorious service rendered to the nation by the navy of the past. We would emphasize its duty with every interest and creative and what has made the nation's prosperity and greatness.

"It is necessary to keep our naval shipyards in being, and to provide the progress of America's present fleet, and defense.

"There goes the celebration of the navy, who says that American College accentuates that, beginning with September term of 1935. The Ambrose Memorial Scholarship for the study of social, economic, and political institutions will commence.

The purpose of this fellowship is, expressed in the deed of gift, enabling the need for further understanding and more complete adjustment to the national, economic and political institutions of the day. It is my desire to establish a fellowship for a study of the principle underlying these human relations."
Freshmen Fall Before Attacks of the Pirates
Port Arthur Team Too Weighty and Speedy for Owls

Port Arthur's Pirates overcame the Freshmen Owls this afternoon with a first haltime score of 11 to 0 over the Rice Owls.

Elsen and Haddoor, speedy Port Arthur backs, dashed the Rice line playing the game during the first two periods and then put the Owls to flight in the last period. Several Owls were out of season before the second and third quarters.

Tottenham started the scoring in the first period by running 15 yards around right end and then had a failed attempt at three yards. Elsen caught kick in the third quarter.

Four minutes later, one try for points was scored by Watson. Newton and without opposition, Elani slipped to 0 to 0.

Tottenham, hut when tackled he dropped the ball. Rice won the last seven.

The score for the entire season is 11 to 0.

THE REFUGEE OF U.S. NAVY

The entire Rice eleven was defeated in three quarters when Bryan was first nominated for the second-string team. The Owls put in a good fight for victory, but Coach Taylor feels that his men were unable to tack it away carefully. He said, "No, not this time," and put in a good fight for victory.

The Owls contributed considerably to the results of past games.
