La Revue
By Irene

Irene is glad to see that there is one crack of athletics in Texas which does not play to popular opinion. When a coach will suspend one of the best players for breaking team rules he is to be commended.

Get a letter—say another day—apply that "Dear Mr. Allenberg and William Evan Bysany we are the

Our little Revue in last week's Co-op Non-Petronian Laugh issue was one of the best parts of the paper.

Letters have been pouring in to The Thresher offering to resign the editorship of the Co-ed Thresher. All of these letters were in favor of the Co-ed Thresher. The editors will be glad to hear from anyone who has any suggestions or ideas for the Co-ed Thresher.

One play in this little "Little Revue" was too close in English read. It is to be read as a part of the program and, although innocent people are often brought in for unjust criticism and slander.

The former could certainly have been published in another form. The latter would not have been published at all.

We are still unable to sympathize with the action of the office to the officials for whatever damage was done to their feelings. That is not our fault—how can any one who has been so down-trodden.

And for this reason, we wish the boys would not drown the prologue by President Lovett. If they were sincere when they signed the apology then they needn't worry about the prologue.

Thresher might be. Everyone admits that "Doe" Altenberg and William Evan Bysany were the best men we ever had in the Co-edyls.

With the talent and ability that is possessed by the authors of the yellow sheet, the choice and most effective papers that have ever been published in the Thresher would undoubtedly have been written.

The moment vulgarity, obscenity or profanity are brought into an article that immediately destroys its true effectiveness, covers the material and distorts the sight of it.

"Tanlac" could have been interesting and much more effective with a different treatment. It seems that no one is interested in the losing conclusion more accurately upon the facts and discerning character of the people they have seen that the reader if some of the authors had written from a broader viewpoint, and not from the biased prejudiced scope upon unpleasant personal experiences.

CORONER'S VERDICT.

We cannot too severely, censure remarks about theaways. Thresher. We think our future readers are nothing but a bunch of ants after the leaves have been shown how much the girls are in all ways.

The color that might have been expected is not our fault—how can anyone publish a book of poetry, which is written in the same way? If the people are not interested in the others for a few hours, then we have no idea, "any kind of a book" could ask such things.

And there is no use rubbing it in when we started reading a column of a newspaper and went to a comic strip which had a verse from the Bible. That article was just as bad, although there are some verses in a comic strip which might not have been made if the publishers had not seen the faint voice of the road Thresher with its guffaws. If they had not seen the comic strips and the guffaws (imply they are love-blowin-in to such submission), perhaps the words of our Gershwin would not excite the new, untouchable brilliantly organized masterpiece that it is.

VISITORS AT RICE.

With the District Thresher meeting within a very short distance of our attention is called to the Rice Basketball prospects for 1925.

We beg to say what material we have in the making and what material the prepared to do.

Our future basketball material will come from just such school teams and just such players as the Tournament. Perhaps the greatest part of our future material will come from the very hobbies which are bringing it out on the Rice cage floor today and the money in an effort to win the district championship for our respective schools.

It may be that some of these hobbies will be the Blue and Grey and the white and red, but we must admit that the University has a great number of men who play basketball.

THRESHING IT OR GETTING IT?

We are still unable to conclude the action of the office officials in drawing up the resolution of apology for "Tanlac" in the form that they did.

The obvious purpose was to be for it be known that "the officials of the Co-ed Thresher are at any time to consider such criticisms and complaints as are brought to their attention and make to every effort to improve conditions whenever possible."

The secondary purpose seems to have been to expose the authors of the yellow sheet.

The latter should have been the real reason for the apology. The former could certainly have been published in another form. At any rate, it was not necessary to combine the two and force the editors to sign a resolution which they probably didn't consider sincerely.

If they were sincere when they signed the apology then they underwent a remarkably sudden change of conscience. If they were sincere then they should have been signing an article which they considered as only a means of staying in school?

It is generally believed that the editors merely took the easiest of two alternatives—sign it or get out.

Since the Thresher, in the very worst of the resolutions, is open to criticism and complaints as are brought to their attention and make to every effort to improve conditions whenever possible.

The resolution of apology which the Office Thresher and published where every student of the Institute would not have been satisfied.

The resolution could have taken the form of an acknowledgment of the magnitude of the publication and a formal apology to the officials for whatever damage was done to their feelings.

Meaning, the Thresher is ready to publish to bold type any information which the office desires to convey about itself or its operations.
Mike O'Neill, New Owl Baseball Coach, Will Arrive Monday

Michael J. O'Neill, new Owl baseball coach, is scheduled to arrive in Houston Monday to take charge of the team and get the ball rolling on the season.

O'Neill, a veteran manager, was long in the plans of the University, a couple of weeks ago. He was invited to come to the campus for a formal interview by Mr. Crowe, the athletic director. O'Neill was then at Bosh East, where he has been coach for the past three years, and bowled against the best teams in the country. The Owls were invited to come to the campus for a formal interview by Mr. Crowe, the athletic director. O'Neill was then at Bosh East, where he has been coach for the past three years, and bowled against the best teams in the country.

It is expected that O'Neill will bring to the Owls a great deal of experience and knowledge of baseball. He has been active in the sport for many years and has a great deal of knowledge of the game. He is expected to bring a lot of enthusiasm to the Owls. O'Neill is expected to coach the Owls in the spring.

The Owls have been playing well this year and have won several games. They are currently in second place in the conference and are expected to do well in the spring.

The Owls are expected to be a strong team this year. They are expected to do well in the spring.

Famous Grid Mentor
To Succeed Arbuckle
As Rice Athletic Head

John W. Heisman, veteran athletic director and internationally-known football coach, has been selected by the Committee on Outdoor Sports to succeed Philip H. Arbuckle as director of athletics and head coach of football at Rice.

Although arrangements have been completed for some time, the official announcement had been delayed pending word from Heisman that he had secured his release from Washington and Jefferson, where he was employed as football coach last season. For three years, Heisman will follow his three highly successful years at the University of Pennsylvania.

William Ward Watkin received a wire from the veteran coach Tuesday morning announcing his release. He immediately sent the following letter to the Thresher:

To the Editor of The Thresher:

My Dear Mr. Glenn:

On behalf of the Committee on Outdoor Sports, I desire to inform you that all final arrangements have been completed pertaining to the selection and appointment of a new director of athletics for Rice Institute.

Mr. John W. Heisman has been elected director of athletics and head coach of football.

The committee has sought a man of thorough knowledge and experience and feels its success in securing Mr. Heisman will year by year produce renewed enthusiasm.

Mr. Heisman is president of the Football Coach Association, and formerly head coach at the University of Pennsylvania, Washington and Jefferson College and Georgia Tech. For over twenty years he coached championship southern teams.

Mr. Heisman will call his football men to spring practice immediately with the opening of the third term.

Mr. Heisman is now engaged in deciding with the committee the position of assistants, and an announcement on this subject will be available in a short time.

With sincere hopes that every Rice athlete will be eligible scholastically to start work with the new coach at the beginning of the third term, I am,

Very truly yours,
(Signed) William Ward Watkin.

February 19, 1924.

Heisman's first words to Rice students received by telegram Tuesday morning: "Greetings to Rice and student body. Everybody roll up sleeves and let's go."
