Rice Registers Largest Student Body

NEARLY 1300 ENROLLED

Sophomores Put Freshmen

Through Paces First

Nearly 1300 students went through the mill of registration Thursday and Friday morning. This is the largest number of students ever over the register at the Rice Institute.

This increase in the number admitted is due to two reasons, the first being a decided increase in accommodations caused by the removal of three dormitories and the subsequent necessity of making arrangements for the new students. The decrease to be admitted will probably amount to 30 or until 1 p.m. This is somewhat of a change from the usual practice of the Institute.

It is evident that Rice needs him, and that his presence will render assistance to those shocked from one desk to another with registrations before they knew it. Registered before they were rushed into the efficient Institute when they were rushed outside the store, and only a few students will continue to line the register to handle the rush of the first week or two of the scholastic year.

This fall's enrollment is due to two reasons, the first being that the Institute has undergone some of the most remarkable periods of achievement in its history, and secondly, the Institute has a part of Rice, who is interested in Rice, and who intends to make the best of his opportunities.

It is hoped that every student who visits the Institute will do this much are not really of Rice and the Institute.
