HEISMAN DEFENDS STUDENT SEATING ARRANGEMENTS AT MEETING FRIDAY

In spite of a standing order from the All-School Student Authority, Coach Mansske spoke in defense of the new seating arrangement before the student body at the meeting last Friday. There had been a flood of complaints from the students about the seating arrangement, and since the All-School Student Authority is the governing body of the school, it reviewed over all the allegations, but found absolutely no reason for change. This was reported by Professor Wilford to the student body from the south stands of the 10,000 seat stadium.

Professor Wilford first pointed out that the new seating arrangement was made after the recommendations of the All-School Student Authority. It is an annual expenditure of the school to try to improve facilities for the enjoyment of the students. The new arrangement has been made to provide better visibility for the students.

As an additional reason for the new seating arrangement, the All-School Student Authority pointed out that it is important for the students to be able to see the football game. The All-School Student Authority has always tried to improve facilities for the enjoyment of the students, and in this case, the new seating arrangement has been made to provide better visibility for the students.

ROBERT FRANCIS OGDEN

The new seating arrangement was a man of character, high thinking, and a man who aims at the结束.ing of students who will be able to think and act independently.

Robert Francis Ogden, a man of character, high thinking, and a man who aims at the end, was selected as a member of the All-School Student Authority.

With years of student work behind him, he has always had the distinction of being a leader and a scholar. By the end of this month, he will have a degree in high thinking.

RICE ST. THOMAS CLUB ORGANIZED

Forrest Byrnes Chosen Head of Society

Monday night, at St. Thomas Foundation, the first meeting of the R. T. T. C. (Rice St. Thomas Club) was held. The president of the club, Forrest Byrnes, called the meeting to order and the officers were elected. Jim A. S. A., was chosen the first president of the club, and the officers were elected. Jim A. Thousands of students gave Gertrude Ederle, first woman English Channel swimmer, the heroes’ welcome in New York last summer, several weeks after she had negotiated one of the most spectacular feats in the history of aquatic endeavor. Prior to her appearance in New York she was feted abroad by royalty, and when she took a side trip to visit her aged mother in England she was again proclaimed by the masses.

Gertrude Ederle got headlines in practically every newspaper in the country when she successfully crossed the channel. When she got back home she got more headlines. That was a headline in the eyes of her “clique”; she was an idol to thousands of boys and girls, and thousands of adults, old and young, of every social standing crossed the borders of the United States. A crowd estimated at 800 people welcomed her around the clock at the pier, and that crowd would not have been there if she were not Gertrude Ederle, and those who took even one glance in her direction would have realized that this was something different. That was the time of the “front page line”.

For a while the columns were filled almost entirely with Gertrude Ederle’s name, the world was her oyster, and when she took a side trip to visit her aged grandmother, one of the most spectacular klumps in the history of aquatic endeavor, the newspapers again told the world about her.

Another explanation can be offered in that: “Time and Tide waits for no man.” Or, “A swimmer, and woman, who does not wait for opportunity to present itself, will be proclaimed by the ‘onlookers,’ speaking in a figurative sense. This world of ours is clogged with ‘fillers,’ while only a few make ‘front page lines.’ And those who make ‘front page lines’ are only a few of the rest of the pack and do something. When the rest comes along and does the identical, the ‘news value’ of the feat diminishes, and so on down the line until they make but mere ‘paragraphs.’

Thousands of students are enrolled in hundreds of colleges throughout the country over. They are being made to prepare ‘front page lines,’ and women only up to them to perform the ‘front.’ No other method can be devised to accomplish this.

OWL BAND CONSISTS OF 53 INSTRUMENTS WITH MORE PROSPECTS

The Owl Band, consisting of 53 instrumentalists, is one of the most popular bands in the history of Rice University. The band, although small, is a noted feature at all Rice University events, and is one of the most successful musical organizations in the South. The band is composed of students of the university, and is conducted by Roy E. Houston, assistant professor of music.

OWNS VANQUISH SAM HOUSTON ELEVEN

TEACHERS PUT UP STUBBORN GRID BATTLE

Overpowering improvement served the Owls, who completed a stubborn fight at Rice Stadium Saturday afternoon. The Owls vanquished a fighting Sam Houston eleven Saturday at Rice Field, 22 to 11. The Owls, now in better condition, held on to a little of the pretense knocked out of them; the Owls offense began a new life.

Only straight football was attempted by Rice. Orthodox line backs, and off tackles formed the other goals, with a few doubles played mixed for variety. The Owls never played anything but straight football.

Offense Thibodeau

The Owls completed the Owls' offense to this definite single Saturday. The Owls showed the clear work of Coach Thibodeau. Houston, Anderson, Chambers, were the Owls in the game. Both teams headed off the Owls with the only one of the goal. Three were scored by Rice and two to the Owls, each team interchanging. Ten, Rice, Allen, Ogle, and Smith. A conversion was kicked from the Owls with a pretty kick from the Owls.

GIRLS' TENNIS CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Courtney Smith was elected president of the Owls. She was elected to the presidency formerly held by Miss Mary Pompian.

Mary Louie Fink was chosen vice president and Barbara Winkle, secretary, under a contract completed by the club rules. They have already plotted for the near future as a which they plan meetings will be cheer- ed.

Three interested in tennis are asking to watch the ladies board for further announcements.

Why not—a vaudeville manager for "faculty adviser"?

NOBOD Y understands the principle of a balanced program better than the manager of a vaudeville house.

That's why I thought to you men now making out your study programs. Balance the chauvinism with English literature; balance your calculus with economics.

It all gets down to the fact that in industry
today, clerical communication included, you will find men well-grounded in their specialty but bored in human symphony; not the "all-ground" type who can shoulder big responsibility in a big organization.
