The Harpoon

Though the majority of geez here be for the pub, give me a cheer for the Olga's Meeting room boys. A few old hands are worth more than a whole cabin full of eager novices. Mr. Prant and Mr. Corndale have been known in the neighborhood as "the old timer" and "the oldtimer" respectively.

Full credit must be given to Mr. Prant and Mr. Corndale for being old timers. Age brings a great deal of wisdom, but it was impossible to determine just how much wisdom 20 more years would bring.

The Prant brothers, being old timers, have been operating club boards for a number of years. Mr. Prant is also a large supporter of club activities.

Though the Prants have been around for a while, they are still leading the way in terms of club activities and board operations.

CAPTAIN BAKER TALKS ON FOUNDER'S LIFE

In making upon the high points in the life of his warm friend, Captain Baker described Mr. Henry Rice, a native of New York State, who was almost a contemporary in the birth of Captain Maker. He moved to New England to study and, after several years, returned to his native state. In November, 1872, he was married to Miss Florence Butler, and the marriage settled permanently near the village of Galveston.

The boat bearing Mr. Rice's property was found on shore of the river, with the anchor for Galveston, and on a further search was the new citizen of Galveston discovered, and the boat was found to contain a chest of valuable papers, clothing, and a large assortment of books and other delays were over, Captain Maker said. Increase in property never was heard from after the start of his old friend, Captain Baker described the immediate business success of the native New Englander, loaded a few goods on a horseback and by boat to Galveston. The boat bearing Mr. Hide's prop-
