Addison and Steele Would Feel At Home At Autry House

Addison and Steele would feel at home at Autry House, which is the home of President William H. MeNeir, assistant editor of the "Am. Book." The house is located on 1211 Main Street, just a few blocks from the campus.

The house is in the Southwest style, with a large porch running the length of the house. The interior is decorated in a mixture of antiques and modern pieces, giving it a cozy and comfortable atmosphere.

The house is situated on a large lot, with a garden in the back and a pool in the front. The pool is a popular spot for the students of the school, who come to relax and cool off after long days of studying.

The house is located in a quiet neighborhood, with only a few other houses nearby. The streets are lined with trees, providing a beautiful view for those who walk or bike around the area.

The house is also close to the campus, making it convenient for the students who live there. The house is a popular spot for social gatherings, with parties and events often hosted there.

Overall, Addison and Steele would find the house welcoming and comfortable, with its blend of modern and antique decor and its tranquil location. It is a perfect place for them to call home while they are at school.
Next week the women of Rice Institute take over the editorial rules of The Thresher for one issue. Whether its conserva-tiveness, its pacifism, its radicalism or its orthodoxy, the Thresher is going to be printed by the women.

The co-eds, as was announced in last year’s issue, have thrown off their long hair, and are now free to do as they choose. We all will be given a chance to see how much freedom the women have, how much initiative they have, and how much freedom they are willing to fight for.

We have been watching the reports of the road number. One has it that the women are going to debase the man in his 18th year. Another has it that if our fair females are considering being in the will of the man, whatever that might mean.

We want the men to put forward their best foot and air their opinions. If they are not out for other sports. We'll help them to win the women stand in position to be ridiculed. We want the women to have their say, and we want it said in no uncertain terms.

That Harvard Riot

When we read of the 300 Harvard undergraduates rioting after a midnight show at Cambridge recently, we did so with less regret that something such as has not happened here at Rice. Regardless of the consequences of the fight, it was a great show of enthusiasm.

We don’t care what kind of an affair Rice students would pull, but we do protest that something in the nature of the Harvard riot should be pulled here. Something that would serve to weaken the student body from its strength.

But once this year has the student body, or a part of it, shown any real spirit, and that was the Tuesday evening preceding the Texas football game when the mess hall went wild. Since then the junior boys have come to the surface to disturb the united front of Rice undergraduate affability.

Let’s have a freshman dance this year, with freshmen, sopho-mores, juniors and seniors joining in to make things interesting.

Let’s have an honest-to-goodness fight in the mess hall sometime, things barred.

Let’s have a great egg fight of our own in West Hall’s big front hall that Friday, letting members of the various classes choose their opponents.

Let’s get some enthusiasm around the campus.

Let’s wake up!

Looking Forward

Work that the half scholastic year has passed. What has gone before will not be a forgotten history, and let’s go at that. Nearly four months of work, scholastic and otherwise, lay in the fall term, and classes accepting this fall term, the football eleven, and especially the football eleven, will find it much harder to produce results.

Unjust Action

ACTION taken recently in the case of a water mess hall waiter has become the subject of much discussion around the campus. The Thresher is presenting the incident, laying before the student body, to show how the student body, to show how the student body.

Less, the student body has been completely informed as to the details of the case. The athlete is in some space, to leave the student body.

We find that the student body, generally speaking, is not willing to allow the incident to pass without a comment. We feel certain that the student body is not willing to take the action thus far without attempting to offer its help.

This action is one of the mainsprings in the interest of athletics at Rice. It is the interest of athletics at Rice to see that, in all athletics, a deep-seated love for Rice, a loyal spirit, and a willingness to fight thoroughly and without fear for the school would do to put just into the fight the athletic teams that any school should have to offer.

As long as there is only a passive spirit, Rice will never climb into the list of prominent men in the Southwestern conference. No matter how powerful the various teams might be.

“Win or lose, Rice or all,” would be a very flat slogan to adopt, since “Rice Fight Never Dies” seems to have died a natural death.

Regardless of personal opinion, every Rice student should respect just and right. When that is accomplished, athletics take on their proper role, and especially the football eleven, will find it much harder to make things interesting.

A full schedule, and many possibilities. Make what you will off it.

You are an experienced smoker and you know your brand!

YOU'RE an experienced smoker. You know good tobacco. You know taste and fragrance. And you insist on the best—that's Camels. Only the premium tobaccos grown are good enough for you—the experienced smoker. Whatever you do you are going to do right, if you know it.

If Camels weren't the best, they would not be far and away the first. If Camels weren't quality supreme, they would not be the overwhelming preference of smokers who have tried every brand.

Your taste tells you the tobacco difference in cigarettes and you're going to smoke the best. Your advice to others is—"Have a Camel!"

WHAT'S COMPARABLE ... to the exquisite thrill you experience ... when you first wear a new Spring frock ... or a new Spring wrap? ... And the earlier you select it ... the more of a thrill for you! Somehow it seems to be a heartfelt defiance of Old Winter, who insists on hanging around when you've been "fed up" on his company for weeks. There are thrills aplenty for you at Harris-Halho's ... for Spring Wraps and Spring Frocks ... have an appeal that will tug mightily on your heartstrings ... and your pursestrings as well.
