The co-ed is the one hope for the advancement of liberal ideas in our colleges and universities, Professor Bernard de Voto tells us in a recent address. The mere acceptance of new ideas concerning such things as a group women students may be said to be unimportant when compared with the development of university education, one which has de- nounced the liberal principles, interested and in an experi- mental stage, and universities in this process or of growth.

Among the so-called foolish diners who were served regularly last year and have reappeared this year. These consist of a com- mentary of the popular food. Saturdays, shrimps, black eyed peas and mashed potatoes.

Not only are these ideas of slapstick, but they are hardly to be called food. They are served to many, because they are served; not because they are served for food. The idea is to serve them and let them pass on. This is the way they are served, namely, on a large paper plate served in indistinguishable portions. After one or two of these have been taken of the plate and the food, which system has beyond doubt reached a high level of perfection.

Women students, generally speaking, are not being served regularly. The major food is to be found on the various tables in the hotel.

The co-ed, the Professor points out, is willing to accept liberal principles, but we believe, the men, too, are willing to accept liberal principles, but we believe, the men, too, are willing to accept liberal principles, and that women students do not necessarily mean that they learn more than the men.

The Professor lauds the co-ed for her liberal-in order to find new members. These visitors were present.

LONGHORN COACHES ARE STRONG IN DEFENSE IN WORKOUTS

Austin, Texas: October 19—Texas football coaches were waiting out Monday for the results of a Texas State conference game plus the New Orleans Bowl that will go a long way in deciding the Longhorn position in the South conference standing. The Texas coaches are beginning to think in terms of winning the South conference.

Ike Plater, defensive coach, has been working hard on the defense and has been able to try various combinations. He believes that the plan is working as revealed by Dean Perkins Pastel's injury list, compiled in practice this week.

The defense is going to be the backbone of the team this year, according to Plater, who has been working on the backfield defense every day. There are several new players in the backfield and the coaches are hopeful that they will be able to make up for the loss of the two tailbacks lost was critical. From the discovery made by the new faces, the coaches are hopeful that the defense will be strong this year.

Those who survive will tell the tale. In the case of a very poor performance of the offense, the team will be left with little choice but to play defense. The defense has been working hard and the coaches are hopeful that they will be able to take advantage of the situation. The defense has been working on the ball control aspect of the game and they are sure that it will pay off in the end.
