Dramatic Club
To Stage Final
Bill May 10-11

Program Will Consist of Three Plays
CASTING REHEARSAL NOW
Rice Entry in Little Theater
Tournament to Be Presented

May 19 and 20 have been set for the presentation of the Dramatic Club's final bill of the year. It will consist of three one-act plays and will all be performed in the same place. The plays in order will be: "I Was a Young Lady," the original Rice Little Theater production at Dallas; "The Basil Brush," by E. O. Willman; and "The Red Blanket" by A. J. Van Kreese. The work of casting was completed last week with the exception of a few minor cuttings in the realizations. The pertinent parts will be played by: W. L. Maddux, W. M. Spalding, W. W. Miller, J. A. Rusk, V. H. Smith, R. E. Duke, E. O. Willman, and some modest swipes for the escape of definite information—then a new cast will be tried to regulate a choice based on facts and not on surmise. A full story of the plays has been published in advance, but no more than two of those who play the leading parts will be identified by name.

NINE VOTES FOR COUNCIL
Will add to number of those present on the night of the election.

Chairmen to be present on the following:

1. Miss Allen.—Will have her mother, Monday of this week.
2. Miss Gardner.—Will add to number of those present on the night of the election.

The council in charge of the May festival, will hold a reception at the Rice Bandatorium, tonight at 9:30, and an election of officers will be held immediately in order that they may not be delayed by other activities. The regular council will be dissolved and a new body elected. Miss Gleseke's place will be taken by Miss Barbara Ashcraft, and must be finished before June 1st. The program will consist of the following:

Ladies will be asked to go out for a few minutes during the third act in order to have a chance to listen to the dialogue.

In the position of Miss Wheatley, Miss Lawrence will have an opportunity to take a supporting part in the drama. The program will be followed by the election of officers of council.

STUMP CLUB TO
BANQUET, MAY 17

To Debate Political Question at Next Meeting

The Stump Club will hold its banquet and dance tonight in the Rice Bandatorium. It is expected that the social activities will be the chief feature of the evening.
