Swain Talks to Methodists on Day Demands

Forty Students Attend First Monthly Breakfast Offered at St. Luke's

"Our Day and the Day of the Methodist Student" was the topic of Rev. W. B. Swain, pastor of St. Luke's Church, at the meeting of the Methodist Student Union held at St. Luke's Sunday evening. The Rev. Mr. Swain used as his text the tenth chapter of the first book of the Acts of the Apostles, the account of the early church. He began his talk by asking the question, is there a future for the world without an education? There are millions of people in the world who do not know how to build battleships, but our generation must decide how to build a world.

Work in the various departments of the big church was covered by Rev. Swain. He began with the economic problem that must be faced. There is no use fighting for freedom if we cannot get along without a living. He then talked of the need for an understanding of every paragraph in the Bible. It takes time to teach, but the results are worth the effort.

Secondly, there is faith. There are millions of people in the world who do not know how to build battleships. There is faith in our day for a way out of this economic problem. Every paragraph is gone over time after time so that each sentence is clear and easy to understand.

"Our Day is a day of good tidings," said the Rev. Swain. "There are millions of people in the world who do not know how to build battleships. Our day is a day of good tidings because there is no use fighting for freedom if we cannot get along without a living. Every paragraph is gone over time after time so that each sentence is clear and easy to understand.

Miss Cross' subject "The Technique of Writing" covered more or less her work in the English department. The class was the only one addressed by Miss Cross. Miss Cross, a native of New York, arrived at Rice last week to attend the meeting of the Houston Architectural Society. Miss Cross is a member of the Rice Architecture student, was taken suddenly ill with a stomach ailment and was taken to the hospital. Start Practice In Heetic

On November 12 - 12 Battle

Basketball players are already working out with various intramural teams without official practice sessions as they get ready for the Thanksgiving Holiday. In the meantime, the rest of the team has been practicing at the University Field House, under the direction of Coach John Mathewson.

The following men are reporting regularly to the team: John Haxby, manager; Norman Kent, assistant manager; and Will Lee, Tom Lee, and Bob Wallingford. The team will meet on November 12 in the Field House to begin serious practice.

Thatcher, stays out of a whole season. He will not be eligible until next year.

Suddenly, there is a new trend in basketball, which is typical of the new era of collegiate athletics. Nowhere is this trend more evident than in the University of Oklahoma, where the team is working out with a new coach, Jake Hess, who was formerly the head coach at the University of Detroit.
