College Presy Urges Student National View

Advocates Associations With World-wide Problems of Peace

New Orleans (AP) - Future importances of new students in the business and educational life of the nation will be determined by the degree of interest that those students take in national and international affairs for college and college newspapers.

"This will be the first services to the nation or the educational world if you fail to participate properly with the current and active problems that will occupy the front pages of the newspapers of your four-year-old days," Doctor Dillard told members of the class today.

He pointed out the external pressures being faced by the presidents of large educational institutions today.

"You must not be satisfied," said Dr. Dillard, "especially in the South, high schools and college, to do other than fulfill those functions that are in the interest of the student body."

Wednesday was the last day for having Campenial pictures taken, according to Mrs. Leola of Rice Student, who is in charge of the prints of the Actuary House.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but it was a little tricky trying to plan this last minute and of course the football team's picture has been taken."

"It's just too bad," she added. "We will be able to get pictures taken by the students, but the group pictures will be had only during the next two weeks."

On a break from their regular activities, the students decided to have their pictures taken back by Wednesday.

A bird's-eye view showed the way

Telephone engineers recently found the best route for a new power line by taking a bird's-eye view of their difficulties.

The territory was heavily wooded, spotted with swamps and poor beds, with roads far apart. So a map was made by aerial photography. With this map, the best route was readily plotted, field work was facilitated.

Bell System ingenuity continues to extend the telephone's reach—to speed up service and make it more convenient, more valuable to you.

INSURING FINE TOBACCO FOR FUTURE LUCKY STRIKES

Not many smokers have a fine tobacco plant in full blossom, so we show you this picture. Only a few of these fine plants are permitted to flower and to produce seed. These carefully selected seeds reproduce the following year the 'Cream of the Crop' for your Lucky Strike for tobacco must be grown from seed each year. This careful budding of fine tobacco explains why Luckies maintain their same fine, uniform quality from year to year—so round and firm and fully packed—free from loose ends.
