THREE DEBATE CLUB TEAMS WILL TOUR SOUTH NEXT YEAR

At least three debate teams will be on the road long time in all the coming months, and the Rice School of Liberal Arts announce that three teams will be dispatched to the south for the coming tour. The first team will leave for the south in the next few weeks, and the other two teams will follow shortly after. The tour will cover most of the southern states and will include several important debate contests.

The team members will be selected from the ranks of the debate club, and the members will be trained by the debate club coach. The coach will be assisted by a group of experienced teachers and will have the help of the debate club's secretarial staff.

The tour will be a good opportunity for the members of the debate club to gain experience in public speaking and to develop their skills in argumentation and debate. It will also be a chance for them to meet other members of the debate club from other schools and to learn from their experiences.

THE MIRROR

The Mirror is a literary magazine published every Friday morning throughout the scholastic year except during the first week of May.

16,000,000 Windows "Ventilate" "CORONADO"

Year after year Coronado rises to top as a cool summer suit. It is familiarly known as "the suit with sixteen million windows." Over 400 of them to the square inch ... providing no-draft ventilation. Woven of a special yarn that has no short fibers or fuzz to clog up the openings ... therefore the air circulates through the material freely, and keeps the body cool.

Choice Colors and Patterns

In solid gray, solid tan, solid blue. Mix of solid blue on gray and in smart pattern shades. This combination has a cool, taffy appearance that gives the suit extreme richness.

DODDS TELLS GRADS
TEST OF GOVT IS IN ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Dodds' words followed the opening radio signals sent up by a choir in the Chemistry Building the preceding sunset or by Dr. Ralph W. Beams. Following the recitation of the Twelve Soviet Misconceptions Dr. Dodds read the winning essay for the Magna Graecia essay contest. He then announced that the winning essay was by Mr. W. L. Dill of Pennsylvania. He said:

"I am reminded somewhat..." Dr. Dill had written:
"...in that the demand for governmental regulations on the production of goods and services has been so great that it is a source of danger to our system.
For, while government can make laws, it cannot enforce them.
Thus it has become necessary to create agencies whose primary function is to enforce laws. It is because of these circumstances that the government has become a factor in our economic life.

The government's role in the economy is increasingly important, and its extent of control over the private sector is becoming greater.

It is to government that our people are looking for answers to the problems that arise in modern society. And it is to government that we look for solutions to the problems that lie ahead.

Solutions cannot be found solely in governmental action, however. Solutions must be found through the cooperation of individuals and groups in the community. Solutions must be found through the efforts of all people and all organizations.

It is to the nation's leaders, then, that we look for wise and effective leadership. It is to the nation's leaders that we look for guidance and wisdom.

If we are to solve our problems, we must work together. We must work for the betterment
of our society. We must work for the good of all people.

This is the test of government.
It is the test of our leadership. And it is the test of our patriotism.

If we are to succeed, we must
people.

This is the test of government.
It is the test of our
