Religious Lecturer To Be Presented Here on Tuesday

Dr. deWitt C. (Uncle B) Baldwin, religious lecturer and world traveler, will speak before the student body Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. at Autry House. He will be introduced by Laurence Judd, chairman of the Student Religious Council.

This will be the only opportunity for all the students to meet and hear Dr. Baldwin, although he will speak before several groups while on the campus. The talk will be over 1:15 p.m., Judd said Thursday, so that students may return for 1 p.m. laboratory periods. Dr. and Mrs. Baldwin, leaders of the Ladies Fellowship, will be heard by eight groups on the campus, and will have numerous private consultations. They will also speak to students of the University of Houston.

Thanksgiving Program

These youth leaders are the first of several speakers being brought to the campus this school year by the Student Religious Council. The council has planned a Thanksgiving program for the Tuesday night before Thanksgiving excess on November 22. Student speakers for the program will be announced next week.

Origin of Our Hallowe’en Found in Old Druid Rites

All Saints’ Day, which follows Halloween tomorrow and is the big excuse for the existence of Hallowe’en dates back to a Christian festival from the seventh century. At that time the Feast of the Dead was a Christian celebration of the belief in the resurrection of the dead, and the rite’s connection which got attached to American customs.

Many of these celebrations were Druid, the Druids used to hold their annual festival about November 1 and in this celebration they lighted fires and danced round to the sun god for the harvest. A Druid belief was this at that time that the earth was divided into the world and the spirit world, between which the druid with his wave of land was to inhabit animals. Indeed in Brazil October 31 is still called Man’s Vigi.

Roman Practices

During the Roman Festival of Pomona, the goddess of fruits and vegetables, these practices all concern nuts and apples and are usually enjoyed at this time.

First Arrants Award
To Be Made This Term

The architectural department announced Thursday the creation of the Edward Bowers Arrants Award, a gold medal to be presented annually to the architectural student with the best five-year scholastic record. Provided for by five prominent alumni and classmates of Arrants, a institute graduate of 1925 who died here in Hermann Hospital November 13, 1935, after an automobile smash-up, the medal is being designed by William Mozer McVey, former Institute football player now serving as instructor in sculpture at Texas University.

Three practicing Houston architects are included among the donors of the Arrants Award, given in memory of the young architect recognized as one of the most brilliant students ever to be graduated from the Institute department. The five donors are C. A. Johnson, R. H. Ratson, and Claude Hooton of Houston; O. C. Wheaton of the United States Housing Authority, Washington, D.C., and J. L. Campbell, assistant regional architect attached to the Quartermaster Corps, Baltimore, Md. Johnson is serving as president, and Ratson as head of the architectural alumni of the Institute.

Charles Sullivan First Winner

The first Arrants medal will be presented this afternoon to Charles Sullivan of 1112 Southmore, son of local architect Maurice Sullivan. Charles Sullivan, recipient of the degree of Bachelor of Science from Rice in 1941 commencement exercises, maintained the highest average for five-year architectural students for the period between September 1936 and June 1941. No committee participates in the award of the Arrants medal, which goes automatically to the student with the best five-year record in the school of architecture.

Arrants Held Scholarship

Edward Bowers Arrants of Houston received the degree of bachelor of arts, with distinction, here in June, 1935. In June, 1927 he was awarded the degree of bachelor of science in architecture. Arrants held the Travelling Scholarship in architecture for the year 1930, and toured the art centers of France, Spain, and Italy during the latter part of 1930 and early months of 1931. Near Rome he executed the customary work which holders of the scholarship leave with the Institute, on an exact drawing of the ruins of the Villa Madama. The work is now hung in the permanent display of the Institute architectural department.

Navy Open House
Drives 200 Guests

Approximately 200 mothers and fathers and other high school people visited the campus NROTC unit here on Monday, observed as Navy Day. According to Chief Petty Officer R. J. Sullivan, A. A. Korshak and Henry Lynd, who showed the visitors through the Navy Building, all were impressed with the high standards of personnel, and cadet attitudes toward the organization.

The public was especially invited by Colonel Dallas Fampa to inspect the unit on Navy Day. Fourteen NROTC cadets are holding regular practice periods for the unit drum and bugle corps, which is to begin functioning after November 1.

Lutheran Students
To Picnic Saturday

The Lutheran Student Organization will have a picnic Saturday afternoon before the Centenary games. All Lutheran students are invited to meet at Austin House at 4 p.m. and leave for the picnic from there.

A charge of five for each person will be made to cover the expenses. Students who plan to attend are asked to contact Marjorie Paxson or Frank Barcus immediately.

The regular meeting of the group will be held Tuesday at 12 noon in Austin House, at which time the permanent organization will be discussed.

of lectures by professors familiar to him, such as Dr. Camden on Shakespeare, and Dr. Slaughter on China. The different subjects covered in the lectures defy listing, but one may read on such diverse topics as religion (the Rockwell lectures, an annual series), politics (the lectures of the British and French missions, of the history of peace conferences in the nineteenth century, those of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace), music (Maurice Ravel, composer of the popular Bul- ler, speaking on modern music), and a number of lectures on many fields of science, history, economics, education, and literature.

These pamphlets, with the small brochure and the yearly editions of the Announcements, make up the only readily available source for the history of the Institute and the broad program of research and learning which it has laid out. Even a casual perusal of them would pay rich dividends to the reader.

The Centenary Gents bring a ball club here tomorrow so weakened by lack of material that Coach Jake Hanna has won given permission to use freshmen to bolster his line-up, but things were not always so with the Shreveport Gentlemen. A glance at Centenary's all-time record against the Southwest Conference shows that Hanna's squad will hold a close-out advantage. Over the years they have won 28 and lost 21, tied eight in the league.

High-Water Mark

1927 was the high-water mark for the little college that has been weakened by lack of material that Coach Jake Hanna has been working for the resumption of competition against Texas. The Steers has held a clear-cut advantage.

Rice Night

Wednesday, Oct. 30—For the first time since the 1941 football season got under way, there will be three conference games played in the Southwest next Saturday.

There have been but six conference contests played to date, but those three in one afternoon will put the schedule close to the half-way mark.

Dallas Crash Featured

Feature of the day will be Southern Methodist against Texas in Dallas. Before the season opened, the Long-horns were big favorites to reap the championship. Play to date has served greatly to strengthen that conviction.

If the Steers are to be upset, the Owls must be rated at the top of any list of probable upsetters. Any- way, a capacity crowd will gather to view the battle that might well settle the matter of the Southwest Conference championship.

Aggies Should Repeat

Texas A. M. meets a neutral gridiron at Little Rock, Ark. The Aggies blanked the Razorbacks 17 to 0 last year and appear to be set to repeat in something like the same manner.

The Owls of Rice Institute take a rest and play the Centenary Gentle- men in a night game in Houstan—last of the lighted contests this sea- son for the Southwest Conference.

Varsity Floormen To Begin Regular Practice Monday

After two weeks of unofficial practice, the Owl basketball squad seems to be coming into its stride with the season opening Tuesday night.

Still working under the watchful eye of Captain Bob Kinney, the Owls have been showing marked improvement as they wait for Buster Brann- ton to take over on Monday. Kinney is having them in better than ever and Lambert is showing more speed and accuracy than last year.

Chet Pead, a good ball handler of the 15-man squad and will prob- ably land a starting berth. Florida Gomez is suffering no ill effects from his injured foot, which kept him out last season, and is going at full speed again. Gomez seems to be much calmer than last year, and Rice can expect to see the team of Kinney and Gomez working better than ever.

Gentlemen Invade Houston

By Back Wright

The bruised Rice Owls, still recuperating from a pair of overwhelming losses the last two Saturdays, will attempt to retain the win column at the expense of the Centenary Gentlemen tomorrow night at 8:15 in Rice Stadium.

Here are the days when the Gents will be a team to be reckoned with in the Southwest. Non-sophomores have come through the four-year college program and will be expected to show their stuff. The Gents were a threat to Southwest Conference when they were a part of the league.

YOUR SLIDE RULE IS IN THE ARMY NOW

The slide rule you would ordinarily buy this term will not be ready for four months. Sorry, it can't be helped ... It has to be with defense. Tanks, guns, airplanes, all begin with mathematics—and mathematics means slide rules. Although we have multiplied our production, the Defense Program still absorbs rules slightly faster than we can make them now. But we are still increasing production. Within four months we are sure we can take care of everyone . . .

Mr. Priest is more than a professor emeritus and a genial bachelor whom some of the more intimate students call Uncle George; he is one of the great masters in the English language. Dr. Axson devoted his main study and supreme skill to Shakespeare; Professor Priest has p.m. to Goethe decades of research and lov-

A truce was declared late Thursday night, AP reports, and the band has a Hayes bringing it to popularity this fall.
