Friday Noon
Is Deadline
For Petitions

The election for president of the Student Association and the freshmen class officers will take place on Monday, 26 November, from 8 a.m. until 1:05 p.m. Petitions for said elections must be turned in to the Student Elections Committee of the Student Council by noon tomorrow, Friday, 16 November, as there must be at least two days for campaigning purposes before the election. The Election Committee is composed of Joanne Morrow, chairman, Jo Ruth Russell, Dean Weeks, Anne Bray, and Jane Paterson.

Petitions for class elections only must be accompanied by 50 cents which will be paid to the election committee, and must be signed by ten members of that class and the nominator, who are all in bona fide standing for the elections. Petitions for class elections only must be signed by twenty-five members.

Bond Queen To Be
Crowned at Half
By Halsey

At the half of the A&M game on Saturday, 17 November, Admiral Halsey will crown one of Rice's four candidates for War Bond Queen. Students, this will be the climactic point in the War Bond campaign, and efforts to sell more bonds will have to be stepped up to make the record over the amount ever before figured.

Each club has been working hard to back its candidate. The Girls' Club has Jo Ellen Perdue; the PALS, Jane Pamershaw; the EBLS, Christy O'Connell; and the Rice Red Sox, Nora Potts. The idea is to sell as many bonds as possible, and as many different people as possible. Each club sells one vote for the team's candidate.

The Student Council under the war bond committee headed by Jay Vittite and Jo Ruth Russell is sponsoring the drive. Muriel Wicks has made arrangements with Captain Cooper and the Chamber of Commerce.

The four candidates will appear on the Rice-A&M half time program. They will be escorted by members of the Rice Navy unit. Captain Cooper will present these girls to Admiral Halsey, who at the close of the game will name the Queen.

The Student Council is glad to know that all the clubs are trying so hard in order to sell bonds, and we all hope that the bonds will be sold.

NOTICE SENIORS!
The Owl comes home to Rice.

Owl Comes Home
To Rice, Presaging
Much Good News

Monday night a week ago, an Owl symbol of intelligence, learning, Rice tradition, and other things symbolic, flew into the hallowed halls of the Chemistry Building. This bird of wisdom and knowledge on winged wings glided through an open window into the Architectural halls of the Chemistry Building. Like a deity seeking veneration, this wonderful creature descended from the heavens and took up residence in the owl's sanctuary. This bird of knowledge and learning was promptly given a home and a symbol of honor by the owl's caretaker and caretakers.

Considered merely as species Tylo halsiae, this animal is most useful. It consumes a considerable number of rodents. Some persons not so kind—this is especially true of the students. This bird of knowledge and learning is a symbol of the Owl Club, Rice's oldest student organization.

On the last day of the Owl Club's fall term, the Owl Club held a meeting to discuss plans for the coming year. The meeting was held in the Owl Club room on Friday, 16th of November, in Senior Commons at 1:30.

R And Quill Notice

There will be an important meeting of the editors and business manager of the Campusite, The Owl, Broadside, and Torchlight at noon today in A.B. 201.

WEDNESDAY—This morning we arrived on the campus in the best of spirits and in fairly happy frame of mind with every expectation to accept the friendship and kindness made by our opponents of the coming weekend. Well, the weather wasn't the only thing that changed.

The ... and the Aggies are still on it.

A glance at the theatre schedules tells us that Lane's has provided a third week's berth for "Weekend at the Waldorf," a frontier of the longest weekend in history. Van Johnson is wonderful and all that, but your Father's faith at this point is that it's been a long, long time. The other two theatres, however, have shown respect for the housing shortage, and are offering their present tenants in favor of a pair of newcomers, namely "The House on 92nd Street" and "Fallen Angel." Both pictures attack heavy drama and intrigue and are so doubt thickly punctuated with murder.

"The House on 92nd Street," which takes place at the Met Thursday, is an opportunity to watch, with the secret activities leading up to the plot. The story was produced by Louis de Rochemont, documentary, film expert, who claims that the material for his feature is right off the gridiron, so much so, in fact, that the filming of the picture took place under lock and key. It is unlikely, however, that the people involved in the production, including Mr. de Rochemont, could have known enough of the over-mentioned events to make a moviemaking impression on it before its revelation to the world. In any case, the object in question should provide some very thrilling moments, regardless of the authenticity and freshness of its material.

William Eythe is the lead character, being cast as the German-American who turns counter-espionage agent by the Nazi government. While pretending to stay in the States he secretly gains information for the FBI. The climax takes place in a dress shop on 92nd street, where Mr. Eythe's loyalty to the general is tested by a馒头 named St. Clair.

Lloyd Nolan, Gene Autry, Alice Faye have the other principal roles. The movie is right off the gridiron, but that's open to question. As the climax, it is mowed in most violent manner, the people involved have realized how much value something different and decidedly remarkable from beginning until end.

From 12:18 to 12:45 noon on Wed, November 2, the Student Religious Council is holding its annual Thanksgiving Service. This year it will be held in Palmer Memorial Chapel just across the street from Rice. Everyone is invited to attend and represent his religious organization.

The service will be different from all previous ones in that each one will be released on the 1945 Junior Class Queen. There will be an instructive, interesting talk, and the business will consist of electing a new secretary-treasurer.

Sketches of the new buildings to be erected on the campus in the area future were shown to the members of the executive board by Mr. W. W. Watkins, architect.

Beginning with the traditional laying of a wreath, which was on white carnations, on the founder's tomb Friday evening, the Rice-Arkansas game and a reception at Cohen House Saturday afternoon was the first homecoming held by the association since the beginning of the war.
