A Word of Thanks

Last Tuesday evening the Roll and Quill Society honored the publications of the Rice Institute with a banquet. It is only fitting that we, the entire student body, again say "thanks a million for a job well done" to all those responsible in any way for the publication of The Campanile, The Owl, and The Thresher.

The difficulties encountered by the various staffs were varied and many through the war-time period, but it is notable that they came through with flying colors. The photographs, paper, printing, and cost were only some of the material obstacles to overcome. The lack of backing, interest, and the hundred and one little things that you just can't quite put your finger on are always popping up to add to the troubles.

It is true that everyone was not always pleased with the result and also true that everyone is not always pleased no matter what is done. It is true also that each person endeavor to do his best to retain the standard of the Publication. Perhaps you say, "Well, I could do better than that." That may be true, but the fact remains that you didn't and they did. It is always most commendable to try to do your best than to sit along the sidelines telling everyone that you could have done better.

Thanks again to all those who had a hand in the pot for a job well done.—D.L.A.

Infants and Red Paint

Yes, the statue of William Marsh Rice was again doused with paint. Nothing can be done about it but clean it up and hope that it won't happen again.

It may have been some students from A & M but not very likely. It was more probably a few independent renegades. The fact remains that whoever did it was only revealing their adolescent character. There was nothing gained by the act and certainly there could be no satisfaction. Let us hope that those responsible and those with an inclination toward such will realize the stupidity and childishness of such an undertaking.

News of the Council

By L. B. Kittrell

The Student Council held a regular meeting Tuesday, 6 February.

Red Anderson and Mary Simpson explained to us the problems of The Thresher for the short session. As Fred said, The Thresher has had many money problems but if we want to get down to facts there is the financial one.

The possibility of a blanket tax to cover the Thresher and Owl, the pet down to facts there is the financial one.

The council elected a representative to Round-Up after explaining to Gerry Shaw exactly the reason they chose an all-freshman organization. The representative was chosen from the present senior class in order to allow such a choice. If it was chosen in the March session this semester it would give the Junior class two representatives. Madge West has been elected representative to the Round-Up.

The Lutheran Student Association will meet Friday at 12:30. Officers will be elected for the new year at this meeting at A-House. The program will be announced by address by Pastor Knapp.

The MSU group at a meeting 30 January, 1940 elected officers for the short term as follows: President: Robert Billson, Vice-President: Jutta Schumacher, Secretary-Treasurer: Arthur Miller, Social Co-Chairman: Quinta Wood and Marketing Manager: Martha Moore Publicity Co-Chairman: Ralph Byers, Carolyn Dahlman.

Electrified for the term beginning in September will be held at the end of the short term. The last meeting of this highly successful year was held Tuesday, 5 February. Billie Jo Duncan, outgoing President, extends her best wishes for the new term.

At the RBU meeting Thursday, 11 February the Student Council held a meeting. According to Frances Barbour, will be guest speaker. Food will be served as everyone has paid their dues.

Don't forget the Bloodworth Banquet to be held at the South Main Baptist Church Friday night, 8 February at 7:30. A real big treat will be in store for everyone.

The final meeting of Lee Bohge will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening at A-House. Officers will be elected for the new term. Plan to be there to make your selection and individually to approve your own nomination. The Mexican Consulate may attend and delicious refreshments will be served.

The Ave Maria Club had the most successful picnic of the year, as they say, last Sunday at Charlton Park. Almost 60 people were there and they participated in many different games. Joe Rally, Holly Shreem, Renata Phillips, Diane garage, and Gigi Wilson tried to teach everyone how to play baseball. Evelyn Burke, Ava Jean, Sara, and Muriel succeeded in teaching Red Anderson, Don, Wally, and Mickey Laing to play football. The girls naturally made rules of their own when they wanted some free hot dogs and Pepsi-Colas. After supper, Graham Bolton and Gerry Shaw stressed out some sweet symphonic music together with some fine singing. Dancing at the club house followed. The next meeting will be Tuesday, 12 February at the Varity Room of the College Inn.

The meeting Tuesday night was postponed because of the R and Q banquet.

Experts Guessed Just About Right On SWC Cage Race
For the first time in six years our Owls are not in the thick of the SWC sweep flag as the 1965 season enters into its last two weeks. In fact, for a change, the standings are liable to end up pretty much as the "experts" predicted. Arkansas, a perennial favorite for the championship, now leads pretty much the pack, thanks to the twin shuffling they gave the Owls last Monday and Tuesday nights by scores of 62-45 and 68-25, respectively. Arkansas now has lost only a single game so far this year, are led by three returning letter men, Jackie Robinson and Hill John-

Three Movies

By Margie Trash

What with “Spellbound” continuing to enthrall movie-goers, it looks as if the last of the year’s major attractions, the three-act religious drama “Leaves,” hitting the theaters in the next couple of weeks, will be presented to Don Anderson, assistant director of the local branch of the Philadelphia Film Society. Anderson has long been interested in religious drama, and he is looking forward to seeing this production, which he believes will be a great success.

In “Leaves,” the story of the life of a young man in the Bible, the emphasis is on the spiritual aspects of life, rather than on the physical. The acting is excellent, and the production values are high. The music is by the well-known composer, George Gershwin, and it is one of the highlights of the film.

The executive producer, Miss Doris Elaine Ehlinger, Lida Kittredge, and Lila Wolpe, have been working for months on the production of this film, and they have done a superb job. They have created a masterpiece, and it is certain to be a hit.

The audience will be greeted with a beautiful and moving story, told in a way that will make them think. The acting is superb, and the production values are high. The story is well worth watching, and it is certain to be a hit. The audience will be thrilled with the performance, and they will come back for more.

The story is about a young man who is forced to leave his home and go to the city to make a living. He is a poor man, and he has no money. He has been forced to leave his family, and he is very sad. He is a young man, and he is very much alone. He is a young man who is very much in love.
