One Simple Act

Last week some 5,000 Aggies came to Houston. Last week Rice kept in effect on the campus a defense maneuver of sorts against an air of offense.

Both A&M and Rice had entered into an agreement to employ the two-week period between final examinations at both schools for a "peaceful" purpose. It was alleged that a certain "two percent" could ignore such a pact and essay defiance by increasing the number of students who would be "away" from the campus.

This five percent, or ten percent, or whatever the right term is, was expected to give the illusion of an offensive action on the part of the Rice campus. The action was thwarted by the Council of College Station promulgated strict regulations on home base for any Aggie desiring to be away from the campus. Suddenly the Aggies were forced to return to the Beef Bowl to await the result of the game.

Business too, draws guidance from them. Whether the work of these men is vital or extraneous, the final result is the same. The work of these men is vital to our never-ending task of improvement, whether it be the work of the man who teaches, the man who pays the bills, the man who sells, the man who works in the offices, the man who drives the truck, or the man who cuts the grass. Their work helps make our University a better place to live, work, study, and play.

A government is only as good as the spirit and intelligence behind it. It is a government that is put in place by the people who are there to serve the people. They are the ones who must have expert guidance. This is why there is a need for such people to govern our University.

Rice Boy Can't Get Date with the Girl Of His Dreams; Thinks Rice Girls Snooty

To Miss Singer:

One song I learned in a very simple way from a great old lady who taught me to sing, "Bluebirds Over the Mountain." It made me think of you. I have tried to sing it to many girls, but they all seemed to be bound for other destinations.

Dear Miss Singer:

I am a student, an engineer, and I think I may reply, in a very simple way, that "Bluebirds Over the Mountain" is the kind of song I would like to sing to you. I have been trying to sing it to many girls, but they all seemed to be bound for other destinations.

The song is about a girl who is bound for the mountains, and I would like to sing it to you. I have tried to sing it to many girls, but they all seemed to be bound for other destinations.

Northwestern University Has Novel Arrangement for Fall Tuition Bills

In addition to the usual methods of tuition collection, Northwestern University has arranged a novel plan for the collection of tuition bills. The following method is employed:

1. The student is given a card entitled "The Essence of Northwestern University," which contains all necessary information about the tuition bill and the student's account.
2. The student must take this card to the registrar's office, where it is checked against the student's records.
3. The registrar then sends a letter to the parent or guardian, stating the amount owed and the terms of payment.
4. The parent or guardian must return the letter with payment or a letter stating that the student is not attending the university.
5. Failure to return the letter or payment results in the student being dropped from the university roll.
