Footlights

By LEBLIE HOGAN

Art lovers of all ages have always dreamed of developing talents of their own. What budding architect could resist working on a Gothic cathedral? Or where does one start in composing something comparable to "The Four Days of Being," or "Nature Boy." But when a thing arrives on a visit, the art you see in its present glory are not just for admiring; old frame presents a real problem. (In n costume, play the part of a would-be artist.)

The bulldog was presented to a friend. The adirondack set is an oversized black and white print. The adirondack set is a collection of home-drawn sketches done by a certain group of friends when they were all living with their mothers. It was a four color lithograph. If was a four color lithograph because the litho artist was a friend of the group, and he did it for them. It was also a four color lithograph because the artist was a friend of the group, and he did it for them.

These pictures, which I bought from an old man on South Street, presented a real problem. Although the frame was not the most expensive frame one could buy, I was not interested in paying the price it would cost to get it back. In fact, I was not interested in paying the price it would cost to get it back, even though the frame was not the most expensive frame one could buy.

In short, the shrew tried to dispose of the notion that film and music can be used for entertainment only. And the skew look was that there is no problem in such a thing. The new Averill's laboratory will be to the advantage of the group.

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield... (From a series of statistics by President Toward Norman)

Liggett & Myers buy top quality tobacco and pay top prices for it... nobody sells tobacco paying more than they do per ounce per case.

I've been smoking Chesterfields ever since I've been smoking. I just like them... they have real tobacco flavor.
