Trial and Execution of a Man

The CAPTURE

And straightway, while he yet spake, counsel, judges, one of the twelve, and with him a multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. Now he that betrayed him had given them a token, saying, Whosoever I shall kiss, he is he; take him, and lead him away safe. And when he had come, straightway he went to him, and said, Rabbi, Rabbi; and kissed him. And they laid hands on him, and took him. But a certain one of them that stood by drew out his sword, and smote a servant of the high priest, and struck off his ear. And Jesus answered and said unto them, Is it meet for me to fight against, and to smite with the sword?.... And when he had said these words, immediately a cock crew. Then  Peter remembered how that Jesus had said unto him, Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. And Peter went out and wept bitterly. And the chief priests accused him of many things. And Pilate again asked him, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what evil doest thou? But Jesus neither answered him, nor gave him any cause of answer. And the high priest stood up, and said unto him, dost thou deny that thou knowest the Christ? He denied it again. And a certain young man followed with him, having a linen cloth cast about him, over his naked flesh; and he was not armed, but he left the linen cloth, and fled naked. THE TRIAL

And they led Jesus unto the high priest: and all the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders, were gathered together. And Peter was with them in the high priest's palace, and with the officers of the temple, which Watched for him. And Peter went out at the porch, and a maiden came unto him, saying, Art thou not also one of this man's disciples? And Peter denied it, saying, I know not of such things. Yea and all the assembly said, verily this man is a sinner. Then said Jesus to Peter, Deny thee not me before they deny me. For I say unto thee, that before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. But Peter answered and said, Never, never. And immediately the cock crew. And Peter remembered how that Jesus had said unto him, before the cock crew, thou shalt deny me thrice. And when he remembered, he was sore sorrowful, and began to weep. THE CRUCIFIXION

And the soldiers led him away within the court, which is the Praetorium: and they gathered him three times, and asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered them nothing. And the chief priests mingled their见证 with it, saying, We have found this man seducing our nation, and persuading this people, not to be subject to the law and to Caesar, saying that he himself is Christ the King. So they also hid him, and accused him to Pontius Pilate. And the chief priests accused him of many things. And Pilate again asked him, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what evil doest thou? But Jesus neither answered him, nor gave him any cause of answer. And the high priest stood up, and said unto him, dost thou not know that thou knowest the Christ? He denied it again. And a certain young man followed with him, having a linen cloth cast about him, over his naked flesh; and he was not armed, but he left the linen cloth, and fled naked.
The Laughing Maniac... Words & Nothing But Chip, Chip, Chip

By Tim Weakley

One of the greatest drawbacks in writing a column on music which is made up of a whole lot of names and titles is the inability to give you a sense of what the forthcoming selections will sound like. If I were telling all this to you personally, I'd supply some background or one of the more or less successful songs that have been listened to people in your class. But I have listened to classical music of the sort that reflects severely upon the political character—if there is such a thing. The argument makes a lot of sense. It would probably con-
The Owlook

MARTIN and LOCKHART

This past week one of the more controversial sports rules bit the dust. The two-minute rule in basketball is no more. In its place, the time limit on the scoreboard is responsible for the game's duration, and the team that possesses the ball may call a timeout at any time. This change in the rules was made by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics in an attempt to speed up the pace of the game and make it more enjoyable for the spectators.

Memories

The joy over the repeal of the rule brings to mind two games of the last season. One, the turning point of the season for the Owls in this writer's opinion, was the first Conference loss to St. M. The Owls scored a one-point lead into the "dead" two minutes, but the Mustangs proceeded to get the ball, score two points, get the ball again, and finally get it for victory. The second, the Rice win over the Aggies, again showed the doubtful harmful effect of the two-minute rule. The Owls had a ten-point lead going into the last two minutes, but the Aggies froze the ball better than the Owls did.

More Memories

The lack of close games this past season was not noticeable. Three Conference games went into overtime, slightly above par for a given year. We'll string along with the new rule, sure; but the thought comes as to whether the two-minute rule got anywhere near a fair trial.

Deliberate Fouling

The Rule Committee also came out for stronger enforcement of the deliberate fouling rule. The rule, which has been on the books for some time now, throws in an extra shot to the fouled player if the foul was unavoidable. Typical of the faulty enforcement of this rule is the following report of a Texas A&M-Oklahoma State game:

In the last two minutes, the Aggies had a 6 to 2 lead and seemed to be very near victory. Bobby Dean ran the last ten yards in 23.1 seconds, but the Owls pulled the ball out and made a nail-biting score. The fault was charged against the Aggies on the fast break that followed this score, but the Aggies still held the lead. A subsequent Aggie fast break resulted in a score, and the Owls called a time out. A foul was charged against the Aggies. At this point, the Owls had possession of the ball, and the Aggies seemed to have the game won.

Netters To Meet Powerful Tulane

The Owls tennis team is to have a season's best meeting with Tulane this week. The Owls have won three of the last four meetings with Tulane, and the Owls are coming off a series of close defeats to Texas Tech, Oklahoma State, and Texas Longhorns. The Owls are feeling confident about their chances against Tulane, and hope to continue their winning streak.

The Thresher
Corpus Christi Scene Of Triangular Meet; Owls, Aggies, Longhorns Vie

The varsity track team will be in Corpus Christi this weekend, to meet A & M and Texas in the annual Little Conference Meet, so-called because the winner usually wins the conference meet.

The Corpus set-to will give observers another chance to see several duals, the outcome of which should decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship.

There was 191 feet 8 inches and Klein got off a heave of 187 feet 6 inches.

The high jump, too, will give somebody a chance to settle an argument. McGrew, UT's Bob Walters, and A & M's Buddy Davis all could win at the conference meet unless one could win at the Texas Relays. They really run into each other.

The varsity track team will be in Corpus Christi this week-end, to meet A & M and Texas in the annual Little Conference Meet, so-called because the winner usually wins the conference meet.

The Corpus set-to will give observers another chance to see several duals, the outcome of which should decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship.

There was 191 feet 8 inches and Klein got off a heave of 187 feet 6 inches.

The high jump, too, will give somebody a chance to settle an argument. McGrew, UT's Bob Walters, and A & M's Buddy Davis all could win at the conference meet unless one could win at the Texas Relays. They really run into each other.

The varsity track team will be in Corpus Christi this week-end, to meet A & M and Texas in the annual Little Conference Meet, so-called because the winner usually wins the conference meet.

The Corpus set-to will give observers another chance to see several duals, the outcome of which should decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship.

There was 191 feet 8 inches and Klein got off a heave of 187 feet 6 inches.

The high jump, too, will give somebody a chance to settle an argument. McGrew, UT's Bob Walters, and A & M's Buddy Davis all could win at the conference meet unless one could win at the Texas Relays. They really run into each other.

The varsity track team will be in Corpus Christi this week-end, to meet A & M and Texas in the annual Little Conference Meet, so-called because the winner usually wins the conference meet.

The Corpus set-to will give observers another chance to see several duals, the outcome of which should decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship.

There was 191 feet 8 inches and Klein got off a heave of 187 feet 6 inches.

The high jump, too, will give somebody a chance to settle an argument. McGrew, UT's Bob Walters, and A & M's Buddy Davis all could win at the conference meet unless one could win at the Texas Relays. They really run into each other.

The varsity track team will be in Corpus Christi this week-end, to meet A & M and Texas in the annual Little Conference Meet, so-called because the winner usually wins the conference meet.

The Corpus set-to will give observers another chance to see several duals, the outcome of which should decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship.

There was 191 feet 8 inches and Klein got off a heave of 187 feet 6 inches.

The high jump, too, will give somebody a chance to settle an argument. McGrew, UT's Bob Walters, and A & M's Buddy Davis all could win at the conference meet unless one could win at the Texas Relays. They really run into each other.

The varsity track team will be in Corpus Christi this week-end, to meet A & M and Texas in the annual Little Conference Meet, so-called because the winner usually wins the conference meet.

The Corpus set-to will give observers another chance to see several duals, the outcome of which should decide the conference championship. For example, Tobin Rote will continue his javelin rivalry with UT's Ray Marek and Don Klein, a rivalry which may decide the conference championship.

There was 191 feet 8 inches and Klein got off a heave of 187 feet 6 inches.

The high jump, too, will give somebody a chance to settle an argument. McGrew, UT's Bob Walters, and A & M's Buddy Davis all could win at the conference meet unless one could win at the Texas Relays. They really run into each other.