Reading Of Chekov
Uncle Vanya Will Be Tuesday

A reading of the Chekov play "Uncle Vanya" will be presented at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday in the F. L. Lecture Lounge.

The suggestions are as follows:

"January 13, 1954" has been selected as the date by which the blanket taxes will be ready to the first offense, $2 for the second offense and $5 for all fines thereafter.

"The mere fact that it happens to be May does not change the fact that it is still Shakespeare. . . ."

"The idea is that Shakespeare has taken over the exhibit area on the second floor of the Fondren Library."

"The idea is that Shakespeare has been born in and died in the month of April..."
The Editor-
Honor System Weakened?

To the Editor:
The Honor Council has been weakened. The results of the recent election indicate that future amendments could easily squeeze in the present plan. I wonder, therefore, if the question: "Just how strong an Honor System can Rice possibly maintain if one or two members were not quite convinced—and thus would not cast a negative vote? Would it even, easily enough, apply to the present student council?

In my opinion the minimum punishment should never have been changed, because in the vast majority of cases a person either cheats or he does not cheat; there is no actual middle ground. The cases we have been talking about were too few and far between to have had any bearing upon the changing of the constitution. These cases were regrettable, but it is necessary to think in terms of the whole student body and not in terms of a few, a very few, exceptional cases; those that were voted upon by the members of the Honor Council this year. Under the present system I would predict that a conviction which consisted of expulsion for any length of time is going to become harder and harder to get in the years to come.

The remaining minimum vote for conviction would have been a great step forward in strengthening our Honor System. This amendment was unfortunately defeated. Again the question, "Why did we want its Honor Council?" Unless there is a boost in the vote on practically change the face of things, the question is without an answer.

Sincerely,
Art Simpson

Ms. Collins and Gantt appear to be laboring under several delusions. First, they missed the whole point of the editorial. The Thresher did not oppose, nor favor, the increase in the Campanile’s blanket tax. In any event, the minutes of the Student Council do not indicate that the Campanile’s request was ever even considered. Therefore, Ms. Collins and Gantt’s assertion that the minutes of the Student Council were intentionally suppressed is simply incorrect.

The minutes of the Student Council are available for all to see, and, indeed, if these minutes had been hidden away on-the-spot Thresher reporters would never have learned what went on in the meeting at all.

The Student Association constitution requires the Campanile to submit a tentative budget to the council for review before final start. The Campanile presented its budget to the council at the required time, and the council deferred overall approval until the following meeting, April 25, at which time it recommended the budget be passed. Ms. Collins and Gantt’s assertion that several proposed methods to increase "Campanile income; with

The Editor Replies—

Msers. Collins and Gantt appear to be laboring under several delusions. First, they missed the whole point of the editorial. The Thresher did not oppose, nor favor, the increase in the Campanile’s blanket tax. In any event, the minutes of the Student Council do not indicate that the Campanile’s request was ever even considered. Therefore, Ms. Collins and Gantt’s assertion that the minutes of the Student Council were intentionally suppressed is simply incorrect.

The minutes of the Student Council are available for all to see, and, indeed, if these minutes had been hidden away on-the-spot Thresher reporters would never have learned what went on in the meeting at all.

The facts are these: The report of the minutes of the Student Council was deliberately suppressed. Both Collins and Gantt personally asked the Secretary of the Student Association to withhold the minutes of the Student Council proceedings for the minutes of the Student Council were intentionally suppressed.

The minutes of the Student Council-officially released to be available to all to see. They were not posted on the Student Lounge Bulletin Board, as the Collins minutes always were. They were, however, read at the next Student Council meeting.

a by-law was passed creating a finance officer to serve under the Student Council President. These positions, one each for each, organization, would be appointed by the president. This cabinet will replace the financial duties of the business manager. Another by-law giving the president power to fill the two vacant positions on the committee was also passed.

The Twenty-Second Annual Exhibition of works by Houston Artists Show opens Sunday, May 6, at the Muscum of Fine Arts. Works of past and present Rice students, including Arthur Koch, Lelia Lemonia, and John Stone, will be on view. Forthcoming is a children’s exhibit, which will actually be sponsored by the annual photography show.

Thursday night marked the opening of "Roberta," a musical comedy, at the Cullen Theatre on the University of Houston campus. The show was produced here in Osterv Tweeter, 1948 by the Summerlight Company, and proved to be very popular. The story tells of a girl (Lena Horne), who inherits a Paris dress shop, falls in love with its mistress, and finds herself facing a series of difficult situations before winning a prince. The best of this version includes Joan Hova, Bob Boone, Walter Price, Betty Dichtar and Adair McCrehan. The show will run through Saturday night. Curtain time is 8:30.

Last night marked a presentation of the Four Arts group. A program of music, dance, painting and drama was played at the St. Mark’s Episcopal Church auditorium.

Bed Roses For Me! continued nightly at the Playhouse Theatre during the fall season. This popular season reviews by local critics. Students should make plans to see this special matinee students price to see this interesting bit of theatre-in-the-round.

This past week the screen of the Metropolitan Theatre brought life scissors to life, and Tweeter, 1948, is an excellent action adaptation of the story with some very fine acting and a fine performance by the extreme realism of setting and dynamic photography. Each of Dickens’ characters is an individual with his or her own walks of life. These characters are so well drawn that even though each one of the backs if she should unfold before the eyes, some are grotesque, others are realistic, but all are human. Produced in England, the show is filled with interest in the overall enjoyment of this English classic.

In a contrasting vein, "The Brave Bulls," a screen version of Tom Gantt's novel, opened Thursday. Mov-...

Applications for the 1961-62 Braniff International Airways travel fellowships from the United States to Latin America are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education in New York.

Any U.S. student who wants to continue his college work for a full academic year in any of the eight Latin nations served by the airline may apply to the Institute for one of the fellowships annually awarded by Braniff.

Twenty-five winners will be given round-trip tickets between a Braniff-served city in the U.S. and the Latin city nearest the University chosen. All transportation is by the airline’s DC-8 “El Conquistador” sleeper liners.

The Dallas based airline flies internationally through the Houston air gateway to Havana, Cuba; Panama City, Panama; Guatemala, Honduras; Lima, Peru; La Paz, Bolivia; Asuncion, Paraguay; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; and Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board of the U.S. Department of Commerce, this fellowship program was initiated in 1950 by Braniff to encourage international education between the U.S. and Latin America. Twenty-five travel fellowships annually are also awarded to Latin American students for study in the United States.

The program is administered by the Institute, a 31-year-old organization devoted to the exchange of students among 78 countries of the world. Lists of Latin American universities and courses offered to foreign students can be obtained from the Institute’s offices at 2 West 45th Street, New York 19, N. Y.

For the Rice Owls the 1951 baseball season is nearing a non-spectacular end. With three games left to play, Rice's position in the cellar is almost identical with that post which the Owls held firm grip on last year.

This week-end the league-leading Texas Longhorns storm into town for the last of a series of three games with the Owls. The Texas team, which is far ahead in the conference, having only one league loss (to Baylor last week in Waco 9-4) is mightily favored in today's game with Rice on the Owls' home diamond. Not since the days of Fred Pepper have the Owls recorded a win on either home or away from home playing fields against Texas. That last win was here in Houston in 1940.

Texas is favored to make a repeat of last season's great showing in the NCAA playoffs. Heading the list of Texas heavy hitters is first anyone else at least five moral victories against Rice. The Owls will have to defeat the Longhorns at least once to even the season's record of three conference victories against the Owls in the conference, having only one league loss (to Baylor last week in Waco). The Owls have a record of three conference victories; one against TCU, and two against Baylor, while they have lost nine conference games to date. A win over Texas would give the Owls at least five moral victories against anyone else.

The game this afternoon begins at 2:30 on the Rice diamond.

Rice Claims Homestead Rights On Cellar Slot

The Rice Owls are slated to live up to their team nickname on the gridiron next fall. Head coach Jess Neely has announced that five of Rice's ten 1951 football games will be played at night.

Three of the after-dark contests will be under the powerful lights at Rice's new 75,000-seat stadium. The Owls will play their home opener with Orange Bowl Champion Clemson on September 29th, the major intersectional game with Navy on October 13th, and a Southwest Conference game with the University of Arkansas on November 13th all at night. This will mark the first time the Razorbacks have played at night in Houston.

The Owl road games to be played at night are with LSU at Baton Rouge on October 6th, and a Southwest Conference game with SMU in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas on October 20th. In addition to these night games, the Owl road games to be played at night are with LSU at Baton Rouge on October 6th, and a Southwest Conference game with SMU in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas on October 20th.

Looking forward to next week, which will be the last week of sports at the Institute for the 1950-51 season in all sports, here is a schedule of events:

Tuesday, May 8, 1951—Freshman baseball, Rice vs. Goodfellow Airbase, here
Tuesday, May 8, 1951—Varsity baseball, Rice vs. Sam Houston, here
Tuesday, May 8, 1951—Freshman baseball, Rice vs. Goodfellow Airbase, here

The weekend of May 11-12 marks the grand climax of the sports year of 1950-51 for Rice Institute. Before we "dig in" for finals, it might be good for all of us if the student body would really turn out in force next weekend to support the Owls in the winding of spring sports.

The Owls will play Rice in baseball here. All SWC meets continue. Tennis at Austin, track and golf at College Station.

This week, in preparation for the SWC meet, the Rice tracksters journey to Austin for the third of a series of triangular meets with Texas and A&M. Some 52 Owl tracksters, varsity and freshmen left this morning at 8:30 by bus for the capital city. Last week the Rice cross-country varsity boys tied for fourth place in the sport's media relay up at the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa.

The bustling Draft Dodgers are the 1951 Intramural Softball champions! They took the crown vacated by last year's champions, the Owls, with a convincing 7-3 win. The Navy Sharkeys were the victims of Judge Harmon's boys but they lost little prestige in the loss to the fine Dodgers crew.

Both teams collected seven hits, but the Dodgers made the most of theirs. Jim Daily's single in the third was the key hit in the winners' attack. He also made the three hits good for three runs.

Neither team scored in the first two innings. In the top half of the third the Dodgers counted a tally with a walk to Lamkin, a wild pitch, a sacrifice by Langworthy, and a double by Christopher mixed with an error and a fielder's choice.

The champs broke the game wide open with a three run outburst in the fourth. A double by Daily, a single by Wishon, and a walk by Hartvig mixed up with two doubles by Christopher mixed with an error and a fielder's choice.

The Dodgers counted a tally with a sacrifice by Langworthy, and a double by Christopher mixed with a triple by Langworthy and a sacrifice by Daily mixed in with a double by Wishon and an error by the Sharkeys infield. The Sharkeys tallied once in the fifth and once in the seventh. The Dodgers made the most of most of three hits good for three runs.

In the fifth inning the Dodgers put the game in the sack. Two runs tailed as Tight singled, Harmon walked, Daily singled, and Wishon put the game in the sack. Two runs by Hartvig mixed up with two runs by Daily by Hartvig and Allen, and a sacrifice by Wishon and a double by Christopher mixed in with an error and a fielder's choice.

The winners will meet next week and will complete tournament play Monday, May 14. Defending champions at the plate led the winners' attack. He also made the three hits good for three runs.

A small but select field took part in the Intramural Track and Field Meet held last Saturday afternoon at the old stadium. Four new records went into the intramural records as last year's times and distances fell by the wayside.

The 50-yard dash got things under way and saw B. C. Herrington cop the event with a time of 6.2. This was far from the 5.8 which took the winner's position last year.

The 70-yard dash was next on the docket and the old record of 8.0 was tied by James Depenbrock, Brady was second. The 100 record of the 10.4 for last year stood up as Tom Blackmon took the event with a sprint of 10.4. All of the dashes were run on the football field.

In the first field event, the running broad jump, Bass Wallace took the event with a leap of 17 feet, six and one-half inches. Blackwell also broke the old record of 14' by a jump of 16 feet 4½ inches but couldn't match Wallace.

Last year's softball throw for distance by Judge Harmon looked like a sure bet to stand good for another year. He flipped the oval 299 feet last year. But E. A. Roberts had another thing to say last Friday. After tossing the ball 278 feet, he decided to really let go. When officials measured the distance it read 298 feet 6 inches.

Degenroth, Mathes, Varty, and Blackmon combined to give the record book a tumble in the 440-yard relay. Last year's time of 48 seconds for the way of old records by virtue of a 48.2 by this year's quartet.

The winners will meet next week and will complete tournament play Monday, May 14. Defending champions at the plate led the winners' attack. He also made the three hits good for three runs.
