NSA Prexy Speaks To SC; Urges Rice To Join Group

By JERRY WINNER

Bill Dentzer, president of the National Student Association (NSA), spoke to the Rice SC at a meeting on Tuesday. The purpose was to tell the Rice SC of the work NSA was doing, and to give reasons why Rice should join NSA. NSA is a body consisting of approximately six hundred student clubs holding about six thousand members.

Mr. Dentzer talked about telling the council a few of the things that NSA does, and a few reasons why Rice should join NSA. NSA, he said, is a service organization for discussing national and international problems. The club at Rice, which consists of twenty-four members, is founded to be a non-partisan, non-sectarian body.

He cited for example NSA's influence on the U.N., because NSA's officers receive credit for debating on a national and even international level. It is said that NSA is an independent or stateless body. He stated some of the politics of NSA on environmental issues such as the race problem and discrimination, and then made a point that NSA spoke for a majority of the member schools when it spoke, and the opinion of NSA did not bind any particular student or student government.

Mr. Dentzer then signed off for the (Continued on Page 2)

Trial and Execution of a Man

The Capture

And straightway, while he yet spake, some came from the high priest's palace, with torches and swords, and ran to him. And they said unto him, Abraham, seeing you went a multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. And the chief priests said unto them, Are not this the man who should be visited? And have you here given him a money, saying, Whosoever shall kill him, let him take it. And they said, Lord, the temple, and the place where our fathers worshipped, hath he said to destroy? And they said, He also spake rashly. And Pilate answered them, saying, Will ye that I release unto you the King of the Jews? And they cried again, saying, Not this man, but Barabbas. This was Barabbas, which with Jesus was set for the people to choose.

The Trial

And they led Jesus away to the high priest: and there assembled the entire council together. And Peter followed him afar off, and entered into the court of the high priest, and sat with the servants, to see the end. Now when the chief priests and the officers saw him, they accused him with the chief priests of the scribes, saying, This man hath said, I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to build another in three days. Then Pilate entered into the place where he was holding judgment, but the Jews围着, saying, His blood be upon us, and upon our children. And he released him that day. And the chief priests answered, saying, we have a custom to release one to our people unto you at the feast. And they chose Barabbas unto them. And Pilate answered them again, saying, What shall I do unto you? Behold, the hour is come, that the Son of man is glorified. And yet I do not seek mine own will, but the will of him that sent me. And now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world come, and find nothing in me that he can lay to the charge. And I know that thou art lingering: nevertheless, I do not seek mine own will, but the will of him that sent me. And when he had thus spoken, he said, I am ready for the kingdom of God. Then Pilate said unto them, Behold, the man. And they, when they had heard him say, said, This is not the King of the Jews: they knew that Jesus had been set for the people to choose, and had not yet been named. And one of the chief priests, Caiaphas, said unto him, The chief priests and the elders say, man of God, that must come into the world, and destroy the temple of God, and build another in three days. And all that heard it, took it for a proverb: but the disciples did inquire of him, saying, What manner of person shall this be? And the angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, It shall not be so, but he shall speak for a majority of the member schools when it spoke, and the opinion of NSA did not bind any particular student or student government.

To Mr. Nesly:

When a job is finished, one usually steps back and appraises things and one sees things in a new perspective. Looking back on my four years as yell leader, I can recall many great and thrilling experiences. There were times when my heart could not contain my happiness and excitement, and again there were those times when I was disappointed. There is one thing for certain, and that is that I shall never remember a time when I was ashamed of our team or our student body as a whole.

There is not grace or disgrace in defeat or in victory, if either is the result of a clean and honorable contest. I know, of course, these things are exaggerated; but when I read of corruption in intercollegiate sports, of illegal soliciting of athletes, of "gifts on the side," deals, and of grad fixing, I am very sorry for the day when I shall have to bin donations from the larger stores or bearranging for the program which will be part of the May Pies presentation. Besides the modern dance group there will be several musical numbers from the Rice students. One of the largest undertakings of the year will be the "Stars In My Crown," the concluding paragraph of the short story of a minister, stars

As James Durant once remarked, we hope things aren't getting off-color. Last Thursday, in the Chronicle, there appeared articles in the campus section about several more houses; the Uptown, it said, was having "The Light Touch" and "Stars In My Crown." The concluding paragraph of the article began, to my horror, "The Rondelet Committee is growing steadily larger as the time for the last few years NSA has taken on an extensive program of propaganda among foreign students. Rice Writers May Be Considered For Scholarships

BOULDER, Colo., April - Students enrolled in Texas colleges and universities who have demonstrated superior writing talent will be considered for free tuition scholarships. The Rice Student Life Conference in the Rocky Mountains, July 21-25, will be given the consideration. Nomination must be made by the heads of English departments or teachers of creative writing in the institutions selected, and recommendations should be forwarded to Don Saunders, director, The Writers' Conference, University of Colorado, by May 1, 1952.

The tuition scholarships, valued at $150 each, entitle successful candidates to attend any or all of the sight workshops which will be offered. Board and room costs, and insurance expenses, except tuition, are not covered.

A distinguished group of professional writers will staff the Writers' Conference this year, sponsored by the University of Colorado. One student, under 20 years of age, from each of 14 selected colleges and universities throughout the country will be given the consideration. Scholarship selections will be made and announced at the Conference.

News items of the past week have been supplied by the Rice student press and by the Rice Branch of the Republican party.

The Rice Branch of the Republican party is still in the dark concerning the party platform for the upcoming election. As a result of the write-in campaign for the chairmanship of the Republican party for the forthcoming fall election, the party is now in the position of having no candidates for any office.

For all practical purposes, the Rice Branch of the Republican party may be considered an inactive body. As a result of the write-in campaign for the chairmanship of the Republican party for the forthcoming fall election, the party is now in the position of having no candidates for any office.

as the universal gesture of greeting. In my first year as yell leader, had I ever felt that I was cheering and encouraging others to cheer for a team, that was produced in an illegal or unethical manner, I would have never again stood before my fellow students and asked for their support.

Our fine athletic program is due to every one involved from the student to the chairman of the board of trustees. There is however a paramount feature of our athletic department and program, and that is Mr. Nesly and the men you have chosen to work with you. The Alumni and students need never worry about anything left in your hands, for they can be assured under the conditions, the best result will be the outcome.

I am certain the students would back me when I say that we hold in respect our athletic program and are thankful that this program is left in such able and excellent hands. I stand by the honor and the Rice Athletic Institute.

The people have an unpleasant habit of complaining, and we too often forget to compliment or to look for the good things.

I could not step down after four years without saying to you Mr. Nesly and the athletic coaching staff, that I hold gratefully for the years of advice and privilege I had to cheer for the reality "clean blue and true gred of Rice."

TEDDY MONTE
With ten games under their belts, Coach Harold Stockbridge's charges have emerged as a much improved ball team over last year's squad. Faced by the slugging of Parke Davis, Doyle Beard, and Dave Devine, plus the excellent hurling of Walt Deakin, the Owls have tripped the opposition seven times.

Showing the greatest improvement have been Davis and Beard. Both finished the season last year with batting averages under .200, but are currently batting .328 and .371 respectively.

The big bat of team captain Beard has provided the punch that the Owls lacked last year. Aside from having cracked out 3 home runs, a triple, and 3 doubles, the senior shortstop has also driven 13 runs across the plate.

Davis, Devine, and Beard are tied for team leadership in the hits department with 13, while Davis has the dubious honor of having been set down on strikes the most, with the same number. Devine has scored 18 runs to head that category and sophomore Joe Wylie has been the flash on the base paths, having pilfered 10 bases.

Pitcher Deakin has 4 victories to his credit and has yet to be handed a loss. The ace righthander has been the mainstay of the staff, and in the process has struck out 30 of the opposition in 38 innings of mound duty. In this same period he has compiled an earned run average of 2.41.

Owls Whip Texas A&M For First Time in Six Long Years; 9-2

Walker Deakin racked up his first conference win last Saturday, as the Rice baseballers defeated the Texas Aggies for the first time in six years. Deakin was red hot, fanning 12, while allowing two hits. Loser Mel Work of the Aggies was touched up for 12 hits, many of which were bloopers that fell just past the infield.

In the Aggie top of the first, Hamilton and Ketterie went out, but Yale Lary was hit by a pitched ball, and Yogi Candelari, the dapper little Aggie third baseman, smashed a long drive to deep left field, which should have gone for a home run. Candelari, however, neglected to touch second base and was retired for the third out, Lary scoring. Joe Ezretter's single in the second inning was the last Aggie hit of the day, although the Farmers managed one more run, that coming on Bill Golibart's attempted pickoff in the ninth.

Rice won the game in the second and third innings with a rash of walks, base hits and Aggie blunders. Les Lackey's errors at shortstop, and solid hits by Wagner and Golibart put Rice ahead, 2-1, and the Owls sewed up the game in the third with three more runs. The Owls continued hitting, and collected four more runs, the final tally reading 9-2.
