SENATORS TELL ALL

“Navy Review To Be Held”

At the Rice Institute announces that on Tuesday afternoon, Mr. J. R. B. Gils, Assistant Professor of Economics, will serve as moderator.

The following senators will speak: Shirley Snow, history major and Phi Beta Kappa; Jack Lapin, law major; Bill Collins, chemical engineer and editor of the Campanile; Ruey Boone, president of the Women’s Council and Outstanding Senior; and Gal Mound, English major.

Each of them will tell in his own words the way in which Rice has affected him during the past four years. He will give reasons for changes in himself and how these changes might have been for better or worse.

Naval Review To Be Held Tuesday: Awards Announced

Capt. L. S. Mewhinney, U.S. Navy, professor of Naval Science at the Rice Institute announces that on Tuesday afternoon, General Maurice Hirsch, USAR, will present the Armed Forces Chemical Award. The recipient this year will be Dr. Joseph Davies of the University of Chicago.

The Norton Award will be presented to Dr. Alan D. Brown, professor of Naval History and Latin. Dr. Brown will present the address “Small Latin and Less Greek.”

Each of the twelve participating colleges will be represented by faculty members, and all of the representatives will be teachers below professorial rank.

The members for study from Rice will be Dr. Joseph Davies of the Biology Department, Mr. Michael McKeown from Electrical Engineering, Dr. John Parish from English, Mrs. H. W. Gamble from Psychology. These three teachers have recently returned from Pennsylvania where plans for the study program were worked out.

MRS. DOWDEN RESIGNS

Clara Margaret Kotch Is New Advisor

Mrs. Clara Margaret Kotch will replace Mrs. Wilfred S. Dowd,代替 as Assistant to Women’s Services next September, the Office of the President announced Tuesday. Mrs. Dowd’s decision to accept the chairmanship of the Acceptance Board was on a temporary basis.

Mrs. Kotch, remembered by the student body as Clara Margaret Mohr, was born in Clifford, Indiana, and graduated from Columbus High School in Columbus Indiana in 1947. She entered Rice in ’47, and graduated in June 1951 with a B.S. degree. As an undergraduate, she was president of the Rice Women’s Council, and received an outstanding senior and received the service award.

Married last summer to Arthur Kotch, a Rice architecture graduate in 1947, she has taught at Johnathan Jesup High School in Atlanta.

Mrs. Kotch is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Alan D. McKillop, Mr. and Mrs. Kotch live at 4113 Choate.

Two Years

Mrs. Dowden's resignation and replacement by a recent graduate came as a surprise to the school as a whole last Tuesday. Many rumors had risen and died before the formal announcement was made.

As we look back on Mrs. Dowden's two years as Advisor to Women her outstanding achievements would seem to us to have been made possible only by her firm and consistent system and smooth out its running quirks. Of equal value to the school at large was Mrs. Dowden's work in establishing, furnishing, and running women's apartments in the new West Dorm.

She has filled, it seems to us, the difficult post with firmness and consistency. Mrs. Dowden was never too busy to help the individual girls with their problems to which she brought a broad background of previous work of this kind. It is with real regret that the women of Rice see her leave. Looking back we appreciate all she has tried to do for us and we applaud her many fine progressive changes which have come to Rice during her term of office.

I Told You I Loved You - Now Get Out

By TIM WEAKLEY

This week, I hope, be a simple enough explanation of the situation that prevails on this paper to impress upon all the minds of a select few of the proletariat. First: this is a newspaper office; this means that we are a group of more-or-less hard-working people with ideas. Second: we are a group of a rather large number ofapers, each working at his own station on a given project, in the hope that the newspaper will be put out every week.

Wednesday, May 14, will mark the opening of the newest Playhouse production, "Twentieth Century." A vehicle for Florida Swain and Jose Ferrer, it was presented last year by William M. Waterman. Ethel Ruhia (remembered for her role as the Nun in "Pilgrims' Progress") will take the lead.

Current on view in the display area of Fondren Library's second floor is an exhibit of recent gifts to the library consisting of rare and beautiful volumes of famous literature works.

Perhaps the best entertainment to date this month is a production by the Playhouse of "The Blind Bull." For absorbing entertainment.

The Mildreda Theatre is currently presenting "Love and the Hills." Rightly excepted. The story is a little too "peasant" - the troops complained of bruises.

In view of the recent popular preference for musical entertainment the Alley Playhouse has chosen another classic. The musical "Ivanhoe" is to run until May 24. Nina Vanco will direct "Ivanhoe," and Frederick Blend will be the music director. We hope to see the show.

PS, Eco, or History Students Offered Scholarship

The Texas Swedish Cultural Foundation has established a scholarship in the University of Stockholm for students of Political Science, Economics, and History. This scholarship awards $500 for study at the University of Stockholm. Living expenses in Sweden are low, but students interested should not depend absolutely on this scholarship to cover all expenses, but plan additional financial resources.

Frank Birkfeil, a senior at Rice last year, was the last recipient of the scholarship. Person interested in this scholarship should contact Dr. W.H. Matheron, 113 Anderson Hall, before May 15.

Rice Fresh Edge Out Blinn J.C.

BY J. FRED DUCKETT

The Rice Owlets defeated Blinn J.C. 6-4 for the second time this season to make their record 6-5 for the year. The Blinn pitcher, Bobby Bingle, struck out twenty Rice batters but weakened in the eleventh to allow three hits and two runs. Owlet pitcher Big Jim Jones, who also went the entire game fanned nine, allowed five hits, and started the winning rally with a line-drive single to left. Rice was able to pick up ten hits and committed three errors. At the end of the regulation nine innings the teams were tied at 4-4. Neither team could score in the tenth, but in the top of the eleventh Rice broke loose. Jones led off with his single, Page Rogers fanned out deep to left, but Tom Pearce came through with a safety to center. When the Blinn center-fielder tried to throw out Jones at third, the ball went wild in Pearce with the final Rice run.

Rice batters were led by Ors and Dan Costa, the latter being the only Rice batter that didn't strike out at least once. Blinn's John Blin scored the difference in the game when his teammates drove in three runs in the ninth. Blinn pitcher, Bobby Bingle, was able to pick up his fifth win since 1942.

Owls Whip SMU

BY NORRIS KEELER

Much to the surprise of Rice baseball fans, the Rice and Grey baseballers ended what could have been a disastrous northern swing by sweeping a double-header from SMU in Dallas, after losing two to TCU in Fort Worth. Nobody thought the Owls would beat the Owls, 8-4, on Friday, while Mike Salin got credit for TCU's 13-9 victory on Saturday. The losing pitchers were Leggett and Dunkin.

This past year has been a rather rocky one for this old column. The swipes taken at the evils of collegiate athletics have received little comment, and the words that came were felt to be the result of misunderstanding.

A few of the more important points that were attempted to be put across were these:

1. More uniform, and possibly more aggressive officiating in intercollegiate football should help to improve the game;
2. Incidents such as the slugging of Bright of Drake should not be allowed to go unnoticed, and, above all, unrepri- manded; and,
3. Although the Southwest Conference is an exception to the filth that has marred collegiate athletics this past year, what happens in the rest of the nation is also of direct concern to the Southwest Conference.

The past year, although not producing a championship team at Rice, did produce its share of surprises. The varsity football team, with a blend of seniors and sophomores heavy on the sophomores, made a race of it before faltering the last two weeks against bowl-bound opposition. The freshman team had a winning season, and, more important, produced some varsity prospects.

The varsity basketball team was a young and improving aggregation, although not making it to the Conference. Conference Track Ends With Dallas Meet

By DICK KARIG

The 1952 Southwest Conference track season terminates this week-end with the loop meet in Dallas. The finale, to be held today and tomorrow in SMU's Owenby Stadium, will probably follow the pattern established in meets this spring, i.e., ending with the Aggies at top.

Col. Frank Anderson's thin-clads, with overpowering strength in the middle distance, distance, and field events, should not have any difficulty in overcoming Texas and SMU sprint power. Rice and Arkansas can salvage some points here and there, while TCU and Baylor will be along only for the ride.

The best bet for the Owls appears to be Henry Winston in the two mile and/or the mile runs, with Frank Deloflorce, James Beavers, and Ronald Berger being probable points material for Coach Brunson's squad.

From the past spring performances, a fairly accurate picture of the outcomes in the various events can be drawn. Longhorns, Dean Smith, has been unbeatable in the century, while his teammate, Charlie Thomsen, will have to battle with SMU's Buddy Goode for the 220 crown. The Mustang, Vai Joe Walker.

Baker, Terry, Germany, and Hodges, all from A & M, have been the class of the 440, 880, mile, and two mile runs respectively, so far this season. The Aggie mile relay team controls that event, while the Texas sprint quartet has yet to taste defeat.

In field competition, Darrell Hooper with the discus and shot, Bob Ragsdale and Walt Davis in the broad jumps in that order, and Glen Spradlin in the pole vault, are the favorites and all from College Station. The late instructor, Wes Ritchey, a lad from TCU who has improved tremendously with the javelin in the last three weeks.

Five of the conference records have been equalled or bettered in meets this spring, but to receive recognition, the marks will have to be broken at the league meet. Smith equalled the 9.5 time for the 100, but will find that a tough one to crack. Hooper improved in both the conference discus and shot records at Los Angeles, and is probably the man most likely to repeat.

The Aggie mile relay quartet clipped eight-tenths of a second off the mark established by the Owl baton team of 1950, but it is unlikely that they can duplicate the feat. They gave well only when faced with good competition such as Oklahoma. With little opposition in the conference capable of pushing them, they will be hard pressed to better the mark.

The Texas sprint team has shaded the record set by the 1950 Steer team by one-tenth of a second, but also suffers from the lack of speedy competition.

For some participants, this meet will simply be a stepping stone to the NCAA meet, the Olympic trials and eventually the Olympics at Helsinki this summer. At any rate, here is a prediction on the outcomes of the meet: A&M, Texas, SMU, Rice, Arkansas, Baylor, and TCU.
