50 Beauty Nominees Pass
Student Committee Test

Fifty girls were selected Tuesday night by a student committee in the initial step of choosing on behalf of the Student Committee the 50 Owls for the 1953 Campanile. The fifty will be announced Wednesday or Thursday of next week, November 1 when a panel will select twenty-five. The whole fifty will be sent to an amount of candidates who will later select ten in the Campanile at Rice University.

NAM Sponsors
Patents, Research Seminar Next Week

Representatives of industry, law and government from every section of the country will converge on the University of Houston October 28 for a patents and research seminar.

The seminar will be open to the public, and all are invited to attend. The sponsors are the National Association of Manufacturers and the Rice Institute students will be attending.

Sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers, the theme of the seminar will be "What Inventions Mean to You." An emphasis will be given to the effect of atomic energy will have on the future of new patents.

The U.S. Patent Commission and a representative from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission will be among the speakers at the seminar.

The seminar will be open to the public and will consist of talks by a patent commissioner manager in Houston, and it will be held at 9:30 AM in a ballroom to be announced. The main address will be followed by a luncheon session which will be addressed by an Atomic Energy Commissioner of Texas.

The speaker, Casper W. Ooms, will talk on "Research and Invention in the Atomic Age." Ooms is a Chicago patent attorney and former commissioner of patents. He is now chairman of the Patent Commissioners Board, Atomic Energy Commission.

The afternoon session will open at 2:00 PM with a talk by George S. Hastings, vice president, American Machine and Foundry Co. He will discuss the "Patent Law and Its Development." The afternoon session will be followed by a luncheon which will be addressed by an Atomic Energy Commissioner of Texas.

SLLS To Present New Red Riding Hood

The Sarah Lane Literary Society will present a talent show on Red Riding Hood October 27 and 28 at 8:00 PM at Audrey House. This modernized version of the beloved fairy tale promises to be one of the most successful of the postcard season at Rice. The show will star many of the popular figures on the Rice campus, and will also introduce some new talent to the stage.

Red Riding Hood, seen here patting the head of her French poodle, will be played by Charlotte Dykes and we bet that Little Red Riding Hood never thought she would grow up to be a dish like this!

Miss "Twiddle Toe" Thomas dances through all three acts—first as the French poodle, then as a wood nymph, and finally does the "Gilbertian Stomp."

The S.L.L.S.'s promise not just one fairy story to torment the Wolf, but we bet that Little Red Riding Hood never thought she would grow up to be a dish like this!

The plot has thickened to include a mystery about Red Riding Hood's basket. Does she really carry good news to her grandmother's house, or is Red Riding Hood trying to save the Wolf? There's more than meets the eye in this family intrigue of mother, daughter, and grandmother.

Closing Dates For Fulbright Grants Announced By IIE

October 31, 1953, is the closing date of the competition for United States Government educational exchange grants for graduate study abroad. It was announced today by Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 107th Street, New York City. One month remains in which to apply for awards under the Fulbright and Buenos Aires Convention Programs for the 1954-55 academic year. An exception is the program for Australia and New Zealand, for which October 15 is the closing date.

Scholarship application blanks are available at the Institute or in the offices of Fulbright advisors on college and university campuses. A brochure describing the over-all study awards may be obtained from the Institute.

The programs under the Fulbright Act and the Buenos Aires Convention (for the Promotion of Inter-American Cultural Relations) are part of the international educational exchange activities of the Department of State. They will give almost 1,000 Americans the chance to study abroad during the 1954-55 academic year.

Since the establishment of the Fulbright Program in 1946, over 7,000 American students have gone abroad under its auspices, and over 100 have accepted grants for the current academic year. Under the older Buenos Aires Convention Program sixteen Latin American countries have each offered awards to one or two Americans a year since the program's inception in 1951.

To the Editor:

This letter is to the President of Rice University to express my grave concerns regarding the failure of the student body to engage in the efforts to support the football team. The success of the team is vital to the pride and spirit of the university, and it is distressing to see a lack of enthusiasm and attendance at games.

In my opinion, the answer to this issue lies in the student body's commitment to showing their support and enthusiasm. The team needs the support of the fans to perform their best, and it is important for the students to attend games and cheer loudly. I urge all students to attend future games and show their support.

Sincerely,

Eidom, Mustangs Send Owls Down To First League Defeat

By J. FRED DUCKETT

Twelve to seven, that's what the scoreboard said, and Rice Owl fans are still having a hard time believing that their team had one of the greatest days it ever had. Not only did the Owls win the game, but they lost for nearly the entire game, had lost. Only twice did the Mustangs gain possession of the ball in the first half, and both were recovered fumbles on the 14 and, again on Frank Eidom's climactic and for Rice fans disappointing 31 yard run. Otherwise, the Ponstein never did generate an offensive drive, while the Owls skillfully used the punt as an offensive weapon to set up one scoring opportunity and to keep Woody Woodward's red-clad in their own end of the field.

One of the big differences in the two teams Saturday night was the fact that SMU made very few mistakes, while Rice seemed to get up slow.

SMU scored their first touchdown after Ed Beckman fumbled a Rice fumble on the Owl 14 midway through the second quarter. Up to then, the Ponstein had been effective but up, on the first play from the Owl 14 Eidom raced 60 yards around left end to the SMU 8. A 4-yard run followed by a 1-yard run took the score to the 2. With 4:10 showing on the clock, Eidom scored from the 1. Heavily tackled, the Mustangs were stopped on the 2.

The score remained the same throughout the next 18 minutes, as the two strong defenses battled it out. Late in the final period, Kosten pulled a punt from the SMU 2 and then kosted 30 yards and hit the 10, Beckman fumbled the ball and the Mustangs left half Jerry Norton who coolly scooped up the ball and returned it to the Ponstein 27, setting up a score.

In the other league, the Horned Frogs won on penetrations over the Condol Re's, the 4-4. The Eyes defeated the Spurs, the Belize. Halfback Duane Nutt pitched out to the left. He was tackled by the SMU 9 midway in the period, Nutt fumbled the ball and the Mustangs left half Jerry Norton who coolly scooped up the ball and returned it to the Ponstein 27, setting up a score.

The Rolling Stones scored on a sneak to put SMU 9-0. The score remained thus for nearly the entire game, as the Mustangs lost. Earlier in the first quarter, Rice had driven to a first down on the SMU 4. A 36 yard pass from Proctor was good for a first down at the 1, Nutt fumbled the ball on the 1. Norton scooped the ball on a snuck at the SMU 6-0. The score remained thus as Brown drove to the Ponstein 27.

Houston Minute Women Get Publicity From Washington U.

Washington University Chancellor Arthur H. Compton revealed for the first time today the situation which prompted him to state recently that he personally has felt this year "the sting of McCarthyism," of America's neo-fascists.

He also alleged in a formal interview that there exists in this country a group willing to gain a point through destroying the public usefulness of a citizen on the basis of rumors known to be unreliable," and that there is currently operating a widespread organization using "in this technique to intimidate and eliminate individuals.

The "stinging blow," which Compton mentioned in his opening remarks at the Beaumont Lecture Series last Wednesday, sounded a "charge of disloyalty by Houston, Texas, 'minute women,'" and as evidence of their activities in the case of the Un-American Activities Committee's report, which was released to the Houston "minute women" on forever.

Another point was expanded upon in the Chronicle, the effect that in her work for the destruction of UNESCO she was aiding Russia. For Russia was at that time forcing her satellites to withdraw from UNESCO in order to weaken the international cooperation that the United States was encouraging through this medium.

I added further that my affidavit was on file with the Attorney General, that I had never been connected in any way with the subversive organizations referred to, and that, contrary to her claim, the Government seems fully satisfied as to my loyalty.

"Explain Charges"

"Within a week another Houston woman had a letter in the Chronicle saying that she had verified the Daily Worker story with the Attorney General, but upbraiding me for not having made a public protest about my listing in the file of the Un-American Activities Committee."

"Such reproach might have gone on forever, and I was too busy to trouble the matter further.

"Explaining the charges of Communist affiliation, Compton acknowledged that his name had been included in a 1944 report of the "Two Un-American Activities Committee, predecessor to the now-functioning Committee on Un-American Activities Committee, which had been affiliated with certain Communist front organizations."

"This is..."

CHANGES OF ADDRESS

Charles of disclosure by Houston, Texas, "minute women," as evidence of their activities in the case of the Un-American Activities Committee's report, which was released to the Houston "minute women" on forever.

The headline on the article read "Compton Reveals "Mosquito Bites" Attack."" Charges of Communist affiliation, Compton acknowledged that his name had been included in a 1944 report of the "Two Un-American Activities Committee, predecessor to the now-functioning Un-American Activities Committee committed to the Representative Harold Vodie of Illinois.

The report, Compton said, contained "unconfirmed information in the matter of my loyalty."

"It concerned," he added, "merely of a group of rumors which were meant to checkmate me."

"Evidence"

As an example of the "evidence," Compton cited the "Minute Woman" who wrote the first letter to the Chronicle, Compton cited an article which appeared in the Daily Worker as the foremost American Communist newspaper-publishing him as a member of a United States Russia friendship aid held in New York in 1942.

The report, he declared, "is incorrect." Compton explained that an invitation to participate in sponsoring the rally was issued to him by the promoters, but because of his engagement in atomic research at the time, the "practically refused."

He remarked that in relation to this incident he was "in good company," as such other notables as Cordell Hull were also listed in the Daily Worker story.

"Minute Woman"

"Because of the unreliable nature of the Committee report, Compton noted, it was removed from circulation, and clearly regarded as confidential."

"It took about a year of diligent effort, successful at last only through the help of a friend of the government who knew my loyalty and integrity, before I could learn reliably what affiliations I was reported to have."

"This information the first "minute woman" obtained within a week. After my reply was published, the second "minute woman" had verified my statement about the affiliations within days. This information was presumably available only through the office of the Attorney General."

"What kind of organization does this mean, that is thus able to supply with such promptness information from Washington strictly confidential and unusually difficult to obtain, in women in Houston?"

"If you want evidence of a powerful private group of secret operations working in our country, there it is."" McCarthyism

Compton said he had some "good ideas" as to how the information classified confidential, was released. He was not willing, however, to discuss his theories.

The Chancellor observed that "this sort of thing happens all the time to political figures, not usually to persons in the field of education."

"When individuals are education are treated as political figures, he added, "it's a nasty affair."

Recognizing the incident as an outgrowth of McCarthyism, Compton admitted that results of the Senator's work "are doing some good, though he maintained that this is 'more unintentional than intentional.'"

He added, "I certainly don't like his methods."

"McCarthyism is making people as alert to the importance of freedom as they have been for a long time... Whenever our liberties are endangered, we begin to place more importance on them."

Compton described the change in attitude toward freedom which American youth has undergone since the advent of McCarthyism. He recalled that a discussion period following a talk he delivered to a University of Seattle audience in 1946 revealed "an almost complete lack of concern with the preservation of American liberties."

Students at that time were concerned only with the prosperity for their own personal economic security, he stated. "Contrast this with the attitude of American students today."

The prime reason, he concluded, for the current interest in civil liberties is the "now obvious threat to our freedoms."

"Mosquito Bites"

In his Graham Chapel address Wednesday the Chancellor suggested that such incidents as the smear attempt directed against him are only "mosquito bites," and that America has been immunized to the infection they carry.

This point was expanded upon in the closing paragraph of today's statement in NL. "My reason for saying this is to emphasize, only that my discouragement of the importance of those who are using these fascist methods is not due to ignorance of their power."

"Rather, that is, that I know also the virility of the American desire for fair play."

"When these activities become troublesome enough, other forces arise to counteract them. This we now see in-process."
