Suspension of By-Laws

In last Sunday's special meeting, the Student Council demonstrated with chilling finality its inability to carry on responsible leadership of Student government. The question the Council faced was whether to suspend the ten people from the election, but the Council elected to suspend the election by-laws and allow the candidates to run, in spite of their violation of both the letter and the spirit of the Constitution. It is indeed noteworthy that this action followed the so-called "leadership" conference. Rules concerning elections, as we all know, are at the very foundation of the democratic process. The Council, however, chooses to interpret these rules as mere pawns in the little game of acquiring items to print after their Campanile pictures. If this is the spirit by which student government at Rice is conducted, then let us seek either a genuine reform or a final dissolution of what now seems but a farce.

Neki Hokey

By John Ursprung

This week we would like to discuss an aspect of our lives which all other aspects of our lives seem to always coalesce upon: sin. We have received many questions over the past few weeks on the question of sin:
1. Is it fun and just that sin occupy first place on my scale of values?
2. Which should I choose: sin or honor?
3. Who promoted Peress?
4. Is sin over-rated?

Abandon your preconceptions then, and accompany us in a sincere investigation of our theme as we answer the above questions.

Answers:
1) A scale of values can be used for several purposes:
   a. To weigh values.
   b. To weigh compulsions.
   c. To compare the weights of values and compulsions.
   d. If sin is placed on top of the scale of values, it is essential to use half-shaded compulsions. Otherwise they get squashed.
2) Uniquely, hypocrisy. As everyone really admits, it is fun. But, hypocrisy serves to make sin acceptable to the folks at the bottom. Therefore, through judicious application of hypocrisy, you can have your cake and eat it too.
3) Neki Hokey.

In conjunction with this, we would like to announce the formation of the Rice Amalgamated Sin Society. (Organizational meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Exam Room.) To all popular groups, one of the first items of the agenda will be the adoption of the new society traffic. Our motto: Abandon all hope, Ye who enter here. As a concluding moral, we quote the great bard Shakespeare: "Go, get you to change in a tryst.

On a roll call vote your saga...

The editor of your pages or your editorial were informed of the same. It was almost as if the council were ashamed of the business it was about to transact. Instead of the usual courtesies, brilliant representatives voted their own. At no time were the ten candidates too inclement to be eligible to run. It is interesting to note that of the three council members for suspension were elected only after the roll was called. (Note: all eleven were successful.) The four dissenters proved to be disinterested, embittered senators, who had nothing to lose.

The writer would point out two inconsistencies in the above report. First of all, the current members of any Council are always running for bigger and better offices; every decision made in the Council is always theshot at Rice in that the automatic Council legislature, jurisci, and executives all as one body. There is no separation of powers; there is no Court to review questions and Council decisions. There is only the blanket tax holder, who is the majority of cases doesn't give a consistent signal about the rightness of a Council.

Enough of a sermon, now for the news.

One, last week's clock resolutions got unprecedented results. Not within twelve months, not within twelve years, but within twelve hours the clocks were back on Naval Observatory Time. This is to the governing fathers at least on this issue.

Committee Reports

Two, Brennern and his Orchestra, and this isn't a slam, report on the Freshman-Sophomore Week. Some of the changes in the rule are the following: 1. The president can no longer ride a bicycle or; 2. The president must be on the gymnasium four times the clock stops. This is to ensure that the freshmen do not get a second chance search into the previous fifteen. It is not a sure thing that a classroom will result in the forfeiture of the sophomore dances. Apparently everyone has a reception and seniors are happy with the new rules.

Three, Big Lou offered another international plan; this time it is the once dead curriculum committee. Since Stanford University has adopted the same, rest your interest.

Wojecki Speaks On 'Injuries' At G.P. Convention

This week in Los Angeles, Eddy Wojecki, Rice's famous athletic trainer, has been lecturing to the 7th annual scientific assembly of the American Academy of General Practice on Handling of Athletic Injuries. This assembly composed of leading physicians from every part of the nation is one of the country's largest medicinal conventions.

Wojecki will be on a panel with Dr. J. M. Hartsock, team physician of the University of California and Dr. Lynn Waiford, head coach at California. They will lecture on the question of athletic injuries before entering into an open discussion with some 1,500 doctors present.

Authority on Injuries

In selecting Wojecki for the assembly, the A.A.G.P. has picked one of the nation's outstanding authorities on injuries incurred in athletics. Eddy joined the Rice Ath.

Committee Findings on Honor System Summarized

By Al Bierman and David Bybee

The committee has been appointed last fall to make an objective appraisal of the present status of the Honor System and formulate some recommendations concerning its future.

The committee met twice and took up the specific instances.

The committee was unanimous in believing that an Honor System is far preferable to a proctoring system. It believes that the Honor System is, at the present time, working completely managed by the students.

The committee felt that the system must be completely managed by the student body. The rules and procedures must be adhered to and the student opinion and faculty participation should be limited to advisory advice and observing the rules. The reporting of cheating to the Honor Council was discussed.

The committee felt that this type of action was not well integrated socially or academically with the entire student body.

Various Suggestions

Various suggestions for the solution of this problem were considered, but the committee felt that a complete solution cannot be reached as long as segregation of course work-and such segregation appears to be necessary under present conditions. As a partial solution the committee suggested that the instructional staff of the physical education department, and the members of the athletic department seriously consider the most effective methods of inculcating the aims and ideals of the Honor System into the students of that department. It appears that a hopeful method of approach would be to win the enthusiastic support of influential student leaders of this particular group as the cooperation of all student leaders essential.

Specific Changes

In the area of specific changes, the committee recommended that in order to accommodate freshmen and sophomore classes, a fixed seating arrangement, in general alphabetical order, be prepared and used by the instructor giving the examinations. This suggestion was made to fill a need existing as the present rules do not permit groups of students from sitting together during examinations.

The committee believes that discipline and publicity will be more effective if the Honor System be more effective. The full text of the report of the committee has been placed on reserve in the library and is available to all students and faculty members.
