Texas Coach's Dummy Hanged

BY MARGIE WIESE

At LlVINGSTON, Ill.—A crude dummy was found hanging from a business building on the Drag at T.U. last week. Under the dummy hung a sign inscribed "Sign Long Ed." These words marked the last time head football coach, Ed Price, had been hanged in effigy within the space of a few days. The Daily Texan reported that the dummy was put up "apparently in protest of the Longhorn football team's recent losses." Four days later, Ed Price resigned, stating that no "official" pressure had been placed upon him to resign.

Illegal voting practices charge across university campuses are complaining bitterly of election practices. North Texas students protested a recent election and asked for more carefully supervised voting procedures. Four names were mis

One of the hottest tickets around was "Attack." The theater was crowded, and every available seat was filled.

The movie tells the story of a soldier, Eddie Albert, whose incompetence is laughable. Albert, a genuine loser, is put in charge of a squad of eight-man backfields and twelve-man lines.

Eddie Albert succeeds excellently in making us hate his guts, but as he is all "black," the picture can never achieve the realism that it might have really tackled consequences of several of his squads. The army refused to help in the production of the movie and even tried to have it suppressed. Suppression, however, cannot solve the problem of cowardice. True, it might be demoralizing to let the public know that people act like this in battle but it is not a false picture for undoubtedly some soldiers do crawl in war.

The possible harm which this movie could do to our army is made up for by its portrayal of the bitter horror of war. We are made up for by its portrayal of the deterioration of several of his squads. The army refused to help in the production of the movie and even tried to have it suppressed. Suppression, however, cannot solve the problem of cowardice. People who go to this movie, expecting to see the type of pictures which made us win the war, will be in for quite a surprise. Attack is definitely not one of the "glory-and-glory" type, which so many of us want to forget. The movie actually concerns a cowardly American captain (Eddie Albert), whose incompetence is responsible for the annihilation of several of his squads. Hungarian People Were Shamefully Betrayed

From the Houston Chronicle editorial page:

The most shameful chapter in the history of our generation has been written during the past several days in little Hungary.

Two weeks ago the valiant Hungarian people rose up in revolt not only against Soviet domination but against the communists here. This deal is no sale at all; "pay-ment" will be made in Yugoslav currency which will be given back to Marshall Tito for economic development purposes. The usual seven-day waiting period is to be waived in indendent haste to help the nation that would not condemn Russia for its slaughter of Hungarians.

By contrast, the administration is eager to offer Hungary $20,000,000 worth of food and medical supplies. Which country deserved our generosity the more?

The Voice of America for years has been encouraging the Central European satellite nations to seek freedom. When large-scale revolt erupted we should have offered supplies. Supplies.

The Central European nations are the same. The imperial aggressive nations are the same. The movie that was called "Law and Order" was also a lie.

The nation's most popular president was not necessarily right when he said that the history of communism meant anything. The Hun-garians have been betrayed. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here for freedom, will vote, they almost invariably replied in one of two ways. They said: "I cannot vote for a president who did not vote for Eisenhower." They secured the overthrow of the pro-Stalin regime. The question which every Republican will rightly ask himself is, why has his party failed to win the overwhelming support of the nation during this period when its president, both for himself and for the way he has conducted his office, has won the overwhelming majority support of the nation.

There is no great illusion that until the Republican Party persuades the country that it possesses that key quality that the Democratic Party possesses—re-luctantly and partially—stands for what the President stands for, it will in its own right, win majority support and become a fully trusted instrument of government from the White House to the court house.

The most recent Republican election lost the nation's most popular president but the W. E. R. (as the C. Y. R. itself has recently called itself) was disposed of.

The Y. R. D. say he went to the door of the Y. D. meeting to make sure his statements about the recent straw vote and the Treasurer of the Young Democrats, C. Y. R. wrote me last summer proposing some new tactics for the future this fall.

The ideas of a political analyst can be reviewed in the Funden Library and an old-time political rally in front of the library which were mentioned in the letter seemed to me a poor way of political advertising, so I did not answer the letter. The C. Y. R. said he was "baffled" to have to be temporary chairman, which neither I nor any other party with the facts told him.

The C. Y. R. says that he discussed the straw vote with me in the early fall which is quite true. He "assumed" I would tell the Y. D. I told the Y. D., who agreed not to take part in a straw vote unless the Y. R. received notice of any proposed campaign issues on a students' yard.

The C. Y. R. says that one of his Y. R. men received a promise from me to bring up the matter of the vote before the Y. D. This statement bears little resemblance to the facts. At the Y. D. it was decided that our organization would formally refuse after being formally con-sidered about the recent straw vote and the circumstances instead of his own in-consistent behavior. I hereby request notice that discussion for the responsibility for the misadventures of the C. Y. R.

To the Editor:

Last week you published a long letter from M. Jim Hedges, chairman of the Young Republicans (hereafter referred to as C. Y. R.) which made me the most wretched, and I considered the letter. "I understood." He blames me for all his misad-ventures instead of his own in-consistent behavior. I hereby request notice that discussion for the responsibility for the misadventures of the C. Y. R.

The most recent Republican election on the campus should be of general student interest. In that a number of votes were cast for the Democratic candidates. This leads one to believe, that a quantity of the votes cast for the Democratic candidates were deposited by prosperous Republic-ans—and this goes along with the new campus movement: a Republican for Sterneman Group.

The point, however, is that the votes of Republicans seem to have endorsed the Democratic candidates. The fact is more and more campus people are eager to join the Democratic party. Further indication that one party "operat-ions" as well as Republicans, candidates are coming in an increasing disfavor at Rice.

GOP Prospects Dim Minus Ike

BY TOM CADY

Can even the Republicans win as a party?

In looking at the present campaign up to the election, I find that the Republican Party, as a whole, has essayed a crucial political role which will bear on its fortunes for years to come.

Although the Democrats lost the presidential primary votes, they dominated guerrilla strength at the grass roots throughout the nation, that it will make little difference in political fate. It will come back quickly.

GOP—Not One Out of Three

The Republican Party—Last Tuesday, as a party, it showed that it could even win out of three—1941, 1944, and 1946—with all the extra impetus which comes from having one of the nation's most popular presi-dents at its head. It will, very possibly, be severely weakened for a long time to come. It may be destined to be out of office as long as it was until General Eisenhower gave it its first presidencies in six elections.

Democratic Vice-President

It has been noted by the poll-takers, political writers, and many a discerning critic that when people were asked how they would vote, their answer invariably replied in one of two ways. They said: either that they would not vote or that they would "vote Eisenhower." They secured the overthrow of the pro-Stalin regime.

It took six plays, the climax coming when King Hill hit Bud-Dy Dial deep to the left behind the Indian secondary and the fleet end went all the way. Jerry Hall converted.

No More Scoring

There was no more scoring in the first half, although Rice reached its opponents' 25 and 6-yard stripes before being halted on two separate occasions, and the Redskins pushed to the Owl 24 for their deepest penetration of the afternoon.

Guard Charles Thompson recovered a Ute fumble on the second half kickoff and the Blue moved 29 yards to tally, Hill hitting Dial with a three-yard pass for his fifth scoring catch of the season. Hall again kicked.

Later in the third period Rice marched 7 yards in nine plays after an interception. Ken Williams capped the drive with an eight-yard blast around left end and Hill converted.

Final Tally

The final tally came with 1:13 on the clock at noon on the day of the meeting. Rice, already 2-0 in the S. W. C., had completed its 10th straight victory, 24-0 over Chevron B.

RICE SET FOR TOUGH CONFERENCE GAME

BY BOB MALINAK

The Rice Owls will have a tough battle on their hands Saturday when they face the Porkers of Arkansas University in the Ozark foothills.

The Owls are always tough at their home field, and the Porkers will have to meet them on their homcoming day to boot.

Although they have been beaten in three of four conference games, the Razorbacks are no weaklings. Led by hard-running fullback Gerald Nesbitt and quarterback Don Christian, the Porkers have stuck to the ground most of the time this season. Their line is solid, headed by tackle Billy Ray Smith, center Jay Donathan, and guard Stuart Perry.

Coach Jess Neely has indicated that his lineup is set for the remainder of the season. This means that the starting line against Arkansas will be James Briggs and Buddy Dial at ends, Larry Whitmore and J. D. Smith at tackles, Marc Gorges and Charley Thompson at guards, and Jerry Harris at center.

The backfield has King Hill at quarterback, Bobby Williams and G. T. Ashbrook at the fullback posts and Ray Chilton at halfback.

The alternate team, which played so well against Texas, will be at top strength with guard Charley Knight and center Bruce Hendrickson ready to go after laying out of the Utah contest. Frank Ryan, Ken Williams, Roderick Hostachler, and Dan Shuford spark the backfield.

SOPHS PICK ARONSON FOR HONOR COUNCIL

In a run-off election Wednesday, noted for closeness, as well as for voter apathy, James Aronson was elected Sophomore Honor Council Representative. He led his opponent, Robert Doppson, by a 65-55 margin.

The run-off was brought about by last Monday's election, in which Ernest Montagna, Jim Bernhard, and Robert McCulough were also candidates.

In Monday's all-school election, Steve Williams, running un-opposed for Thresher business manager, was elected.

Ten girls were also chosen as favorites to appear in the Vanity Fair section of the Campanile, but their names will not be announced until the appearance of the yearbook.
