No Rejection In Sight For Senior Harrison Wagner

Graduate study may be expensive, but Rice history major Harrison Wagner has solved his educational financing problems. He is the winner of three major scholarships for study after his graduation this June.

He will utilize a two-year grant at Oxford University in England. Wagner will follow a tutorial course in politics, philosophy, and economics at Balliol College there.

After two years of Oxford study, he will have available a Danforth Scholarship, which will cover his financial needs for the duration of his education. It is good at any United States university.

Trophy For Grades
Mike Bennett informed the count that a resolution was being drafted concerning the awarding of a trophy to that college which maintained the highest grade average.

This resolution was meant to help boost the present drop in grades, which the council feels may be considered a debit to the college system. Unfortunately, no one has been able to devise a fair college system of judgment, since it is felt that the majority of Texas College majors in academic fields and thus makes better grades.

The council pinned itself on the back for the success of the Food Committee in obtaining higher quality in the Commons' dining

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"Problems keep life interesting for a telephone engineer"

"I’ve taken part in all kinds of engineering projects during the five years I’ve been with the telephone company," says Bill Rhode, M.E., Tulane, ’52. "Each project brings special problems to solve."

"Take a couple of recent jobs I did as examples. One was to plan and oversee the relocation of telephone facilities near a new drawbridge. The job included designs for attaching telephone cable to the finished bridge and for providing service to the bridge-tender’s office and the locks."

"The other job was completely different. I was asked to make an experimental installation of some newly developed line concentrator equipment. After selecting the test location, I engineered facilities for the remote concentrator unit, and trunk plant to the central office."

"Another thing about these jobs — they’re a result of the growth of the telephone business. Not only do problems like these keep life interesting but they’re a result of the growth of the telephone business. Not only do problems like these keep life interesting for a telephone engineer, but they mean that careers are full of opportunities to show what you can do and get ahead."
