Prom Tickets Go On Sale May 12
Tickets for the Senior Prom will be on sale Monday, May 12, through Thursday, May 15, in the Library.

They will be $10 per couple. After May 15 any senior class officer, or Park Weaver, will be selling tickets individually.

The $10 price includes all entrances, a buffet lunch, and band and dance facilities, and two bands for the gala event on Tuesday, May 27, at Lakeside Country Club. The time will be from 9 pm to 1 am, with seating time at the pool from 1 to 4 am. The Glenn Miller orchestra, under the direction of Roy McElroy, will play for dancing, and a combo will play at the swimming pool.

Tickets purchased after noon, Co-op, say, Dom Katz this week in Physical Education, and 278 Davis.

Dr. Waser Accepts Post At CalTech
By ROBERT K. HINTON
Dr. Waser has been awarded a position at the California Institute of Technology. He will be working again with Dr. Linus Pauling, a Nobel laureate in chemistry on the Rice faculty who accepted a position at CalTech.

Beginning next fall he will be working again with Dr. Linus Pauling with whom he was associated prior to coming to Rice. Having done his undergraduate work at the University of Zurich, Dr. Waser took his Ph. D. at Cal Tech and was awarded the Phi Beta Kappa. He has accepted a position with CalTech.

Dr. Waser has been awarded the position of visiting professor at CalTech.

Not so absent-minded when you get right down to it. He remembered the most important item— the Coke! Yes, people will forgive you almost anything if you just remember to bring along their favorite sparkling drink—ice-cold Coca-Cola. Do have another, professor!

There's an important future ahead for the men who wear these wings

The Air Force pilot or navigator is a man of many talents. He is, first of all, a master of the air—and no finer exists. In addition, he has a firm background in engineering, electronics, astro-navigation and allied fields. Then, too, he must show outstanding qualities of initiative, leadership and self-reliance. He is, in short, a man eminently prepared for an important career in the new Age of Space.

As a college graduate you will get priority consideration for the Air Force Aviation Cadet Program. While openings are limited, you will be one of a year-long competition of qualified status. Find out if you measure up. Paste the attached coupon on a post card and mail it now.

Bound volumes Here in Two Weeks

Bound volumes of The Thresher, which were ordered last fall, will arrive in The Thresher office within about two weeks. The books will contain all 30 issues of the 1968-69 Thresher, including the two issues of The Mill, the semi-annual literary supplement. They will be handsomely bound in buckram, with the Thresher imprint on the spine. Those who ordered the books last fall may pick them up on presentation of receipts and payment of the balance, if any is due.

Macbeth' Hailed As Kingly Entertainment

By JOHN B. PICKARD

From the opening wild cries of the three Weird Sisters, strikingly silhouetted against the sky, to the solemn bloodstained conclusion on the field near Dunsinane, the Rice Players’ production of “Macbeth” effectively established suspense and provided dramatic highlights.

Since the theme of the play explores the tortured, awesome struggle of one man against the power of “vaulting ambition” and his eventual tragic destruction, the title role is most important. And Jim Bernhard as Macbeth skillfully mastered the demands of the part. His clear diction and strong assurance and force to Macbeth’s great speeches in the “dagger” monologues “To-morrow, and to-morrow, and to-morrow” uttered sounded the depths of Macbeth’s tragic knowledge and slowly and movingly revealed the king’s inner feelings, laying bare the utter emptiness of Macbeth’s world—“a tale told by an idiot...signifying nothing.” Yet, even in the small things, as the “who’s there” question solved of an entering herald, one felt the command of royalty in the slow turn of head and suppressed tone of voice. It was truly an excellent performance.

Lady Macbeth

To match this role and to create Lady Macbeth as a personality in her own right was no small task, but Joan Feild accomplished just that. Her presentation of Lady Macbeth’s gradual change from a clever, overly ambitious woman, who plotted and carried out murder for her husband’s coronation of overacting. Her eyes, gesture and bearing showed her complete absorption in the part she played. Her eyes, gesture and bearing showed her complete absorption in the personality of the role. Only in the very difficult sleep-walking scene was there a touch of overacting.

Macduff

Also revealing was the portrayal of Macduff by David Watson. His clear diction and expressiveness gave added power to his function as the righteous conquer of Macbeth. His gentle Banquo brought the needed sincerity and openness of nature to the role. His graceful appearance and transcendent movement in the scene made that one of the most harrowing in the play.

Striking Features

Two of the striking features about the play were the clever adaptation of the outdoor setting and use of technical devices to enhance the atmosphere and establish a tone. Where Do We Go From Here, Boys?

The College System's debits and credits were pre- sumably discussed in an all-campus eye at Wednesday's Forum. As was to be expected—or perhaps even desired—from such an exposure, nothing was solved, but new problems of wider scope were raised.

Students who vigorously abominate the College System and all it has done. Others are equally rabid college partisans—those students who have thus far shared in the direction of the system and who support its ultimate past policies.

A more rational approach than either of these would seem to be: the College System is here. How can it be better? This brings up the nasty question of what the college system is or what it should be. There can be no answer to this question. It is, as one student has said, 'never even close to that thing it is.'

Yet there must be established some set of standards on which the colleges are to operate. Are they convenient places to sleep and have meals? Are they take a downturn. This feeling was apparently shared varying emphasis on each of these activities.

No More Sherbet Crusades—'Til '58-'59?

By Ginger Purinton

It is, as one student has said, either at cross purposes with the Institute's raison d'etre or irrelevant to it.

An example of what we consider an activity germane to the Institute's function is a proposed discussion-debate series on topics of real interest and value. Another is the faculty lectures which have been publicized in The Thresher and which might well be considered in a college basis. Rice can indeed gain many values—of all degrees—through the proper functioning of the College System.

The Rice University is, as was to be expected—or perhaps even desired—reading it.

Also the costumes were most authentic and attractive.

Finally some suggestions could be made for future productions:

(1) The placing of most of the action within the triangle area of the arcade and the back of the physics' building forced over half of the audience to view the drama at a slant. Only once or twice in the whole production was the audience centrally centered for the audience and this caused much of the difficulty with understanding and sound.

(2) It is still a shock to hear a Shakespearean Orson Welles, or someone speak his lines in a Texas drawl. The elimination of some of these lines would help free the audience from the strain of the play.

(3) Lastly, a whole night's worth of the battle scenes seemed unnecessary. It is most difficult, even for an ear trained to the language, to keep up with the use of the arcades during this stage adaptation. The next production should have more imaginative planning and good stage awareness.

Also the costumes were most authentic and attractive.

Choir Battle Adds Spice To Rondelet

By MARGIE MOORE

The first all-school Rondelet Weekend has come and gone and the consensus is that it was a success in its new form.

The 1988 Rondelet arrangement was the song fest Friday night. After many changes of plans due to slow construction workers it was held in Hassane Commons. All the choirs were good, notably Baker and Will Rice who were in the runoff for winner. At the judges were able to decide the winner and Don Gibson, Song Fest Coordinator, awarded the ICC plaque to Baker College whose excellent choir had been under the direction of Dave Thoerman.

Everyone adjourned to Jones Commons for an informal dance to the hi-fi music. Ann Farmer had worked more than everyone else to put together. But her efforts paid off in the end! The Ballroom and the Sky Terrace at the Regency Room were packed with rice girls. The out-of-town honorees and Rice Honorees were treated to the Sky Terrace at Sukulita for lunch while the Student Council played host to their dates at the Cellar Door. In spite of the rain, Henry Gissendanner and Ed Reeder managed to arrange a successful picnic with games and the Beer-drinking contest which Wiggs College won. (The beer race will be repeated later.)

Two of the other three debaters—Gerald Damsky and Charles Farnell—debated but were more debates than any other team there, but because of a technicality in the rules, were unable to win the award.

Tuesday night the debate club banqueted and announced its officers for 1958-59. They are Jim Berhardt, president; Charles Farnell, vice president; Gary Carrison, treasurer; Gary Webb, secretary; and Susan Briggs, recorder.

Handbooks Now Being Published

by HARDEE KILGORE

The Rice Handbook is now being published for the first time in approximately four years. Designed to supply information on all phases of school life for new students, the books were scheduled to be revised and published every five years, enough copies for five freshman classes being made at each printing.

However, with the institution of the college system, the present handbook became so out of date that it was not distributed to this year’s freshmen. In March a Student Council committee under Hardee Kilgore was appointed to revise it for use next fall. On the committee’s recommendation, 10 cents of each blanket tax which formerly went to the Women’s Council has been allocated to the handbook, which, in addition to the 10 cents permanently allotted, will provide enough money to revise the book every two years instead of five.

Barbasealls Taekle TCU Horned Frogs In Ft. Worth

By SIDDY KREE Sports Staff Rice Institute's third place baseball aggregation journeys to Fort Worth today and tomorrow to engage the TCU Horned Frogs in the final series of the season for both teams. Jerry Abarbanell, making his final appearance in a Rice and Gray uniform, will have the mound in today's opener with Jim Brooks due to get the starting nod for tomorrow's encounter.

All-conference catcher Jerry Bums, pitcher Jim Pemberton, right-fielder Classic White, left-fielder Ben Williams, shortstop Dickie Dillard, and center-fielder Dickie Dillard will have the top honors today. The Bearcats led all the way and successfully fought off all Owl threats. First baseman Alex Mitchell and Bobby Burns each scored two runs, and the Owls' 2-0 lead in the first inning held. Bill Pifer, the surprise of the season for Rice, earned the two hits to pace the Owls at the plate along with Murray.

Alumni Pay Tribute to 1957 Footballers, Coach

Tribute was recently paid to the 1957 football team by the Association of Rice Alumni, according to the Ballroom.

A resolution, forwarded to Athletic Director and Head Coach Jere Neely, in part, said: "The Association of Rice Alumni wishes to take this opportunity to express our appreciation and to offer our congratulations to you, the coaching staff, and the 1957 Rice football team for your victorious season and the Southwest Conference championship."

"As we followed the season fro matte Blue-grey game through the Cotton Bowl finals we shared your happiness and disappointment, but never did we have to swallow our pride."

"The boys played from the heart with courage, determination, and teamwork that we will long remember and treasure in retrospect."

The acknowledgment was unanimously voted by the Executive Board of the Alumni Association and signed by Orvis Johnson, Alumni president.
