COHEN HOUSE RENOVATION ADDS SPACE, CONVENIENCE

BY MARJORIE TRULAN

KEEPING PACE with the rush of the new developments on the Rice campus, remodeled Cohen House has been formally opened along with three of its newest rooms. The new addition to Cohen house along with its three new rooms was made possible by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Cohen, longtime friends of the Rice family.

The original building, which was dedicated to him, was also the gift of Mr. Cohen in honor of his parents and was named Robert Cohen Hall. In 1927, Cohen House was constructed—the first building to be erected by private funds other than those of the Rice family. And at that time, a faculty club on the campus and owned by the faculty was a new idea, as Mr. Cohen and his father were made honorary members of the Faculty Club and the 1928 Campanile was dedicated to him.

MANY years later, having noticed the tremendous growth of the student body, the president, Mr. Cohen realized the need for a faculty building on campus. In 1957 Cohen House was constructed—the first building to be erected by private funds other than those of the Rice family. And at that time, a faculty club on the campus and owned by the faculty was a new idea, as Mr. Cohen and his father were made honorary members of the Faculty Club and the 1928 Campanile was dedicated to him.

IN THE VILLAGE

Robert G. “Pete” McCullough got his Bachelor of Arts degree from Columbia in June, 1953. In September, he took a job selling for a manufacturing firm. He was hurriedly trained—and, after two, 23,000 miles on the road, decided he wasn’t fully using his capabilities.

He resigned and contacted his college Placement Office. Interviews with a host of firms followed. Pete chose the New York Telephone Company.

That was April, 1954. He spent the next 13 months training—getting basic experience as installer, repairman, frameeman, staff assistant. He was then appointed Service Foreman.

In January, 1957, he moved over to the business side of the company. In May, 1957, he became a supervisor. In January, 1958, he managed a business office serving 25,000 customers, with 42 people reporting to him.

In October, 1958, Pete was promoted again—to District Commercial Manager. Reporting to him now are two business office managers, nine supervisors and service representatives and clerical personnel. There are 64,000 customers in the territory he heads up.

That’s Pete’s story—up to now. Future promotions depend on him. Opportunities are practically unlimited in the Bell Telephone Companies for Pete and many young men like him.

More: The most capable of men need good training and honest promotion opportunities to move ahead as they should. Shop carefully for your career. And be sure to talk to the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus.

The prizes will be awarded by a panel of anonymous judges and will be distributed September 1st.

Reservations for the weekend of April 24, 25, and 26 (beer is extra) will be $15 per person, with singles and doubles, Coach Giammalva.

There'll Be Some Changes Made

Student government needs a change. A student committee has been working almost day and night for the past few weeks to present such a change to the student body in time for general spring elections. If the new plan, which is based on a Student Senate as a central structure, is approved by the students, campus government at Rice will be completely revolutionized—

Below is a general outline of the new system. It is hoped that the plan will be fully considered by the student body.

Under the proposed system, a Student Senate, composed of 3 representatives from each college and 7 class representatives, is to be the central governing body, combining th functions of the present Inter-College Council and the Student Senate. The Senate will be a clearing-house for problems concerning the colleges as a group, the publications, and the Honor Council.

Nine standing committees will take care of routine business. They will handle external affairs, social affairs, elections, the Student Center, student properties, the Inter-College Committee, the Forum, senior rings and the annual charity drive. These groups will conduct their business outside the Senate meetings, which should cut down the time spent on routine affairs in the central government. Committees will be elected within that group, which is composed of college presidents and one other representative from each college.

The five colleges will be completely free of regulation by any other student group in so far as their activities do not affect any other group. Matters concerning more than one college or a college and an outside group will be discussed in the ICC.

The idea behind this new system is a good one. When the details are ironed out, such a plan should lead to greatly increased efficiency and power of student government.

The proposal is tentatively scheduled to be considered by the Student Senate on March 11. After (or if) it is approved by the Council it will go to the college cabinets for a week of discussion. A Forum on the subject will follow, after which, by March 20, a general election, with 3/4 of the student body's approval needed for ratification, will be held. If all goes well, petitions for all-scholar elections will be due March 25, and general elections will be held April 6.

No state has had politicians quite like our own, and we have had them both as a blessing and as a curse. One of the earliest and most eloquent was Sam Houston, who preferred an Indian blanket and unmentionable dress and dressed his orations in small "towns while standing airliners in the summer heat. Sam's reputed plot in his last years, a dream of the federate state government was never attempted, but it sought to change the section of the Confederacy to Texas. We have seen them very successfully. *

As usual, with the full Houston Symphony Orchestra. It is stage director and Vida Dinez designed the sets. In addition to the first two roles will be Eva Likova, who is particularly known for her interpretation of Manon. Des Grieux, who has a brilliant performance as the Duke in "Rigoletto" last November, will be the Chevalier des Grieux. Richard Worm, John Macauley and Rolf Sand also have important roles.

In the story, the running Manon, en route to a convent, meets the Chevalier des Grieux and goes with him to lead a Bohemian life in Paris. Des Grieux' father contrives to break up the love nest; Manon goes off with another suitor, De Bertigny, and the Chevalier resolves to enter a monastery. Learning of this, Manon leaves him from his retreat before his vows become final and they go again to Paris to resume the gay life. There the two are arrested on a card-catch- ing charge. Des Grieux is freed but the departure of Manon is expected. He expects to escape to a prison ship—finds he is desperately ill. He dies in his cell, leaving a mercy for his lover and praying for her love.

The setting in France is in the early 19th century, and the fashionable era before Louis XV. In addition to the sets and costumes, this new season will reflect the gorgeous formal arrangement of the court with its foyer, planned by a committee headed by Mrs. Edmund D. Davis. This will be the first time that flowers have been used as the foyer exhibit in Houston's Music Hall, and a vision of spring loveliness will be achieved.

Faculty Children Learn French

By BARRY MOORE

French has quiet appeal on the second floor of the library, Madame Cassel daily works on her degree in the classics. Aside from preparing a thesis on Dalziar, she has interesting and unusual projects as position as professor of a primary French class for the children. The class meets for one hour every Saturday morning at 11:00, during the regular school year.

The age limit is fifteen to twelve years. In the classes the emphasis is on conversation, vocabulary, French songs, types of French food, and general "everyday" Gallic culture. Special study is given to familiar books and Madame Cassel and printed by the administration, are used as textbooks.

Parents Are Rice Profs. Being Rice profs. "two and sixes of the sixteen total French people are of course co-operative; however, this is matched by the enthusiasm of the students themselves."

The combinations of students within the class itself are interesting; there are four cases of brothers and sisters, sisters or members taking the course together; and there are two students whose parents aren't on the faculty but did attend Rice ("They both are an asset to the class," says Madame Cassel.)

Learn Quickly.

She worked on it in the summer. "It is easier to work with children than grown ups. They develop an excellent accent quickly and their memories are fresher. In later studies, they will have no mental block toward the French language." One of her former pupils is now taking French in a
