Delta Phi Alpha Adds 2 Members

Rondelet Results

BY BILL DELANEY

Sammie O'Kelly, vice president of the Student Association, was crowned queen of the 1959 Rondelet pageant to climax a successful weekend of campus festivities which saw Will Rice college, led by Mr. Yorkor and Robert Johnson, spurt to victory in the traditional beer and frolics of the beer-like race.

In a lavish Louis XIV setting at the Houston Club, Ricelites and their dates let loose with a last big fling of the year in the Saturday night of dance and entertainment which followed the coronation. Bilda Richardson and Tommie Lou Sturm were the queen's princesses.

Among weekend deliries were duchesses representing numerous nearby universities. Margaret Moore was Rondelet chairman.

Rivaling the Kentucky Derby in its own quaint way was the beer-bicycle race of Saturday afternoon. The near-mile-long course was noisy with jovial spectators and confused sounds from walkie-talkies posted near the quarter-mile marks to report the event.

Baker took an early lead on the bikes, aided by the superb spurt of Bob May. Wines took over as Baker stumbled in the pits, and a spectacular burst by Freshman Mike Yarborough surged Will Rice into the lead, which they were able to maintain to the finish.

Long weeks of anxious labor at Kay's were rewarded as Hanszen, as usual, excelled in the beer drinking. But plagued by Mike Trouble and over-anxious participants, Hanszen was never in the running. For all practical purposes, Chuck Reesor and Jack Brown were standouts among the brilliant Hanszen chugahuggers.

Baker Takes Brown Award

Baker College has won its first Brown Award after having placed second and third in earlier competitions, the Brown Award Committee announced last week. The Prize money, amounting to two hundred dollars, will be placed in the college's general fund as no plans to spend it have yet been made, college officials said.

Do You Think for Yourself?

1. Do you think that men who look you straight in the eye when they talk are (A) unambitious? (B) watching your reaction? (C) trustworthy?

2. Of three men who have asked her for a date, should a girl pick (A) the one with a big car and money? (B) the one who makes lots of jokes, but is broke? (C) the one who helped her study for an exam?

They know that only VICEROY has a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

No Time For Study!

So you think you've been studying too hard. Listen to this little tabulation of the time spent in class or studying by the average Rice student and you'll quit feeling sorry for yourself.

The average Rice student spends 8 hours a day including afternoon sacks. This amounts to 268 hours or 10 days and leaves only 7 days for academic activities. This leaves only 243 days for studying or going to class.

Now it is a known fact that it takes the average student a half hour to quit talking or letting his mind wander before he gets down to studying and that during the last half hour he is too bored to get anything at all done. This amounts to 366 hours or 15 days and leaves only 7 days for academic activities.

But the average student skips or misses class 6 days a month. This amounts to 88 days and leaves only 103 days for school and studying.

Since the average Rice student spends an hour for lunch and an hour for coffee in the lounge. This amounts to 30 days. He spends four hours on a date every Saturday night. This amounts to 208 hours or about 9 days. This leaves 22 days for studying or going to class.

Downtown Goodies
Incluie 'Al Capone'

Last week, the headlines on this column read, "Avalon repeats but not yet," which made no sense at all. This because the "a" in "repeats" should have been an "e." "A weed of a shoe, a horse was..." etc. It's bad enough for you poor people to try to make sense out of this gibberish, and when the typesetter goes spancer, it becomes completely hopeless. (Or maybe it was because the brother of the Avalon's owner is our typesetter. Who knows?]

Downtown Goodies

This weekend, we have all sorts of goodies downtown. "Al Capone," complete with machine gun is scheduled to run wild at the Maj. Red Skelger plays the lead and it should be quite interesting to compare his portrayal with that of Edward G. Robinson of a decade ago. The movie is-a kind of biography with mystical overtones and slides pretty close to the true story. Should be fairly good entertainment.

Last Year Puddles

At the Majestic, after the last of the tear-puddles are mopped up, we will have this hit that's been advertising so heavily called "The Tempest." (You may remember my diatribe against that cliché ridden western "Rio Bravo," but this time it's different. This is a cliche ridden epic. We have the sinful queen, the revelling farm boy (or is it revolutionary farm boy?), the entire Spanish army for the mob scenes. We've heard about that, haven't you?) Spain no longer pays army salaries. MGM pays them and is entitled to the use of the army as such a number of the year for all mob scenes they require. Anyway, in this tempest in a teapot, we keep jumping back and forth between Catherine's corrupt court and the Russian revolution. The plot is fine for lovers, lovers of epic, and small brains. Others, stay clear.

"The Naked Maja"

We caught the previews of "The Naked Maja" at the Loew's Monday night, and from what was to be seen, Ava Gardner will once again change costume, era, and brilliantly portray herself, as she has been doing since World War II. This is the flick which was to be seen, Ava Gardner will once again change costume, era, and brilliantly portray herself, as she has been doing since World War II. This is the flick which has been censored from here to there, because it uses in its plot, a Goya painting which the current graybeards think is naughty. Other reviewers have passed this flick rather badly, but it's worthwhile to go and compare the censorship in the Goya era with that of the present day. The Inquisition caught up with the artists both times.

Rice’s spring athletes continued their winning ways last week by bringing home five victories, one defeat, and a second place finish in their triangular track meet last Saturday. Three of the victories came from Sammy Glanzman’s tennis squad as they continued their undefeated ways. The other two victories came in the form of baseball victories over Texas Tech and Texas U. However, the single defeat was probably the most disastrous, for it almost completely crushed all hopes for the conference baseball crown. For the victorious Texas Longhorns are now two full games ahead of the Owls with only two games remaining on their schedule.

THE OWLOOK

By TED HERMANN

This Saturday Rice’s tennis, track, and golf squads converge on College Station for their final SWC action of the 1959 season. Meanwhile coach Del Morgan’s baseball squad engages the Baylor Bears here in Houston in a two game series which the Owls must win if they are to retain their number two spot in the conference face and retain their money Saturday in the race for the number two spot behind Texas Tech.

Should Be Champs

Behind the relentless onslaught of defending single champion Charlie Rossie and defending doubles champions Fisherd and Art Foust, coach Sammy Glanzman’s tennis team should easily capture the SWC tennis tournament which got underway yesterday at Aggieland.

Injuries Plague Owls

With the loss of sprinter Charlie Rossie and quarter-miler Leonard Fauquet in a single week, coach Emmett Brunson’s track team appears to have little chance of capturing the SWC track meet which I predicted for them earlier in the year. Injuries have been the plague of the Owls all year. First it was hurdler Norman Charlton, who received a leg injury, next came racer Bertold Weber, and sprinter Gordon Spier.
