Organizations Plan Rice Open House

By HARVEY POLLARD

The Rice Student Council, along with several other student organizations, will be hosting an open house on Wednesday, October 26, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in the Rice Union. This event is open to all students and aims to provide a platform for organizations to showcase their activities and invite students to participate.

SMU Game Tickets Are Now On Sale

Tickets to the SMU game are now available at the Athletic Office at the Rice Gym. Rice will have an all-school holiday October 15 so that students may travel to Dallas for the game.

HC Administrators Test To Frosh: Ninety-One-Fail

The Honors Committee announced this week that tests over the Honors System given on September 31 are graded. A total of 70 was considered failing and of the same 300 taking the test, 31 failed. NOLYN KOLBE, Chairman of the Honors Committee, noted that this is a large number of failures as compared with previous years, but suggested this might be due to the greater degree of difficulty of this year's test. Those interested in taking a make-up examination will be notified as soon as the list of failures is completed against the list of freshmen.

Regulations On Alcohol Emphasized By Sims

By KENT ANDERSON

Recent incidents, both on the Rice campus and on the campuses of the other colleges, have once again brought to attention the question of "the possession, serv- ing, and consumption of alcoholic beverages on campus at student functions." It has been a bobby pin for problems with administration with its difficult enforcement, official and "unofficial" rules, and the evident dispute held by students over such restrictions.

ADVISOR TO MEN James R. Sims, in stating the "official" position, emphasized that it was based "on public and the Texas Liquor Law." In regulations given to freshmen by the Office of College Masters it was stated that "the serving of or individual consumption of any alcoholic beverage on campus is prohibited" but "beers may be served at off-campus student functions when sponsored by organizations which contribute more than one percent of the cost."

There is no violation of either University or State regulations, in practice, for discreet possession by minors, due to "the honored unofficial tradition," but not to possession by the University for possession only. Colleges will handle violations of the regulations for unruly or disturb- ing conduct.

A ROAD TOWARD a "more liberal Prohibition" is shown by popular pupil of the University (in Austin) popular with all on UT campuses. In taking the position, Sims emphasized that "drinking was a prac- tice of international liquor" will subject a student to discipline (due to the fact) that there was too much drin- k which was not conducive to good scholarship. It was pointed out that every major state university had similar regulations and that this policy would simply draw the University more into line. Action was prompted because certain groups have enjoyed the privilege of having parties with intoxicating beve- lages. Simply, "teasips" can't have it all, but Owls can have it and can't drink it.

Rice University, a small, wealthy, Ivy League type en- gineering school, nestled "deep in the heart of Texas." Such in appearance the "Texas Image," gradually creeping over the country as the school more and more raises nation in na- tionally-circulated magazines. LIFE MAGAZINE for ex- ample, groups Rice with ten other colleges at the top of their list of "Greats and Competition at 10 Colleges" in the issue of Octo- ber 3. The hosts for judgment is the mean score on the Col- lege Board math and English aptitude tests. Other colleges in the top bracket of 645-675 scores were Amherst, Carleton, Colum- bia, Harvard, Haverford, Prince- ton, Reed, St. Lawrence, Williams, and Yale. Rice ranked well ahead of all other Southern schools—Duke and Sewanee fall in the 615 bracket, R.M.I., 400-500. BY FAR THE best score on the private schools of the list, Rice's cost of $1055 compared favorably with Harvard's $2201 and Yale's $2560. A brief summary for each school was also included in the Life article. Of Rice they said: "Rice University has some of the most impressive cam- pus architecture in America, plus interesting foliage." Rice has about 400 women students to about 2000 men. The latter fact explains the outsize proportions of frankly pretty dresses or femininely tailored suits.

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED, another Life publication, last year referred to Rice as the Ivy League school of the South. And during the summer SI called attention to the University's name change by quoting columnist Johnowość's fanta- stic, "Rusty toot tool, toot rusty toot tool," from the boys from the University!"

PERHAPS THE MOST un- usual publicity, however, appear- ed in the June 13 issue of Time. Retaining to us earlier article by the magazine on the grader of the Ivy League, Tom Sotz of Armstrong wrote the following let- ter to the editor:

"Chop the old college tie off last year with this Ivy League clippin' and ship him west of Pennsylvania for the shortest distance. In this part of the country only the faintest traces of a tie are worn, which are fastened down by Rice apply for admis- sion to Harvard, Princeton, or Yale."
Alma Mater

"Let Honor be your watchword; Let Courage be your shield; Let Pride and Glory follow You through the course of your field; In years to come you'll treasure her, For she was once your home, In years to come you'll treasure her, For she was once your home..."

Janus Revisited

After having lost something very precious, the literary magazine at Rice University must consider the measure of success here in a reflection on his university than on himself. The loss—financial losses—of a literary magazine that experimental in so many ways, that establishes itself as no vehicle for strictly undergraduate work, that could with problems any management. This policy was undoubtedly a refuge for their own shortcomings, and the support of native writers who would have contributed toward publishing a vehicle for undergraduate writing but could not fare less than a mushroom of T. S. Eliot's.

This is not, of course, what one generally thinks of as a literary magazine—traditionally a repository for works by native writers and poets in addition to the works of native students, and by launching a kind of public relations man's assault on the university.

In this sense, Janus was a success story for the Alma Mater of Rice University.—M. K. T.

Ancient Latin American Culture
Featured At Fine Arts Museum

By HERBERT GABON
"Pre-Columbian Mystery," an exhibit recreating the cultures of ancient America, will be open to the public in the Junior Gallery at the Houston Museum of Fine Arts through November 13.

CO-INCIDENTAL with the celebration of the 150th anniversary of independence from the European countries which fostered the demise of these early cultures in Mexico, Columbia, Chile and Argentina, the "Pre-Columbian Mystery" will transport the visitor back into time corresponding with the Egyptian, Greek and Roman civilizations.

Original pieces in the stone and terra cotta mediums primarily will come from Houston patrons and will include figures of gods, serpents and animals. Pieces of Peruvian weaving and burial cloths will be on display for the inspection of the visitor.

Druids Organize, Tell Policy, Purpose

Those who gleefully expected the Rice Druids to be a pseudo-religious organization, and a thorn in the side of the Religious Council are fated to be disappointed.

The Druids are a group of students interested in promoting an academic atmosphere at Rice in lieu of the high school attitude which they feel still dominates in calling attention to issues the students.

An amorphous council forms the Druids' guiding body, decides their directives and the means to carry them out. The council's plans for most of the topics with which the Druids will deal are still on the drawing board, but a public announcement of one of them is forthcoming.

There is no actual membership as such in this group, but all sincerely interested students and faculty are invited to attend their discussions. The group has already had several professors in attendance at their meetings.

Croneis Initiates Jones Lectures

"To know a good man when one sees one, is the goal of an education," quoted Dr. Carey Croneis, speaking to the Jones College freshmen in the Jones Commons, Monday, October 3. "A perfectly designed education should teach the student to differentiate between the egregious and the real," stated Dr. Croneis.

Following Dr. Croneis in a lecture program on the purpose of education and the results of intellectual training will be Dr. Francis L. Loewenheim, who will speak on October 12. Dr. Loewenheim is a recently-chosen associate of Jones College.

FRIDAY! THE GREATEST SIXTY-ONEDERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear—the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees, and elbows the undisputed right of way.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide proof for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupe, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too—front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely—what with its spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupe, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too—front and rear). Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details.

There's never been a trunk like it before! The floor's recessed more than half a foot, and the loading height is as much as 10½ inches lower.

The Biscayne 6 the lowest priced full-sized Chevy with big-car comfort at small-car prices! Chevy's new '61 Biscaynes—6 or V-8—gives you a full measure of Chevrolet quality, roominess and proved performance—yet they're priced down with small-car size that gives you a lot less! Now you can have economy and comfort, too!

OWLOOK . . .

Owls Find Victory Trail; Myths Vanish

By CHUCK YINGLING

Billy Cox and Randy Kerbow made quick work of the pre-season myth that Rice was lacking at quarterback last Saturday night, as they directed the Owls to their first win of the 1960 football season, 10-7 over previously undefeated Tulane. In doing so, the man-under duo showed signs of promise that brought back memories of the King-Hill-Frank Ryan combination of three years ago to many Rice fans.

Cox, the man on whom Rice's gridiron fortunes depend this year, may well be responsible for the turn about the past season lead in the SWC as he hit 7 of 13 pass attempts and signal-calling led the Owls eventually to the only Tulane score.

COX also was Rice's second leading rusher for the evening, gaining 34 yards and one touchdown, but his running was second only to Rice's leading rusher for the evening, nearly proved to be the Owls' only interception of the night.

The Owls have outdistanced each of their opponents in total rushing although losing to Tulane last week. Since then the Owls have improved in pass offense and defense.

Barring injuries in practice this week, Rice should be in good shape for Vanderbilt, and it's Bud Wilkinson's turn at home.

Predictions

This week the Thresher sports staff boldly begin their predictions on the week's gridiron battle. In keeping with the long tradition of accurate picks by Thresher staffers, we guarantee all predictions to be absolutely . . . fallible.

YINGLING:

RICE 14, FLORIDA 13; Look for the Owl defense to correct enough of the mistakes to secure at least two touchdowns. Defense will have its hands full with untested Florida, but on basis of last week's showing should hold. OKLAHOMA 20, TEXAS 14; TU doesn't meet a real powerhouse yet, and it's Bud Wilkinson's turn after two straight defeats at the hands of his former quarterback, Darrell Royal. 8,000 Management Opportunities!

That's right. There will be 8,000 supervisory jobs filled from within the Western Electric Company by college graduates in just the next ten years! How come? Because there's the kind of upward movement at Western Electric that spells executive opportunity. Young men in engineering and other professional work can choose between two paths of advancement—one within their own technical field and one within over-all management.

Your progress up-the-ladder to executive positions will be aided by a number of special programs. The annual company-wide personnel survey helps select management prospects. This ties in with planned rotational development, including transfers between Bell Companies and experience in a wide variety of fields. Western Electric maintains its own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan for college study.

After joining Western Electric, you'll be planning production of a steady stream of communications products—electronic switching, carrier, microwave and missile guidance systems and components such as transistors, diodes, ferrites, etc. Every day, engineers at our manufacturing plants are working to bring new developments of our associates at Bell Telephone Laboratories into practical reality. In short, "the sky's your limit" at Western Electric.
