The $1 blanket tax increase, recently approved by the student body, was expected to go into effect next September. The Thrasher learned that the administration had originally expected to apply it at the beginning of the fall term in 1962.

To be included next year, the increase had to be added to the Cashier's Receipt Form. It had been expected that the student body would already have been printed by election time, thus forcing a postponement of the increase until 1963.

Nevertheless, the Administration notified the referendum results on the same day as the forms were scheduled to be printed. The students who voted approved the increase, and the forms were changed, only a matter of hours before they went to press.

"We were able to insert this before the run happened," said the President. "The bed used was noontime." The decision to do something was "not something we could promise to do beforehand."

Dr. Sims emphasized that this was not the final word.
John Birch’s Body

Not since the Army-McCarthy hearings of the last decade has this country divided itself so sharply on the issue of Communism and its prevention.

The organization responsible for most of the fire is the John Birch Society, which publicly proclaims that it varies between 98 and 100 per cent "American." Americanism is a hard term to define, but the leader of the John Birch Society, Robert Welch, in the "Blue Book" of the organization has made definition crystallize: "Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a pernicious fraud." He continues in the same vein: "The John Birch Society is a manlike body...it will operate under completely authoritative control at all levels...We cannot condone shadowy procedural matters or a list of arguments among ourselves."

Welch has also decided that Dwight D. Eisenhower and his brother Milton are "Communist agents" and that Milton is his brother's superior in the Party. His charge with no subversion at all, the John Birch Society, in the "Blue Book" of the organization is an invention designed by the Communists to discredit the efforts of genuine anti-Communists. No one can influence out of proportion to their numbers, at a time when unusual circumstances warrant a special allotment from the blanket tax for next year, and to the dissipation of a Free Library, Reading Room, and under the direction of said Trustees, and with the assistance of such funds as may be raised, to the support of said Institute, not otherwise provided, shall be devoted to the following purposes, to-w Frid-Eth: To the establishment and maintenance of a Free Library, Reading Room, and for the advancement of Science and Art. To provide, as far as possible, for the safety and welfare of the property and its contents, and for the use and enjoyment by the public, and to be free and open to all persons, associations, and concerns, without discrimination, only, so as to the judgment of the said Trustees, to the good order and honor of said Institute.

The RICE CHARTER PUBLISHED...

H. John Welge Tells What Student Can Do

If Rice had a student organization or a faculty-student organization lacking fear and with the freedom to make concrete valid suggestions, the student body of individuals as a whole who could materially aid the university. We hope such an organization will be forth- coming in the near future; there are several who have been camp- ed at present with the potential for becoming just such a bene- fit to the University.

THIRD: That a student body and a student faculty organization can benefit the University. This has already been proved at Rice. Thus a "liberalization" of the academic probation system would not answer the questions or solve the problems, but it would be a step in the right direction. What we need most to do is to consider carefully what may be tried, to keep an open mind, which I will discuss in the suc- cessing paragraphs. At any rate, there are numerous possible solutions. The above suggestions are only a few of those that could be ap- plied to this situation and that are being considered seriously at the present time. As systematic investigations of the students and in the faculty and administration. For instance, the pro- gram of studies, a program of requiring that less than one-fourth of the grades be D’s, requires a maximum of 33 percent to 35 percent be the maximum in this tractored. Yet be a student in this program such a change be beneficial? We believe it would be, because students are admitted on the basis of individual abilities, not on the basis of ability to ex- ceel in every area, scientific or academic. Assuming, however, a student who has a terrific pro- fessional for manipulating numbers and who can outstrip the median between figures "at the drop of a hat" might score 780 on the math aptitude section of the College Board tests. As his other courses are average, and his grades are exceedingly good, he would be a person of ability. The only difficulty is that he has no tremendous ability in history or English, yet he is expected not only to excel in these areas, but to do good, creative work in Eng- "lish. He is discouraged, and right- ly so. He was admitted for a par- ticular talent, not for the ability to pro- duce superior work in areas which are being considered seriously at the present time. New Dimension Added For Spring Sports At Colleges

By GRIFFITH SMITH

The Nuclear Age in campus sports was born—and apparently not ended—shortly before the Easter recess.

Giant asphaltmade of wire, cloth and surgical tubing at a cost of less than $5 appeared on campuses all over the world. A week after a night of shattering windows and creasing the tie, W. M. Rice and Baker W. A. and Hansen kept at it for two more days, the only "objection" coming from Dr. Masterson. He asked a cease-fire for two more days, the only "objection" coming from Dr. Masterson.

A cease-fire was not necessary, however. It seems, of its own accord when the damage bills de- accrued, the men's colleges. People suddenly tended to lost interest. The Nuclear Age ended as abruptly as it began—by Fri- day afternoon the only records of the week's events were a carpet of broken balloons between W. M. Rice and Hansen, a dozen broken windows, and a notice put on bulletin boards in each of the colleges: "For Sale: Surgical-Tubing water-balloon string. Cost $5.00, will sell for $25. See Gibson Anderson, 108 Hansen."

Lyric Art Quartet Returns For String Concert April 11

The Lyric Art String Quartet will return to the Shepherd School of Music Concert Series on Tuesday evening, April 11, in Hamman Hall at 8:15 pm. This is a change from the usual Thursday concerts.

The QUARTET will be assisted in this concert by Jeffrey Lerner in the performance of a Brahms clarinet quintet, showing the composer in his most effective idiom. Other composers represented on the program are: Tartini, And Boccherini, whose quartet in G minor is one of his greatest works.

The final concert of the series, May 2, will be given by the Lyric Art String Quartet, again augmented by added instrumentation in the Rossini Quintet for Double Bass.

Fine Arts Reviewer Clarifies Stand On Role Of Critic In His Society

In the several times that we have reported on the Houston Symphony Orchestra, and other musical events on our agenda, we have encountered some readers who are in agreement with our opinion and are quick to say so. On the other hand, we often see a marked change in our attitude which is due to the singer in his most effective idiom. Other composers represented on the program are: Tartini, Hall and Debussy, whose quartet in G minor is one of his greatest works.

French Comedy-Of-Manners And Preminger's 'Exodus' Rated High

By FRAN MURPHY

Bill of fare for two entirely different tastes are available in Houston this summer. At the Alley is a very French-type comedy—THE HAPPY TIME. For the more serious, OTHELLO opens a long run at the Tower.

Samuel Taylor's THE HAPPY TIME is billed as a comedy of love. Thematically it is a young boy's initiation into "long pants." The play is set in Montreal. The characters comprise a typical French family, the Bonnardes. Here an idealistic father, a wine-loving uncle, a young woman-chasing uncle, and an old woman-chasing grandfather all influence the youngest Bonnard male, Bibi. All are, one way or another, rather ineffectually controlled by women—Maman, a staunch Scotch Presbyterian, Aunt Fe- linea, the naggy, Sally O'Hara a tomboy American and Migno- ette, a typical French maid.

THE PLAY, when dealing with "the glandular" aspect of life—the action moves fast, and the lines present a rather typical French view of the great war between the sexes. However, Bibi's growth must include other things than sex, as the author has inter-terspersed several scenes of universal truths—all very nice, but not too relevant in a comedy of manners.

All in all, the situations and acting of most (especially the boy, and the women-chasing uncle and grandfather) carry the play over the faulty spots, and make a worthwhile evening. An entirely different fare is Otto Premingen's EXODUS—the story of the Jewish fight for a nation.

THE MAIN problem is the one that plagues all book adapta-tions—what is meant by the writen word is often hard to show pictorially. The question then is, to follow the story and miss the symbolism—or include the sym- bolism and change the story, EX- ODUS does both—sometimes well, often detrimentally.

The final impression is not so much one of an over-all comprehen-sion of Israel's problems, but of three separated incidents—the releasing of the ship Exodus from the Cyprus harbor, the partitioning of Is- rael, and an unfinished exploration of the Arab incidents.

Apart from the rather annoy-ing habit of passing up perfect pieces to end the story, the pic-ture does hold the audience's in- terest. The actors all do a credit- able job, even (if previous dis- likes can be dispelled) Sal Mineo. The attempt to turn the book into a movie was a monumental job, and was done amazingly well.
Scholarship Applications Now Read In Registrar's Office

Scholarship application forms are now available in the Registrar's office.

The Committee on Scholarships and Awards already has all scholarship records, but students are asked to provide additional information by completing the application form. It will be helpful for the Committee to have all questions answered, but valid reasons for withholding specific answers are recognized.

Rice Represents Tunisia In ‘Model UN’ At Texas
On March 24 and 25, a delegation from Rice attended the first annual Model United Nations Conference at the University of Texas. The five members of the delegation were chosen by the executive committee of the Student Senate; they were Tess Lindsey, Terma Engberg, Bill Alexander, James Rhodes, and Charles Kipple, who served as chairman of the group. Rice was one of fourteen Texas and Oklahoma universities present at the conference. About 250 students participated.

Each delegation represented an actual member nation in the UN and tried to present that country’s views instead of their own concerning the questions on the agenda. Rice represented the North African nation of Tunisia.

The model UN idea is not a new one. Many similar conferences have been held at eastern universities under the auspices of the Collegiate Council for the UN, which is in turn sponsored by the American Association for the United Nations.

The purposes of the Model UN, as outlined by the CCUN, are:
1) to stimulate campus and community understanding of the purpose, scope, and functions of the United Nations.
2) to coordinate and encourage on college campuses throughout the country activities and programs dealing with the UN.
3) to give expression to the American student opinion on the UN at a national and international level.

In fulfilling these purposes, this session was more than successful. The Rice delegates returned with a heightened respect for and understanding of the United Nations as well as deepened perception into current world problems.
